WORK ON CORONATION STANDS ENDS WHEN THE SAD NEWS IS ANNOUNCED

LONDON, June 25.—8:03 a. m.—The King passed a good night. There are no complications.

LONDON, June 24.—The following bulletin was issued at 11:10 p. m. by the king's physicians:

"The king's condition is as good as could be expected after so serious an operation. His strength is maintained, there is less pain and his majesty has taken a little nourishment.

"It will be some days before it will be possible to say that King Edward is out of danger."

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, June 24.—"God Save the King" is being sung in all parts of the United Kindom tonight; not as a patriotic outburst, but as a hymn of intercession. All preparations for the coronation have ended.

The first intimation that King Edward was in the shadow of death was given when the united choirs assembled for rehearsal of the coronation ceremonies at Westminster abbey. The orchestra had been rehearsing the marches since 11 o'clock. It was a quarter of 12 when Sir Frederick Bridge, stepping on the conductor's stand, asked for silence as the bishop of London had a serious message to deliver. Everyone thought it was some alteration to be made in the service, and the buzz of voices at once ceased. The bishop, speaking from the chancel, said that the king was suffering from a complaint that renders an operation necessary at 12 o'clock today.

"The coronation will therefore have to be postponed. We cannot do better than kneel and pray."

The dead silence which followed was most impressive.

Sir Frederick in a subdued voice directed the choir to sing the Tallis Litany as arranged in the coronation books. This was intoned by the bishop of Bath and was followed by the hymn, "O, God, Our Help in Ages Past."

At the conclusion the bishop of London, turning to the choir, said: "I will ask you to kneel while the dean of Westminster gives the blessing."

Silently Leave the Abbey.

Such was the simple but heartfelt service that followed the first announcement of the king's illness the consequence of which the nations will await with anxious expectancy.

The great company at the abbey was then requested to disperse as quietly and as quickly as possible.

In the crowded streets of London, already given over to a holiday, it was a beautiful day, although a trifle warm—everywhere the multi-colored bunting was flapping to the breeze. Vehicles of all kinds, filled with laughing crowds, moved along the congested streets. Suddenly the newsboys with posters known as "contents bills" appeared with the ominous words: "The king is ill. Coronation postponed." It was only then that the full significance of the news appeared.

About 1 o'clock the announcement of the king's illness and the postponement of the coronation were made in several public assemblages, and in the houses of parliament when it opened for the day's business.

The Gazette reporters made every effort to interview the attending physicians, but they all refused to be interviewed. From the highest authority, however, it is learned in medical circles that the king has an even chance for recovery, but it is impossible to obtain any information from Buckinham palace.

It is known the king is surrounded by the members of his family. The prince of Wales is at the bedside. It is said the king asked for the queen and the prince immediately after the operation.

Gravest Apprehension Yet.

A tremendous crowd surrounds Buckingham palace, where the king lies. In the hotels and clubs and at all other places where the representative people congregate the gravity of the news does not seem to be fully appreciated tonight. But in court circles the gravest apprehensions are confidentially admitted. It is certain that if the best that can be hoped for occurs, there will be no coronation for many months or probably not for a year.

That the king's condition is not regarded seriously by the public is shown by the fact that the theaters, which were to be closed on Friday and Saturday nights, announce tonight that performances will be given on these evenings.

Most of the Americans here are making preparations to leave at once for the continent. But the London season will continue until the Goodwood meeting.

It is regretted so much reticence is observed about the actual condition of his majesty. No bulletins are issued giving the temperature or pulse, and the entire action of the physicians is exactly opposite to the case of President McKinley, when the public in America was given the fullest information.

Queen's Great Fortitude.

One of the pathetic figures to which the entire nation turns at this catastrophe is the queen. She has borne herself with great fortitude and spent the entire day and evening at the bedside of the king. For the past week she has feared just such a contingency, and when she was informed that the operation left no shadow of a possibility that the coronation would take place, she quietly remarked:

"Have I not felt that this would happen?"

Her next inquiry was how does the king bear it.

It is understood that all the foreign royal personages who have arrived for the coronation will leave tomorrow or next day for their respective countries.

Indescribable consternation prevails throughout the country, and this feeling is reflected in the cablegrams received from all the world centers.

King Edward is in a room facing the beautiful gardens of Buckingham palace and far from the street and crowd.

If tonight's progress is maintained he will probably tide over the effects of his severe operation which has successfully removed the local trouble. But should any complications occur, such as septic peritonitis or blood poisoning, it is feared his majesty's present physical and nervous condition would prove unequal to the strain involved. There is consequently intense anxiety as to the outcome.

Operation a Last Resort.

The king' doctors believe that his majesty would have been dead before now but for the operation. His condition became so alarming last night that at one time it was feared death might ensue before the surgeon's knife could afford him relief. Intense swelling of the extremities, accompanied by alarming symptoms of mortification, constituted the emergency which demanded an immediate operation.

To the last the king tried to avoid this and he was willing to be carried to the abbey for the coronation ceremony, in order that it should occur as arranged. The influence of Queen Alexandra was enlisted, however, and at an early hour this morning the royal patient was prepared for the operation which, even in the skilful hands of England's best surgeons, was fraught with grave danger.

Shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon his majesty was moved from his couch to the operating table and the anaesthetic was administered. Sir Frederick Treves made the incision near the patient's groin and carried it upwards, with an outward slant, for nearly four inches. The obstruction was removed and a tubing placed in the affected intestine.

King Edward's first words were he re-

MILLIONS LOST IN PREPARATION FOR CORONATION

Stands Are Being Quickly Demolished and Bunting Torn Down.

MANY ARE INSURED, OTHERS BANKRUPT

[COPYRIGHT CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1902, by the New York Herald Co.)

London, June 24.—To no other set of men did the news of the king's illness and the postponement of the coronation come with more stunning force than to those who had erected gigantic stands along the route of the processions. They had invested thousands of pounds and hoped to gain other thousands. They had sold their tickets with the understanding, as a rule, that the money should be returned to the purchasers if there were no processions.

In a majority of cases, while the money would be returned, the buyers of the tickets, who are speculators themselves, would not be entire losers. The great majority of them had taken precautions to be on the safe side and insured themselves against postponement. Some of these insurances were placed with Lloyds underwriters, others with insurance companies.

A careful estimate of the number of seats on stands along the route of the second day's procession places it at 900,000. A practical builder says the average cost per seat to speculators, including lease of the ground, price of timber, labor and decorations would be about 30 shillings. This would make an

NOISY REVELERS SEEM TO FORGET ILLNESS OF KING

Many Rowdies Throng the Streets, Even to Gates of Palace.

CLASS OF BRITONS NOTHING CAN SOBER

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, June 24.—In spite of the intensity of the tragic interruption to the coronation festivities, the lower elements of London are "mafficking" through the flag-decked streets, and a portion of society in coronation gowns and jewels has gathered at what is called a gala coronation dinner at one of the fashionable hotels.

Even at the gates of Buckingham palace, within which the ablest surgeons and physicians constantly remain in the hope of saving the sovereign's life, the tooting of horns and the sound of other revelries can be plainly heard. That slim gathering which still remains beneath the flaring palace lights is now more bent on celebrating than on sympathizing.

Wagon loads of boisterous rowdies are on the streets; they are driving all sorts of vehicles and waving flags and hugging demijohns of liquor. They make their noisy way from the West End to White Chapel. They represent that section of the British public which no tragedy can sober into decency. They have tasted license unrestrained by law in the celebrations in connection with the war and, king or no king, they will celebrate the coronation.

It must be admitted that the revelers have been misled by the technical language of the bulletins; they seem to have no conception of the gravity of King Edward's condition. The thinking portion of the nation, however, has gone home numbed by the events which the day has brought forth.

OPERATION ON KING WAS MISDIRECTED

Surgery Was Necessary, But Abcess or Coccum Instead of Appendicitis Was Found.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, June 25.—Rumors are afoot this morning that, although the necessity of surgery in his majesty's case was obvious, the actual operation was misdirected. The symptoms of great pain and high temperature pointed to appendicitis, but when the appendix was revealed it proved to be healthy, and the unexpected existence of a large abcess in the coccum was discovered.

Whether or not there is any foundation for these rumors the bulletins have seemed to idicate that the surgeons were satisfied in the first instance, with the evacuation of the abcess, and that they made no attempt to remove the appendix or other structures which might contain the germs of future danger, probably preferring to defer such operation for a radical cure to some future period.

ALL NIGHT AT PALACE

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, June 25.—4:45 a. m.—Sir Frederick Treves, Sir Francis H. Laking and Sir Thomas Barlow remained at Buckingham palace all night.

About midnight his majesty enjoyed some refreshing sleep.

It is not likely that any further bulletin of the king's condition will be issued before 7 o'clock this morning.

GUTHRIE'S BOOM VERY VOCIFEROUS, BUT LACKS VOTES

MAY FORCE SECOND PLACE ON REFORMER

By WALTER J. CHRISTY,
Staff Correspondent.

Erie, Pa., June 24.—George W. Guthrie's boom is dying game. He and his followers see that defeat is inevitable, but are making a pretense of claiming victory. Many efforts have been made to convert Col. Guffey, but the missionaries failed. Even Guthrie made an early morning endeavor, but he was not able to take a promise of support to bed with him.

George S. Fleming and Controller John B. Larkin labored industriously to turn the tide against Pattison and squeeze a Guthrie victory out of a certain defeat. They did not go out among the delegates, but confined the work to the man who will control this convention just as absolutely as he controls the Texas oil production. He listened to their pleas, but did not swap horses. Guffey will go to a finish with Pattison, and there is every indication that the field will be distanced.

Guthrie has the rooters, even if he is lacking votes. This afternoon the special train carrying 500 Pittsburghers arrived. It was not necessary to put out handbills to let the populace know they were here. George S. Fleming chaperoned the party. Where he got them is a query. There is also considerable speculation as to

Of Clearfield, One of the Candidates for Governor.

KERR MEN CLAIM A BIG MAJORITY FOR THE FIELD

But the Figures on Pattison Presented by His Adherents Are Bigger, and His Victory Seems Sure.

COL. J. M. GUFFEY DECLARES HIS STRICT NEUTRALITY

By ROBERT SIMPSON,
Staff Correspondent.

Erie, Pa., June 24.—The Pattison slate is Robert E. Pattison for governor, ex-Judge Calvin Reyburn of Armstrong county for lieutenant governor and State Senator William Miller of Cumberland county for secretary of internal affairs. Though the opposition is dying hard, the Pattison slate looks like an easy winner.

Though Pattison says he will have more than 250 votes in the convention, his ablest supporters make the figures 225, and say that Kerr's claim of 185 for the field is a bluff. There are 314 votes in the convention and 158 votes will nominate.

Col. Guffey refuses to predict. He told the Allegheny delegation that he is neutral. The delegation met in conference at 7 o'clock, and among other things decided to call on the national committeeman at his headquarters at 10 o'clock. At that hour the delegates assembled behind closed doors at Guthrie headquarters. After a time W. J. Brennen came out, followed by D. F. Patterson and Henry Meyer. They went to Col. Guffey's headquarters and were with him for 10 or 15 minutes.

They returned to the Allegheny delegates, and after another quarter of an hour the door opened and Charles A. Fagan came out with Messrs. Patterson and Meyer.

Guffey Declares His Neutrality.

There was another conference with Guffey and a report to the delegates. The doors were then opened and the reporters were told that Col. Guffey had sent word that he had no candidate for governor; that he was absolutely neutral; that as arriving delegations called on him and stated their preferences he did not seek to influence them. Speaking for himself, Col. Guffey said to the newspaper men:

"The Allegheny county delegation is solid to a man for Guthrie and will vote for him in the convention tomorrow. I have given the delegates assurance through the committee they sent to me of my absolute neutrality."

After the adjournment of the Allegheny county delegation James Kerr went to the Guthrie headquarters and got the news of the conferences from the committee of the Allegheny delegates who conferred with Col. Guffey. He had a private conference with Mr. Guthrie and opened the door to leave, but went back.

John B. Larkin then joined them and the conference continued for the time. On leaving it, Mr. Kerr went to his own headquarters and declared: "As Col. Guffey has been all along influencing delegates for Pattison, and now tells the Allegheny delegates that he is neutral, it follows that he has quit the fight."

When told of this, Mr. Guffey merely laughed.

Mr. Kerr evidently had some trouble in convincing Judge Gordon of the logic of his remark. He had the judge in a corner arguing with him. Suddenly his voice raised, he faced the judge, and with upraised arm declared: "Judge Gordon, the way to win a fight is to fight every inch of the way."

The judge's reply was quiet and Mr. Kerr walked down the long room with him, arguing the "Guffey has quit" proposition. Gordon did not appear convinced and walked out with his hat tilted over his eyes and stroking his chin.

Kerr's Count of Noses.

At 8:15 o'clock this evening James E. Kerr, the Clearfield candidate for governor, left his headquarters and pushed his way through the crowd to the Guffey headquarters at the other end of the corridor on the second floor of the Reed house.

"Is Col Guffey in?" he inquired, as he paused in the doorway.

He was informed the colonel had gone out to dinner and had not returned.

"I'm sorry Mr. Guffey is not here," he said. "I came to tell him we have Pattison beaten. I wanted to tell him that the combined field has 185 votes, and that Pattison has 129. Pattison cannot be nominated on the first ballot and cannot be nominated at all."

Then Mr. Kerr returned to his own apartments. To the representative of The Gazette he made the same statement he had made at the Guffey headquarters.

"Do you expect to be nominated?" he was asked.

"All I care to say now is that the field has the delegates and that Pattison will not be nominated."

"Will you give out a statement showing the counties from which these delegates come?"

"No, that would not be wise. We have gone over the list and have seen the men. We know we have them, and that Pattison has only 129. If we give out the list we would bring the other side down on the backs of our delegates, and they would be harassed until the opening of the convention. It wouldn't be right for us to do that."

Gordon Corroborates Kerr.

Ex-Judge Gordon reiterated Mr. Kerr's claim, and also refused to give out a detailed statement. John B. Larkin confirmed the statement for the Guthrie side. Mr. Guthrie was asked if he subscribed to the statements.

"I have seen the tabulated estimates," he replied. "I am satisfied with the figures."

Mr. Kerr later made public a proclamation at his headquarters of his claim. None of the principals would discuss the subject of who would be the nominee in the event of Pattison's defeat. Their confidence was not so deeply rooted that they cared to pick the winner, except that Mr. Larkin expressed confidence that Guthrie would emerge from the contest as the nominee for first place.

Great pressure has been brought to bear on Mr. Guthrie by Pattison managers to accept second place, but he refuses, and tonight said to The Gazette representative:

"I have said I will not take second place, and I hope the newspaper men will not ask me again as to my intentions. My mind is made up and will not be changed."

Before Mr. Kerr made his visit to the Guffey headquarters, ex-Gov. Pattison said to The Gazette representative: "I will have 250 votes on the first ballot."

Pattison Claim Different.

The Pattison managers said the field would have fewer than 80 votes. They said that outside Philadelphia Kerr would have the five votes of Clearfield and the four votes of Blair. They conceded Guthrie his own county and the one vote from Indiana. They said the other votes for the field candidates would be scattering, no other county giving its full vote against Pattison, except that Bailey might have his own county of Cambria and Woodward his county of Center; but if these two decide not to have their names presented, Pattison would get nearly all their votes.

The circulation of an attack upon Pattison today in the form of a card calling attention to his ordering out of the national guard during the Homestead riots, was considered an evidence of weakness of the opposition, and the character of the attack was generally condemned.

"I not only repudiate this attack," said Mr. Kerr, when it was brought to his attention, "but I denounce it."

Mr. Guthrie said: "When one of these cards was shown to me, I advised the man who had it to tear it up. It is shameful."

Attention is called to the fact that these cards did not appear until after the arrival of the Allegheny county excursion this afternoon. Labor interests have been working in Kerr's behalf, and the card is supposed to have come from some such source. There is also a strong appeal to German sentiment against Pattison because of his veto of the repeal of the Allegheny county blue laws while governor, and it is declared that if nominated he will be unable, because of this, to carry strong Democratic counties.

Fagan and Brennen.

It is explained that there was only a parliamentary reason for the substitution of Fagan for Brennen on the committee that waited on Col. Guffey from the Allegheny delegation. The first motion, it is said, was to send the chairman of the delegation and two others. After the return and report of this committee, it was next moved by Mr. Fagan to send another committee, and Mr. Brennen, as chairman of the delegation, put at the head of it the maker of the motion. It was understood, after the earlier meeting of the delegation, that it intended to demand that Guffey declare for Guthrie, but at the second session it simply considered inviting him to meet with the delegation. After discussion, however, it was agreed to communicate with Mr. Guffey by committee.

The Reyburn boom for lieutenant governor was brought to town today by Alfred Smiley of Clarion county. He started it early and it took well. Judge Reyburn is here as a spectator.

William Hasson of Venango county refused to be considered as a candidate for lieutenant governor, or for anything else.

Delegates Will Probably Get Together on Pattison

The platform is designed to reaffirm that of last year, which was confined to a discussion of the state issues. It will further arraign the Republican party for the manner of Pennypacker's nomination. The right of labor, as well as capital, to organize, and advocacy of mutual concessions in wage disputes, are planks that may be put in as bait for the labor vote.

THE QUAKERS PROTEST.

Philadelphians Give Seven Reasons for Fighting Chairman Cressy's Apportionment.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., June 24.—The Philadelphia delegation has prepared a formal protest against the action of Chairman Cressy in apportioning 29 delegates to that county and refusing to recognize the 69 delegates elected at the primaries. The Philadelphians gave these reasons:

First—Because it is in violation of the rules of the Democratic party of the state.

Second—Because it is unjust, in that it is based upon and in recognition of votes cast in the Democratic column by an organization not then in accord with the Democratic state organization.

Third—Because it fails to recognize and compute, in ascertaining the proper representation, Democratic votes cast in the Union column, as ordered and directed by the Democratic state organization.

Fourth—Because it is illegal.

Fifth—Because it is unwise, impolitic, without reason, and detrimental to the interests and welfare of the Democratic party in state and city.

Sixth—Because if the chairman's apportionment is permitted to stand, Philadelphia will be without representation, as it is impossible, legally or otherwise, to designate which 29 of the 69 delegates are entitled to recognition.

Seventh—Because the apportionment made by the chairman throughout the state is not uniform and is inconsistent, in that representation is given in some counties to some who voted for the Democratic candidates, but who are not Democrats, while in Philadelphia representation is denied to Democrats who voted for the Democratic candidates according to and in obedience to the order and under the direction of the state organization.

PRELIMINARY HONOR.

A. B. Osborne, Nominee for Congress, to Preside Temporarily. Questions Unsettled.

ERIE, PA., June 24.—(Special.)—The Democratic executive committee tonight selected A. B. Osborne of Erie county as temporary chairman of the convention. He is the nominee for congress in this district, and the convention is to be used as a means of helping him in his campaign.

The platform, as prepared by Robert E. Wright of Allentown, was discussed by the committee. There is an extremely strong labor platform. Some of the committeemen objected to taking up the subject in the platform. There was a long discussion, and action was finally deferred until 10 o'clock this morning. The tax plank of Warren Worth Bailey also was considered, but not disposed of finally.

Capt. John B. Keenan of Westmoreland will be chairman of the committee on credentials. He is opposed to giving Philadelphia more than 29 delegates. With him at the head of the committee there will be no question about the majority report.

THIEVES IN THE CROWD.

Two Men Wearing Guthrie Badges Caught Trying to Pilfer, but Both Allowed to Go.

ERIE, PA., June 24.—(Special.)—Two men wearing Guthrie badges of the style worn by the 500 rooters had trouble at the Reed house tonight, but escaped arrest.

The second floor hallway was packed. A man discovered the hand of a supposed Pittsburgher in his pocket. The fingers were clutching a pocketbook. The man was allowed to go free. Shortly after the attempt at pocketpicking, Representative J. K. Young of Clinton found a man in the room occupied by his daughters. The fellow was examining the articles in the room and had overlooked two pocketbooks. The unwelcome visitor wore a Guthrie badge and was thrown out of the room.

Clearfield County Democrats.

CLEARFIELD, PA., June 24.—(Special.)—The Democratic county convention today re-elected J. B. McGrath county chairman and nominated Dr. F. Breed and G. W. Bell for assembly; B. W. McCormick, for county treasurer, and T. N. Crick and B. F. Wilhelm for county commissioners. D. E. Hibner of Duhois was indorsed for congress, and Senator W. C. Hinckle of Center county for the state senate.

RIOT ACT READ TO COL. GUFFEY BY DELEGATES

Charles A. Fagar Threatens Things If Matters Are Shaped for Pattison.

COALITION IS POSSIBLE

Allegheny County May Join in Effort to Secure for Philadelphia 60 Seats, but That Will Not Change the Result.

By WALTER J. CHRISTY,
Staff Correspondent.

Erie, Pa., June 24.—Allegheny county delegates may join with Philadelphia in its endeavor to secure an increased delegation. Their course on this question is a matter of small importance to Col. J. M. Guffey. He can afford to be charitable. He has enough votes without his home county and is not disposed to attempt to curb the delegates in anything they may desire to do.

The delegation held a caucus and decided to call upon Col. Guffey at 10 o'clock to demand of him that he declare whom he favored for governor. The purpose was to make a last attempt to get his support for Guthrie. The action of the delegation, in its apparently intense interest in Guthrie's candidacy, is causing some people to wonder when they read over the names of the delegates. The delegation did not decide at its first meeting whether it would help Philadelphia. Some of the delegates say they will.

These delegates were elected members of committees: Resolutions—D. F. Patterson, George S. Fleming, W. E. Johnston, Charles B. Payne. Credentials—Henry Meyer, William J. Brennen, J. N. Wampler, Joseph McClure. Permanent organization—W. B. Lupton, J. A. Martin, Thomas B. Alcorn, John Purman.

Only a Family Quarrel.

Speaking of the proposed call of the delegation upon Guffey, Charles A. Fagan said: "This is a family matter in Allegheny. We want to know where Guffey stands and think we have a right to know."

"In discussing the general situation Fagan said: "Any one familiar with Democratic conventions knows that if the idea gets abroad that some one is trying to shape things the delegates stir themselves and knock the props from under that man. The idea has percolated through the delegates that Guffey is trying to shape things for Pattison. It looks to me as though the combination in the field against this arrangement is a pretty formidable movement. I feel that a change has come over the situation in the last three hours."

The Philadelphia delegation has decided to vote as a unit on all questions. It did not indorse any candidate, but will help the man who will insist on increasing the delegation to 69. Charles Donnelly was elected chairman of the delegation, but he will have to get a seat before he can act.

It develops that Chairman Creasy has put only 11 of the 29 delegates on the temporary roll. It is his intention to give them one from each of the legislative districts. As several delegates are returned from each of the remaining 18 districts, Creasy has refused to pick the 18 men to go on the roll. He asked Donnelly to designate them, but he has refused. Donnelly is among the delegates on the barred list.

Picking the Quaker Delegates.

It is probable that one of the first things the convention will have to determine is which of the 18 out of the 49 unseated delegates are to go on the roll, 69 having been certified from Philadelphia. If Donnelly is not put on, he will be prevented also from serving on the credentials committee. Among the other members on this committee from Philadelphia are Judge Gordon and Thomas J. Ryan. Donnelly says Philadelphia will make a hard fight for an increased representation, but does not say he will win.

The credentials committee will be opposed to giving Philadelphia more than 29 delegates.

Some of the Western Pennsylvanians caucused tonight, and all of them except Clearfield and possibly Allegheny elected anti-Donnelly-Ryan members. Westmoreland has put John B. Keenan on the committee on resolutions and J. V. Tower on permanent organization. Ex-Lieut.-Gov. John Latta is chairman of the delegation. Cambria and Blair have selected Samuel Lenhart of Cambria on credentials, Herman Baumer of Cambria on resolutions and Thomas H. Greevy of Blair on permanent organization.

F. Lowry Humes of Meadville will represent Crawford county in the credentials committee. Either Col. Fairman or H. H. Brosius of Jefferson will be put on from the Indiana-Jefferson district. In the Fayette-Greene district D. W. McDonald of Fayette is on credentials, G. E. Minor of Greene on organization, and Clair Stillwagon of Fayette on resolutions.

This resolution will be introduced by the Philadelphians tomorrow and will be fought by the friends of Guffey:

The representation in Democratic state conventions shall consist of representative delegates, one for each 1,000 votes cast for the Democratic candidate for president at the last preceding presidential election or fraction of over 500 amounting to 500 votes or more in the representative districts of the state, provided that each district shall have at least one delegate. Delegates may deputize in writing substitutes to act for them at any meeting or meetings of the Democratic state convention. All delegates to Democratic state conventions shall be elected within the calendar year in which they are to serve as such delegates.

This proposed rule to break deadlocks will also be fought. It is introduced by Dallas Sanderson of Philadelphia:

In all congressional, senatorial or judicial districts where the counties comprising the district have failed to select conferees, or to agree upon rules for the government of the district, or to agree upon nominees within 60 days prior to the general election, the chairman of the state committee is hereby empowered and directed to call a conference by notifying the county authorities to select conferees, if conferees have not been already selected; and if the conferees shall fail to meet, or to agree upon rules, or to make a nomination within five days, he shall fix a time and place of meeting and organize said conference; and in case said conference fails to reach a conclusion by a majority vote within two days, the said chairman shall select a representative Democrat of the district who shall become a member of the conference, and a majority of said conferees, including said representative, shall then make the nomination and decide all questions. In the event of a majority of the said conferees being then unable to agree upon a nomination, the representative shall make the nomination from and among the candidates.

whether they are all for ballot reform or personal registration.

The rooters were met at the station by a brass band and the local reception committee. George S. Fleming, County Chairman Thomas B. Alcorn and Commissioner James A. Clark marched at the head of the column. There was a halt in front of the Reed house and Guthrie appeared on the veranda to view the hundreds of his fellow citizens, whom he probably never saw before. He seemed pleased, however, that the uprising had taken place, even if he has recollection of paying for 500 half-rate tickets.

While there was a general demand from several of the enthusiastic ballot reformers from the Point that their candidate would make a few remarks on the burning issues, Guthrie declined to take advantage of the opportunity to address his friends on the growing evil of ballot box stuffing, impersonating and repeating. He was content to bow and smile and wonder whether the same crowd would not have been just as willing to have gone to Harrisburg to root for Pennypacker had someone paid the freight.

Commissioner Clark, who labors early and late for the purification of the ballot and a third term, rose to the occasion and offered three cheers and a tiger for Guthrie. They were given with a will, and then the candidate and his man retired from the veranda.

Fleming Speaks His Piece.

George Fleming hurried into the Reed house and up to the room of Col. Guffey. There was a number of people in the rooms, but this did not prevent the First ward leader from speaking his piece. He said:

"Colonel, if you want to make yourself the most unpopular person in the state, nominate Pattison. If you want to please the people and name a winner, nominate Guthrie. Pattison will be given one of the worst lickings a candidate ever got."

"All right, George; I will think it over," was Guffey's reply.

"I want Guthrie nominated, and I think he can be," continued Fleming, "but if he is not I will still go along with you. I simply want to speak my piece."

After Fleming had left the colonel's room he said it looked as if Pattison is certain to be nominated.

"I believe we could stampede the convention for Guthrie," said Fleming, "but I would not attempt to do that against my friend Guffey. He is the leader."

Soon after Fleming had departed from Guffey's headquarters John Larkin arrived. He had made a number of trips there during the day. In the presence of the colonel Larkin said:

"We intend to nominate Guthrie."

"Do you really mean that?" was a question asked quickly by Guffey.

"Certainly I do," was his reply.

Promised to Convert Guffey.

"Can it be done without the assistance of Col. Guffey?"

"We will convert Guffey."

The colonel simply smiled and took the controller into the back room to talk it over and urge Larkin to use his influence to have Guthrie accept second place on the ticket.

Influence has been brought to bear on Guthrie to accept the nomination for lieutenant governor. So far he has not consented. It is quite probable that the convention will nominate him, and take a chance on his declining.

If Guthrie refuses absolutely to take the lieutenant governorship, ex-Judge Calvin Reyburn of Kittanning is the most probable candidate. Ex-Representative A. W. Smiley of Clarion brought the Reyburn boom to town. He is a hustler, and in a short time Reyburn was being favorably discussed around all of the headquarters. The judge is here and willing to accept any burdens the convention may place upon him.

Reyburn stands well with the Democrats of Western Pennsylvania. He was elected judge in a Republican county, and came near duplicating the feat in 1899. Capt. John E. Keenan of Westmoreland says if Guthrie is not nominated it is quite probable Reyburn will be the man. Col. William Firman of Punxsutawney has consented to make the speech nominating the judge, and the convention will be treated to something out of the ordinary. The colonel is opposed to dry nominating speeches. This was shown at Harrisburg a few years ago when a youthful orator was wearying the convention. Fairman could not bear it any longer and cried out: "Name the fellow."

Tried to Count the Converts.

W. J. Brennen had another meeting of the Guthrie workers this morning. The conference was devoted to hearing reports on the number of delegates that had been captured during the night. The meeting was short and no estimate of the number of catches was made public.

The Kerr and Guthrie forces claim to have a perfect understanding. They say they are working together and will be able to make a good showing tomorrow. So far neither is willing to say that either candidate will step aside in the interest of the other.

During the middle of the afternoon a small boy appeared in the lobby of the Reed house with a bundle of cards, which he distributed without playing favorites. He had not handed out a dozen until angry Democrats were clustering around him, demanding to know who gave him the cards. His only reply was, "Some man down stairs." This is what was printed on the pasteboards:

"Vote for the Hon. Robert E. Pattison, the hero of the Homestead strike. Nineteen workingmen's graves attest his courage and fidelity in suppressing the uprising of turbulent labor."

The Pattison people are of the opinion that some friends of Kerr were instrumental in issuing the card. Kerr denies that he had anything to do with the attack. Pattison was not injured.

The Kerr crowd have been making a strong play on the union labor game. They were given a setback this evening when a committee of unionists called and complained because the Kerr literature did not contain a union label. The mass of printed matter was immediately destroyed and some printed in a union shop ordered.

The Kerr managers say they have broken into the Pattison ranks today. Some of the counties they are claiming are in doubt. Thomas H. Greyy of Blair says the delegates from there will support Kerr, while A. V. Dively is just as positive that they will be for Pattison. There is a similar division of opinion as to Center county.

There was a fight in the conference of the delegates in the Clearfield-Centre-Clinton district today over the selection of a member of the credentials committee of the convention. J. L. Spangler of Centre, who is for Pattison, desired the election. The Kerr people put up ex-Judge D. L. Krebs of Clearfield, and Clinton helped to elect him. Then Spangler attempted to have him instructed to vote against the seating of the extra delegates from Philadelphia. He failed. The supporters of Kerr will help to increase the Philadelphia delegation.

CITIZENS PARTY HELD ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

Nomination Papers Filled Out and Will Be Forwarded to Harrisburg. Several Addresses Made.

The Citizens party of Allegheny held a very enthusiastic meeting in Kenyon's hall last night. The meeting was called for the purpose of having the nomination papers of the Citizens party signed in order that the names of candidates may appear on the official ballot.

Over 1,000 voters were present when William T. Bradberry, chairman of the Allegheny Citizens party, called the meeting to order shortly after 9 o'clock. Attorney Charles S. Crawford of Pittsburgh made the opening address and stated the object of the meeting. He said in part: "This county has for its issue the abolishment of that famous pamphlet you have heard so much of recently, the 'yellow book.' Investigations have proven that the ring and ring agents have grown rich by this method of politics.

"People in Allegheny county have been disgusted with the ring government for 15 years. When Gov. William A. Stone removed Recorder Adam M. Brown from office it proved to be a blessing in disguise for the citizens.

"On account of the election boards in Allegheny county being out of sympathy for the Citizens movement, every man in this house should be on the alert and see to it that no one votes at the coming election who does not have the right to do so."

The Iron City quartet furnished music for the occasion. During the address of Attorney Crawford much enthusiasm was manifested and he was roundly cheered on several statements made against ring methods.

James H. Fahnestock, Citizens candidate for sheriff, made a short address and then Chairman Bradberry called for "John Murphied Francies." This set the house wild with laughter and Mr. Francies came to the stage amid great cheering. He said:

"Gentlemen, if you elect me to go to Harrisburg and represent you I will go to the state capital without a string. There is one man who will not carry my vote around in a market basket, and he is his excellency, the governor, William Alcyis B. S. I Was Not Bribed."

At the conclusion of Mr. Francies' address there were loud cries in the hall for D. B. Oliver, and Chairman Bradberry called Mr. Oliver to the stage. He spoke for some little time on the object of the meeting and ridiculed the idea that so much red tape had to be gone through in order to get the Citizens candidates on the ticket.

John H. Trimble, who declined the nomination for legislature in the Second district, made a short address, as did also J. E. Powell.

investment of about $4,500,000 in seats alone.

Work on the stands erected on all sides to enable people to view the coronation procession was gradually discontinued. In Piccadilly, along nearly the whole length of which workmen were completing the decorations, the roadway was blocked with sightseers. Newsboys were yelling the announcement of the postponement of the coronation, but the workmen in that part of London stolidly continued to finish the work which they only have to take down tomorrow.

The work of demolishing the stands and all the paraphernalia prepared for the coronation pageant was in full swing during the latter part of the afternoon. Hundreds of workmen who this morning were engaged in putting finishing touches on the various jobs, were at work tearing down all that has taken weeks to accomplish. The barriers in the streets are being removed, the barricades merchants had constructed to safeguard their shop windows are rapidly disappearing, vans filled with garlands and multi-colored bunting stripped from masts and house fronts lined the streets and London promised soon to resume its usual dullness.

The loss of the insurance companies will be heavy, as great numbers of commercial companies and private individuals had taken out policies to cover them from the loss of the receipts from stands and the cost of decorations in the event of the coronation ceremony not occurring. Where speculators and householders did not take such precautions the losses will in many cases mean an approach to bankruptcy.

PRESIDENT CABLES SINCERE SYMPATHY

News of the King's Serious Illness Creates Profound Feeling of Sorrow in Washington.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, June 24.—"To His Majesty, King Edward VII., London: I ask your majesty to accept my sincere assurance of sympathy and wishes for speedy convalescence.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

President Roosevelt's cablegram to King Edward, sent this afternoon, contained the sentiment of sympathy felt by all Washington since the grave news of the king's serious condition and the coronation's postponement was heralded on the streets this morning. This feeling is especially marked on the part of officials of the state department, who have regarded the approaching coronation as the greatest diplomatic event of modern times, and on the part of those diplomats who still remain here and who fear world-wide political complications should the illness of his majesty result seriously.

A cablegram from Ambassador Choate at London was received at the state department this morning. The message was taken to the president by Acting Secretary of State Hill and the former laid it before the cabinet, which was in session.

During the afternoon cablegrams were received at the state department from Whitelaw Reid, special ambassador at London, and from Henry White, secretary of the United States embassy there.

The news was startling notwithstanding the fact that reports of the king's serious condition which have appeared for several days past were given general credence here. Many prominent government officials today expressed the fear that the king will not survive, but the official advices received today from Special Ambassador Whitelaw Reid and Mr. Henry White, secretary of the United States embassy in London, were somewhat encouraging in tone. Secretary Hay had left Washington for Boston before the news had been received, but it was sent to him as soon as it arrived.

Understanding Between Them Indicated in Gazette Long Ago.

EYES ON THE U. S. SENATE

The Colonel Has Nothing to Gain in That Direction by Alliance With the Wanamaker-Gordon People. Declaration Expected.

By CHESTER D. POTTER,
Staff Correspondent.

Erie, Pa., June 24.—Robert E. Pattison will be nominated for governor on the first ballot tomorrow. That is the confident hope of Col. J. M. Guffey and the opinion of all others. Pattison cannot be elected. He himself hardly dreams of such an outcome; but this is important, so far as the ex-governor is concerned: He will have again triumphed over his Philadelphia enemies, the Wanamaker-Gordon combine.

This political syndicate cares not so much for Pattison. It was Col. Guffey it desired to defeat. The result will be that it has again discredited in the party convention, and Guffey, whom it sought to depose, has strengthened his grasp on the leadership.

Many are asking what Guffey is going to get out of it. He has refused all recognition tendered since he assumed control of the organization, but those in a position to know say he will now permit a cancellation of the debt owed to him. Col. Guffey will be the Democratic candidate for the United States senate in opposition to Senator Penrose, or if Penrose should not seek a re-election he will oppose the caucus nominee of the Republicans.

Some months ago, it will be remembered, Gov. Pattison gave The Gazette an interview, in which he said Guffey would be a senatorial candidate; furthermore, that he would not be opposed in the Democratic caucus of the next general assembly. When Pattison made this statement it was not only noticed that he had an understanding with Col. Guffey, but it also settled the fact that Guffey would favor the ex-governor for the gubernatorial nomination.

True, he did not openly espouse Pattison's cause, but he did not interfere with the drift of party sentiment, which was in Pattison's direction. This was entirely due to the fact that the Philadelphian was the most available candidate, the logical choice. Guffey understood this. He wished the strongest man nominated, not only from a party, but from a personal, standpoint.

It is unlikely that Guffey expects a Democrat to be elected governor this year; but remembering the senatorial deadlock of 1899 and the close margin Col. Quay had in 1901, he is hopeful that the Democrats may control the next legislature. It is believed by Col. Guffey that Gov. Pattison's candidacy will appeal very strongly to the interior counties, and he has expressed the opinion that the governor is from 500 to 5,000 votes stronger in all counties outside of Philadelphia and Allegheny than any other man who could be nominated tomorrow.

Little is expected by Democrats in Philadelphia, where the personality of Judge Pennypacker is so well understood. The head of the Republican state ticket will carry the Quaker City by upwards of 100,000 majority. It might be reduced were it not for the fact of the split between the Pattison and Grlon factions.

What will happen in Allegheny is a proposition unsafe even in a conjectural sense; but the Republican leaders cannot afford to be oblivious of the hold which Pattison has on the rural voters. His strength is not sufficient to jeopardize the state ticket, but it will be an important factor when legislative and county candidates are considered.

Col. Guffey could have made a deal with the Wanamaker-Gordon people. Had he forced the nomination of Gordon, the former judge's friends would have sworn in for Guffey's senatorial candidacy. He offered to do this, and when Guffey refused to deal they offered Kerr as a compromise, and later they would have taken Guthrie—in fact, any one but Pattison. But Guffey would not be fooled. He would not trust these political Greeks, and made no pretence of concealing his opinions on this subject.

The Alliance With Wanamaker.

From a practical standpoint Guffey had nothing to gain and everything to lose by an alliance with Wanamaker. Gordon could not have polled the normal party vote. County Democrats would have voted for Pennypacker before they would for Gordon. The rural Democrats have no use for Philadelphia brand of politics. Kerr would have been stronger than Gordon, Guthrie stronger than either; but the community of interests supposed to connect the three, made all alike impossible.

Neither Gordon, Kerr nor Guthrie would have helped Guffey in his legislative fights. County leaders realized this and they forced their opinions upon Guffey. Being in accord with the sentiment, he helped to bring about conditions which now assure the nomination of Pattison.

The result will leave the Wanamaker newspaper syndicate in an embarrassing situation. It demanded that the Republican leaders select a high type of man for standard-bearer. This was done; and yet, since Judge Pennypacker was named, the Wanamaker press has done nothing but throw mud. From its standpoint Pattison is equally objectionable. He will do all he can to promote the senatorial aspirations of Col. Guffey; he will not lend encouragement to the senatorial ambition of John Wanamaker.

Publicly Col Guffey has not said he will be a candidate for United States senator. Ex-Gov. Pattison and others speak for him. It is not improbable that he will make a declaration soon, for, with the nomination of Pattison the ground plan of his candidacy is shaped for action.

THE PIANOLA

Don't regret the fact if you are unable to play the piano. A means is now provided that far surpasses hand playing and that means is the Pianola. Not only does the Pianola play the piano in a manner to win the plaudits of the world's most accomplished musicians, but they freely admit that it is impossible for any human performer to produce such effects.

A piano requires two things in order to realize its ideal of usefulness. One is an appreciative listener. The other is a Pianola.

Any person can operate the Pianola, which, however, is absolutely under the control of the operator in such degree that the expression is HIS expression. The operator really interprets the music the same as if playing by hand.

SOCIAL EVENTS ARE IMPOSSIBLE FOR THE PRESENT

Few of the Great Affairs London Looked Forward to Can Be Given.

NO CORONATION HONORS

Great Blow to Those Who Expected King's Favor—Country Festivities Likely to Be Canceled, Though His Majesty Wishes Otherwise.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1902, by the New York Herald Co.)

London, June 24.—I have never known society so painfully shocked as it was today when the distressing news of the king's illness and the consequent abandonment of the coronation festivities began to circulate.

The people refused to believe it at first, and it was not till about 1:15 p. m. when the newspaper boys began rushing through the streets with the big placards announcing the fact that they would credit it. I happened to be at Hyde park corner about 12:30 talking to a friend, when one of the royal carriages containing a member of the household drove by. He shouted as he passed: "It's all off."

Even then we did not quite grasp the meaning. On asking an inspector of the police if he had heard any news, I was informed that a message had been sent up from Hyde park saying that a passage was to be kept clear for a carriage, which was coming urgently from Welbeck street. At that moment Sir Francis Laking drove by.

The people seem too stunned at the present to be able to announce any definite plans. The tension is perfectly painful in the West End, for alarming rumors of all kinds are constantly being circulated. No one knows what to expect. Some say that every function will be abandoned. Practically the season is at an end. Others say that more or less private functions will take place, unless the worst happens.

At any rate the last I heard was to the effect that Lady Sassoon's party in Park Lane for Indian visitors was to take place and that Mrs. George Cooper's dinner and concert will not be postponed.

Looking ahead from a social point of view, what an absolute upheval this postponement and illness means. There can now be no garden party at Windsor, which was to have been one of the great functions of the coronation for the night, which, I understand, was to be given instead of a ball at Buckingham palace. At least 5,000 were to have been bidden. Lord and Lady Lansdowne's dinner at the Lansdowne house is, of course, out of the question, as this was really to have been given in honor of their majesties. The great anticipated ball at Devonshire house is now done away with, and the same may be said of the Londonderry house dinner and reception, the gala night at the opera and the Duchess of Westminster's ball.

Ordinary events, however, will take place, such as the Eton-Harrow cricket match, the 'varsity match and the Goodwood races. But all will be shorn of any great splendor. There is much surmising as to what will happen with regard to the coronation bazar, which was to have been opened by Queen Alexandra in the second week in July. It is very doubtful now whether the Caledonian ball, which is always one of the most interesting events of the season, will take place.

Coronation Honors Impossible.

The list of functions that are postponed is practically unlimited. One thing is pretty certain, there will now be no list of coronation honors on Friday. This in itself will be a very great blow to many people, for of course it will be absolutely impossible to confer honors in the celebration of an event which does not take place. Innumerable have been the names of people mentioned, who were to be so honored, among them Lord Londonderry, Lord Cadogan and Sir William Harcourt.

Shortly before 5 o'clock this afternoon I walked down to the house of commons and met nearly all of the peers coming from the house of lords. Among those coming away I saw Lord Dartrey, Lord Dudley, Lord Bathurst, Lord Hardwick, Lord Peerls, Lord Lawrence and Lord Wordsworth. They were quite a gloomy and depressed set of men.

It is no exaggeration to say that this news has cast the very greatest gloom over all ranks in society. A great many officers now quartered at Aldershot and Hounslow, who intended coming up to various dinners and functions, have all been stopped and are confined to their barracks. Owing to the news of the king's health, it will not be likely that any service men will be taking in any public or private entertainment for some days.

The statement that his majesty wishes a dinner to be given to the poor to take place, at all events, is considered as being one of his kindly thoughts in consideration for the poorer classes, in whom he has always been greatly interested. At the same time it is thought to be impossible that the country festivities, which the king also wishes to take place, can possibly occur. For, it is asked, what is the occasion to celebrate?

EDWARD IN PITTSBURGH.

The Hon. B. F. Jones Recalls Visit the Monarch, Then Prince of Wales, Made Here in 1860.

King Edward VII., prince of Wales then, was an honored guest in Pittsburgh in the summer of 1860. He came and departed between the rising and the setting of the sun, but to arrange this, regardless of the primitive manner of travel, a committee of the most distinguished men of Pittsburgh made a journey to Montreal, where the prince and his royal suite were visiting.

Out of this visit to Montreal grew an incident, probably one of the most democratic of the great republic of these United States that the prince could possibly have seen in his journey, either in the States or the Dominion. Of that later.

The prince came. It was in the early days of the Pennsylvania railroad. His train, like others, was brought into Pittsburgh by the backing-in plan, which brought him to where the new Grant street freight station of the Pennsylvania railroad is now located. There was no Pullmans, practically no comforts for traveling, but Pittsburgh did the best she could.

At the station there was a military escort, headed by Gen. William Robinson. The prince and his suite took a carriage and were conducted to the old Monongahela house. There, in the afternoon, there was an informal reception. The prince was not tired by the informal attentions of Pittsburghers, who came to grasp his hand. There was no formal dinner. Before sundown the prince went on west on the Pt. Wayne road.

Whether as a part of the program or not, the south of the Iron City had conceived the idea that the event was to be a sort of a Fourth of July celebration. There was an explosion of fireworks all along the route. Many of the older residents of Pittsburgh remember the occasion.

The Hon. B. F. Jones spoke of it last night as one of the holidays when the politics of the republic were engrossing the public mind. His partners remember it. John D. McKennan said last night that the Monongahela house on that occasion presented one of the busiest scenes in the period of its history. John McD. Cressan was the proprietor.

Pittsburgh knew ahead of time of the coming of the prince. Leading citizens made a more vigorous effort than during the recent visit of Prince Henry of the German empire to have him here. Gen. Robinson and Dr. W. H. Denny went to Montreal to invite the prince to come here. They were cordially received. There was a drive about Montreal and incidentally the carriage of Dr. Denny dropped behind that of the prince by about two miles.

The dinner hour had been named at 6 o'clock. Dr. Denny knew it would be a flagrant violation of international social ethics to be late. He had no time to attire himself in his dinner clothes, so he decided to be punctual at dinner, as he was.

At table he met the frown of Gen. Robinson. He paid no attention to that. The conversation after dinner became general. There ensued an exchange of repartee between Dr. Denny and the prince of Wales. The prince, a youth, as the Hon. B. F. Jones referred to him last night, appreciated the predicament of Dr. Denny. The doctor was not slow to realize this. He declared:

"Gen. Robinson is ashamed of me because I am here as I am. I can only plead the high social worth of the party in our carriage for that, and I came as I am, rather than late."

This remark made the prince his friend and Gen. Robinson accepted the situation and conviviality reigned.

The visit of the prince of Wales, now King Edward VII., in Pittsburgh was a short one, but there are some Pittsburghers who in the fireside stories remember it with satisfaction.

turned to consciousness were to ask for "George," and the prince of Wales, who was waiting in the next room, was immediately admitted to his father's presence.

Impressive Silence Reigns.

While the operation was being performed the great central courtyard of Buckingham palace, so lately the scene of such brilliant gatherings, was utterly deserted, and an impressive silence reigned throughout the building. The equerries talked in whispers, servants tiptoed about and the tension grew almost unbearable. Then the word was passed around, "All had gone well."

Lord Salisbury and Mr. Balfour then went in to congratulate Queen Alexandra and afterwards an informal and perhaps historical discussion occurred between the prince of Wales and the duke of Connaught and Lord Salisbury, Mr. Balfour and several other members of the cabinet.

Before the end of the afternoon more than 2,000 callers, including nearly all the foreign representatives in London and members of the house of lords and the house of commons, had inscribed their names on the visitors' book at Buckingham palace. All the royal princes called personally on the prince of Wales and bade him good-bye. The majority will leave London tomorrow morning for their respective countries.

In striking contrast to the happy anticipation with which the day opened is an order issued tonight by the archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Rev. Frederick Temple, and the archbishop of York, the Most. Rev. William D. MacLagan, appointing special forms for the intercession services to be held next Thursday.

All Are Asked to Pray.

"The congregations," say the archbishops in their joint order, "would doubtless be thankful to join, at this juncture, in prayer to the Almighty for blessing on his majesty, the king, and for his speedy recovery. The first two prayers in those prescribed for the visitation of the sick might be used for this occasion."

The archbishop of Canterbury also asks for "the public and private prayers of all in behalf of the king in his serious illness."

A large congregation in St. Paul's cathedral listened this afternoon to the bishop of Stepney, who is one of King Edward's intimate friends. The bishop referred to the king's recent presence in the cathedral at the peace thanksgiving as a sad contrast to today's circumstances, and asked his congregation to pray for his majesty, the royal family and the king's physicians, and to learn to hope. Then followed a solemn pause while the vast congregation knelt reverently in silent prayer. A short service followed. Many Americans were present at St. Paul's. A service similar to the one held there was also held in St. George's chapel by the dean of Windsor.

A brief notice has been published in the Gazette as a result of which the entire state social and business arrangements throughout the country are paralyzed. The order is dated from the earl marshal's office, and reads as follows:

New Date Is Uncertain.

"I have to announce that the solemnity of the coronation of their majesties, King Edward VII. and Queen Alexandra is postponed from the 26th to a date hereafter to be determined."

The best informed opinion places the date of the coronation in about three months' time, provided King Edward progresses well in the meantime.

In spite of the royal wish that the provincial celebrations be carried out as arranged, many towns have abandoned the festivities which were to be held, although at Liverpool and other large cities hurried meetings were called and it was decided to carry out all the charitable arrangements as previously made. The leading business houses of London have decided to keep open June 26 and 27, although the banks will probably be closed those days.

The bonfires which top the hills of the United Kingdom from John O'Groat's to Land's End will not be lighted; they will be kept intact, however, in the hope of the celebration being held at a later date.

Physician-in-Ordinary and Surgeon-Apothecary to King Edward.

KING EDWARD PAYS PENALTY OF HARD WORK

Unseasonable and Changeable Weather Adds to Gravity of His Illness.

PROGRESS OF HIS MALADY

Shadow of Impending Gloom Has Hung Over England for a Week. Every Effort to Keep His Coronation Engagements.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1902, by the New York Herald Co.)

London, June 24.—There can be no doubt that the king is now paying the penalty of his excessive hard work. Since the beginning of the present month he has hardly had a single moment to himself, while unseasonable and very changeable weather has evidently aggravated the trouble which resulted in the operation.

News of the king's illness first became public on Monday, June 16, when it was announced that his majesty was suffering from a slight attack of lumbago, brought on by exposure at the Aldershot tattoo on the previous Saturday, which was a particularly wet and cold day. It will also be remembered that the king had several seizures of weakness and fainting on the royal yacht during Easter holidays.

Sir Francis Laking was summoned from Windsor on the evening of Saturday. The king was unable either to keep his Sunday engagements or be present at the review on Monday. On Monday morning it was announced that the king had almost recovered from his indisposition, but in the afternoon somewhat alarming rumors were current. An appeal was made to Sir Francis Knollys for a reassuring statement. Sir Francis replied:

"The best answer I can give you is that the king is going to Windsor this afternoon."

This somewhat diplomatic answer scarcely allayed the anxiety.

On Tuesday it was reported that his majesty was much better. Court officials and others responsible for these statements can scarcely be blamed if they have endeavored to avoid a public scare, but it has been known to a great many people during the past 10 days that the state of the king's health caused more anxiety than was admitted, and a week ago it was greatly feared that the coronation would have to be postponed.

The possibility that his majesty would have to submit to an operation has never been absent from the minds of his medical attendants. The king's condition has fluctuated a good deal during the week. He had bad days and good ones, but on Saturday and Sunday it was hoped that the worst had passed and that the necessity for an operation might at least be postponed until the coronation. Those who saw his majesty drive through London yesterday were painfully impressed by his pallor and appearance of illness.

Discussing the character of the king's trouble, an eminent doctor said:

"Perityphlitis is an inflammation of the connective tissue behind and around the large intestine. This most serious form of disease is always attended with great danger to life, but if taken early it is sometimes amenable to treatment.

"Where an internal abscess has formed, caused by perforation of either the bowel or the vermiform appendix, thus letting material from the bowels into the abdominal cavity and producing peritonitis as a sequence, the gravity of the disease is much increased and an operation of a very serious nature becomes necessary. This is the condition of the king at the present time. The operation has been performed, but recovery is necessarily slow, and, in any case, a considerable time must elapse before his majesty will be able to get about again."

The Lancet states that the abdominal operation was performed successfully by Sir Frederick Travers. An anaesthetic was administered by Sir Frederick Hewitt and was borne well, his majesty recovering consciousness without any ill effects whatever. The operation was attended by no complications.

MANY PITTSBURGH PEOPLE IN LONDON

They Will Be Disappointed at the Postponement of the Coronation Ceremonies.

Nearly 1,000 persons who have gone from Pittsburgh and vicinity to see the coronation will be disappointed at the sudden postponement of it. Many will be obliged to spend twice as much money as they originally intended, while others will no doubt return soon.

Some few simply went to see the coronation. A number of these were originally the queen's subjects when they left their homes across the sea and came to make their fortunes in America. But the most of them were simply sightseers. They had no interest in Great Britain, no love of country, but went to see the greatest, exhibition of pomp and show of the century. These will be the ones most disappointed.

Both at McCormick's agency and at the foreign department of the First National bank it was agreed that there are fully 800 Pittsburghers in London suffering from disappointment. About half of this total of 800 will no doubt return as soon as they can secure berths. This will not be a difficult task, because there will be several steamships that were taken off the lines for coronation week returning to this country as soon as they can load.

The steamships that were taken off the regular lines have been the last to arrive, and were to be used during the week for excursions, where it was expected more money would be made than on the regular trips. There would have been little or no demand for them to return during the week, for if they had returned they would have been without passengers, as all persons in Great Britain, no matter how great their hurry to reach this side, would have remained a few days longer to see the big show.

The other half of the total are people with almost unlimited wealth who will not be inconvenienced in the least by the postponement. If the coronation is only off for six weeks or two months they can readily spend that time on the continent and return to London as soon as the king's health will allow of the ceremonies.

While the news from London of the serious condition of King Edward is a shock to the members of the Sons of St. George they have gone too far with the preparations for the coronation day celebration to be held at Cascade park, near New Castle, and will not postpone it. It will positively be held on Thursday. There will be 10 races, a football game between East Liverpool and Pittsburgh lodges, as well as other sports. Trains leave the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie depot at 8:30 a. m., returning at 7 p. m.

DIFFICULT TO CONCEAL ANXIETY FOR THE KING

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, June 25.—The London morning papers refer editorially to the dark shadow which has fallen over the nation and to its utterly unprecedented character. While they strive to maintain an air of hopefulness they have difficulty in concealing their anxiety at the danger which will hang over the king's life for some days. They exhort the public to abandon all idea of festivity and to return soberly and prayerfully to the duties of everyday existence, as most befitting the dignity of the nation.

The Daily Telegraph says: "The country will bar one more infliction, with all its sorrow, deprivation and infinite untowardness, as it has many times before borne troubles which for the time seemed overwhelming."

The Standard says that the message of condolence from President Roosevelt will be "gratefully accepted as a token that our friends and well wishers abroad sympathize with us in a calamity which at best must impose an unwonted strain on the patience and fortitude of the nation."

The Daily Telegraph this morning says that when King Edward was told that an operation was imperative he exclaimed: "Operation or no operation, I won't disappoint the people; I must go to the abbey."

JOYOUS LONDON QUICKLY TURNS TO SAD SILENCE

News of King's Illness Flashes Rapidly Through the Crowded Streets.

GLOOM IS EVERYWHERE

Millions Awake for Day of Rejoicing, but Return to Their Homes Heartsick and Sad in Shadow of Great Sorrow.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1902, by the New York Herald Co.)

London, June 24.—Millions of people who awoke this morning full of joyful anticipation of celebrating the coronation go to bed sick at heart with the news that the king is ill, very ill.

In the early hours of the morning, shortly after 3 o'clock, I saw an advance guard of the great army of sightseers. They were mounted on bicycles, wheeling along the line of the procession. When I reached Pall Mall later in the day, about 11 o'clock, I found that the few of the morning hours had grown into thousands. The pavements were thronged with pedestrians and the roadways with omnibuses, brakes, hansoms, cabs and trade vehicles of all descriptions, crowded with people. Everyone was happy and the decorations called forth cries of admiration.

It was just about noon that one of the high officials of the court hurriedly entered the Carlton hotel. He had hardly been there more than a minute before the whisper ran about: "The king is ill and the coronation has been postponed." The report ran from table to table, jumped into corridors, through the doors and into the streets. At first the news was received with incredulity, there have been so many reports emanating from stock jobbing quarters.

A rush was made to the press association ticker, which was sending out the morning stock quotations, which figures, strangely enough, showed weakness. It was about 12:30 that the first official bulletin that the king was undergoing a surgical operation was sent over the tape. This confirmation of the dread news was received in silence. The emotion was too deep for words. It was but half an hour after I left the joyous crowds in the streets that I mingled with them again.

But what a change.

Everyone had heard the sad news and, while, there was unbelief at first, this had given way to sorrowful certainty. There seemed to be a hush in the air, even the horses' hoofs sounded muffled as they drew the crowded vehicles through the decorated streets. Animation had vanished from the faces of the sightseers. In the midst of their rejoicing had fallen the shadow of a great sorrow.

I remember the solemn stillness which descended upon the streets of New York that hot afternoon of September 6, when the news flashed from Buffalo that an assassin's bullet had lain low the president of the United States. Just as the throngs moved mechanically, stunned, almost voiceless, up and down Broadway under the warm rays of the sun, so did the London throngs wander aimlessly through the gorgeously decorated streets this afternoon.

CROWDS MELT AWAY WHEN NEWS IS HEARD

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1902, by the New York Herald Co.)

LONDON, June 24.—Senator Depew, when I saw him at the Carlton hotel tonight, compared the effect of the news of the king's illness upon London with the effect of the news of the assassination of President McKinley upon Buffalo last year.

"It is a serious thing," said Mr. Depew. "It is an exact parallel in many respects with the incidents at Buffalo, although the element of tragedy is wanting. I was in Buffalo at the time, and the city was in just such a state of exaltation as London was this morning. There, as here, one saw everywhere people enjoying themselves. Here, from coster to peer, the whole population was anticipating the crowning of the king. Happy crowds were everywhere and people were applauding and cheering decorations which especially appealed to them.

"Looking from my window just when the news was being given out, I saw a dramatic spectacle. There was a tremendous congestion of persons and vehicles in Pall Mall, which lasted fully 15 minutes. Suddenly a news vendor was seen who held aloft a huge poster of one of the newspapers bearing the words: 'Coronation Postponed; King Very Ill.' In a minute the whole crowd had dissolved and soon the street was occupied only by ordinary traffic.

"One thing that strikes one most forcibly at this time," said the senator, in closing, "is the immense personal popularity of the king. Not a single discordant note, and I have talked with many distinguished men, have I heard in the general chorus of sorrow for the king's illness, and I am sure this is shared by every right-thinking person, no matter of what nationality."

The story of "Mary's Goat" is told in catchy poetry. It will be one of next Sunday's Gazette supplements. The other will be a beautiful picture ready for framing.

Passed Gravel Stone as Large as a Pea.

Royersford, Pa., April 19th, 1902.
Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Gentlemen—I had been a sufferer from kidney trouble for about 8 years with pain in side, back and head. About 6 or 8 months ago I concluded to try a bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. To my surprise I experienced a decided relief before I had taken half of the bottle and one morning passed a gravel stone as large as a pea, which I still have in my possession and will be pleased to show to anyone who doubts the efficacy of this wonderful remedy. One month ago, finding some of the old symptoms returning I purchased a 50c bottle of Swamp-Root at Dr. Morey's Drug Store, and before I had taken one-fourth of it I found in the vessel which I had voided during the night a teaspoonful of small gravel stones and sand, the passing of which was immediately followed by relief.

JESSE S. BUTTERFIELD.

I am well acquainted with Mr. Butterfield and know that the above statement is true in every particular.

DR. MOREY, Druggist.

We don't see the President as often as they do in Washington.

Short Ends of Ribbons, Half of Yesterday's Half Prices.

We had a sale yesterday of short ends of ribbons—¾ of a yard up to 2 yards.

It was one of those rousing occasions.

We clean up the lot today. Come for what is left and the prices will be exactly half the half prices of yesterday.

Little to Pay for American Wash Goods.

This big department of the Basement is making history sure enough.

2,500 yards fine Dimities, woven and finished in Ireland, but printed in this country. Most stores call them Irish Dimities, and they are in a sense, but they are not worth 20c and 25c, prices usually charged for them. Today we offer them for 7½c a yard. Mostly lavender with white printings. But there are a few yellows, blacks and blues among them.

5,000 yards of Batistes and Dimities, 10c a yard. All neat colors and neat styles—usually 12½c and 15c.

1,200 yards all Linen Madras, striped, the very thing for shirtwaist suits—25c qualities, 15c a yard.

2,500 yards 32-inch Madras Ginghams, pretty styles and colorings, 20c grades 12½c a yard.

1,500 yards of yard-wide Percales in stripes and small figures—12½c grades—for 7½c a yard.

Russian Cord Piques, white grounds over which are printed polka dots and neat stripes—25c qualities 15c a yard.

A Lot of Summer Style for Little Money.

If women will study this list of Summer finery in dress they will be pleasantly surprised to find how very little it takes to buy a smart gown.

White Summer Dresses in dimities and India linons, daintily trimmed with lace, some in the simple style of shirtwaist trimming, others more elaborate, $5, $6.50, $8.50, $10, $12.50 and up to $30.

BLIND PUPILS SHOWED THEIR PROFICIENCY

MUSICIAL ABILITY SHOWN

Commencement Exercises of the Pittsburgh Academy at the Alvin. First Graduates from the New Mt. Gallitzin Academy at Baden.

The twelfth annual closing exercises of the Western Pennsylvania Institution for the Blind were held last night in the institution's hall in Bellefield avenue. "Closing exercises" is the expression used instead of "commencement," for pupils are not graduated regularly from schools for the blind, as the young people receive only such instruction as is suited to their capacity, and the system of classes is not as in other educational institutions.

On the program the exercises were called a concert, and all but two numbers were instrumental or vocal. The hand work of the pupils who did not take part in the concert was shown afterward in a room downstairs. Some branches in which proficiency is taught could not, of course, be represented. For example, it would be rather difficult and not especially instructive to have a piano tuned on the stage, and yet piano tuning is one of the avocations in which, it is said, there is a great future for the blind.

Have Room for More.

Before the exercises began the Rev. Dr. John G. Brown, president of the institution, spoke a few words. He said there had been only one case of sickness in the place in the past scholastic year. There were 90 pupils, and the institution had room for 200. Superintendent H. B. Jacobs said he hoped knowledge about the school would spread over the state, so that it would fill up. Instruction is free, the state appropriating a per capita sum for the training of the pupils.

The orchestra, composed of inmates, played three selections; two full choruses sang twice, and vocal selections by the junior pupils and a male and female chorus were given. Ethel K. Crooks and S. Karl Kaphart played organ solos, and Master Kaphart performed several times excellently on the piano. There were piano solos by J. Donald McLean, John H. Dolan, Margaret McGuire, Jennie Snyder and Harry L. Barrows; a vocal trio by Marie L. Stewart, Autumn S. Drake and Gladys G. Gill; piano trios by Robert C. Davidson, Sam G. Rowe and Iva Leighley, and George J. Reichenberger, H. Guy Nickeson and Merrill Doyle; a vocal solo by Miss Jean Cowan, and recitations by Gladys G. Gill, Autumn S. Drake and Margaret R. Stewart completed the program.

The Pittsburgh Academy.

The annual commencement exercises of the Pittsburgh Academy, held last night in the Alvin theater, were devoid of the long, thrilling orations, debates and other things peculiar to commencement exercises. Instead, there was an excellent program of choice songs and it was quite a novel departure. James W. Robinson delivered the salutatory. The Rev. Dr. William H. Crawford, president of Allegheny College, delivered an instructive address to the graduates.

"There are many definitions of education," he said, "but when all is summed up, when all has been said, that education that develops the intellect to make one look at things as they are, to see everything in the light of truth, is the education for the young man and the young woman." Dr. Crawford's parting advice to the graduates was to aim high, to get the very best of everything in life."

The program opened with the singing of Carl Bohm's inspiriting song, "Tripping O'er the Hill," by the Academy chorus. This was followed by "The Miller's Wooing," Miss Catherine Miller sang Nevin's "The Rosary," and was recalled several times. The valedictory was delivered by Marion Armstrong. The girl's glee club sang "The Country Fair" and "Little Cotton Dolly." The exercises closed with the singing of the class song, "In the Harbor." Prof. Lytle presented the diplomas. The graduates were fairly deluged with floral gifts, many of them receiving five and six large bouquets of the richest flowers.

Mt. Gallitzin Academy.

The first commencement of the new Mt. Gallitzin academy, built during the past year at Baden by the sisters of St. Joseph at a cost of over $150,000, occurred yesterday afternoon. The exercises opened at 2 o'clock with a chorus by the pupils, whose ages range from 4 to 13 years. "Paul Revere's Ride" and "The Charge of the Light Brigade" were given as class recitations, the latter after a sword drill which was accomplished with military precision. Violin selections by Masters D. McNally, C. McCrory and a piano duet by Masters Handley and Weidman made up the musical part of the entertainment, in addition to several vocal solos, one of which "The Holy City," given by the senior boys in full sanctuary regimentals, purple and white, with lace surplices, was remarkably picturesque. A Highland drill, in which the boys wore Highland costume, with kilts, caps and crooks, was given with the military step by all the boys and interspersed through these class numbers were several recitations and solos. Nevin's "Little Boy Blue" was sung prettily by Master John Sullivan and Master McCrory in several solos gave evidence of excellent musical ability.

In the class numbers and marches were the following pupils, most of whom are from Pittsburgh, with a slight sprinkling from Johnstown and nearby towns. Masters D. McNally, Neal McFadden, C. McCrory, B. Harking, B. McWilliams, F. McAleer, A. Friel, F. O'Leary, J. Sullivan, William McPhillips, T. McFadden, B. Kennedy, E. Handley, F. Weidmann, Q. George, R. Malone, G. McVey, E. Kearns, J. McVey, N. Sweeney and A. Braudner, with the three smallest pupils, Frank Lee, George Quinn and Jerome B. McElroy. In addition to the chorales there were two numbers given by some girl pupils of the institute who are in daily attendance. The first of these was a graceful Delsarte exercise and the second a scarf fantasia, consisting of a slow dance, followed by a number of statuesque poses by the young ladies, who were robed in white costumes of the ancient classic type. These were Misses Lillian Marshall, Margaret Boal, Mary Bernhart, Pearl Martin, Kate Scobie, Sadie Palmer, Sadie Corbett, Helen Gleason and F. Speer. A large number of guests were present, including some of the prominent clergymen of the city.

OLD STUDENTS REUNION.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., June 24.—The important feature of the Washington and Jefferson college commencement exercises today was the reunion of the Washington college class of 1862. This class contained distinguished men. The history of the class was read by S. L. Jepson, M. D., of Wheeling, and the career of every member, from the time of graduation until the present time, was given in full. Many members of the class were present, among them being the Rev. Dr. Paxton, New York; the Rev. Dr. McClintock, Sioux City, Ia.; the Rev. Dr. Knight, Carthage, Mo.; the Rev. Dr. McCurdy, Wilmington, Del.; Dr. T. Milton Todd, Auburn, Cal., and John Bassel, Wheeling, W. Va.

The college literary societies held their reunions this afternoon and the College Glee and Instrumental club's annual concert was held in the college gymnasium tonight before a large audience. A social feature of the festivities was a morning dance given by the society girls of town from 9 o'clock until noon today.

The annual meeting of the board of trustees of the college was attended by the following trustees: The Hon. E. F. Acheson, Washington; the Hon. M. W. Acheson, Pittsburgh; the Rev. John M. Barnett, Markleton; the Hon. James A. Beaver, Bellefonte; C. N. Brady, Washington; John M. Buchanan, Beaver; the Rev. D. A. Cunningham, Wheeling; Alvan Dornan, Washington; the Rev. H. T. McClelland, Pittsburgh; Edward McDonald, McDonald; the Hon. J. A. McIlvaine, Washington; the Rev. John A. Marquis, Greensburg; the Rev. A. M. Reid, Steubenville; the Rev. M. B. Riddle and the Rev. Thomas E. Robinson, Allegheny; W. W. Smith, Washington; W. R. Thompson, Pittsburgh; A. M. Rodd and the Rev. William E. Slemmons, Washington.

President James D. Moffat reported that during the year 362 students had been enrolled in the institution, the largest number in the history of the college.

The following degrees in course were recommended and will be awarded at the commencement exercises tomorrow: Master of arts, Alexander B. Allison, '97; William B. Inglis, '97; William A. Reed, '97; Arthur B. Marks, '98; John B. McBride, '98; John S. Cort, '99; Harry D. Hamilton, '99; David M. Knight, '99; Randolph P. Lippincott, '99; Samuel C. Orr, '99; John McD. Russell, 99; Charles M. Thomson, '99; D. Glenn Moore, 98; master of science, William T. Helnig, 99. Tomorrow morning the commencement exercises proper will be held, the alumni banquet in the afternoon and the senior promenade at night.

LATROBE, PA., June 24.—The commencement of St. Vincent college was held this morning at the Benedictine abbey school hall. The Rev. Germain Hall, president of the college, had charge of the exercises. The most notable of the honors conferred was the degree of master of arts given to Frank P. Slattery of Wilkesbarre, who was valedictorian in 1894, and is now a successful lawyer.

The degree of bachelor of arts was conferred on Bernard Conley of Wilmore, Joseph H. Farran of Braddock, and John Padden of Pittsburgh.

Diplomas were awarded to the following students of the third collegiate class: J. Adolph Hasler, Allegheny; Joseph D. Hagan, Pittsburgh; Gerald J. Miller, Baltimore; Lambert A. Daller and Bonaventure A. Reithmeier, Bavaria, and Henry D. Hoffman, Youngstown, Pa.

The degree of master of accounts was conferred on George N. Wolf, McKeesport; Edward B. Rehill and Edward R. Cavan, Wilkesbarre; Albert L. Sheridan, Kittanning; Warren L. George, Lilly; John C. Cosgrove, Hastings, and James Monahan, Allegheny.

The college gold medal for good conduct was awarded to Edward R. Cavan of Wilkesbarre. The scholastic gold medal for good conduct was awarded to Bruno X. Ferg of Bavaria. For the best average in the third collegiate class the gold medal went to J. Adolph Hasler of Allegheny, who was also this year's valedictorian. The gold medal for the best average in the graduating class of the commercial course was awarded to George N. Wolf of McKeesport. The donor of this medal is Joseph Head of Latrobe. The medal for elocution, donated by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Phelan, was awarded to Rehill. The gold medal for the best progress in German composition, donated by the president of the college, was awarded to Lambert A. Daller of Bavaria.

PUPILS GET MEDALS.

Honors Awarded at St. Joseph's Academy and St. Mary's Seminary.

GREENSBURG, PA., June 24.—(Special.)—The class day exercises of St. Joseph's academy and St. Mary's seminary were held this afternoon on Seton Hill. The graduates at St. Joseph's were Miss Marie Dunlevy, Miss Cecilie Moran and Miss Gertrude Flinn, all in the academic department. The Rt. Rev. Richard Phelan, bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese, presided and presented the gold medals and other awards to the successful pupils. The address was made by the Rev. C. Coyne.

At St. Mary's Seminary for Boys the pupils are mostly from Pittsburgh, and their parents and friends attended in large numbers. Many medals were awarded, among them the following: For Christian doctrine, awarded to Frank Corcoran and donated by the Rev. B. H. McKeever; highest average in grammar grade, Joseph Gisnini and Lawrence Williams, donated by the Rev. Francis Keane; highest average in intermediate grade, Harold Bynon and Fred Loughner, donated by the Rev. P. K. Collins; highest average in primary grade, Francis O'Donnell, donated by the Rev. John Hackett; music, Richard Naylor, donated by Mrs. J. C. Fraunheim.

Gold medals to the grammar grade were awarded as follows: Edward Dahy, William Jacob, William Barnes, William Devany, Christopher Naylor, Arthur Drumm, Thomas Butler, William Heyl, William Meighan; intermediate grade, Raymond Dowling, Fred Jacob, Jay Lappan, Leo Mabold, Joseph O'Donnell, James Weedin, Abbie Finkelpearl, Philip Fitzgibbon, Eugene Showalter, Raymond Maund, Herbert Shafer and Fred Kleppick. In the primary grade the following gold medals were distributed: Frank Cowley, Lee O'Donnell, Anthony Hoehler, Edward Soule, William Soule, William Petgen, Albert Long and Raymond O'Donnell.

SLIPPERY ROCK, PA., June 24.—(Special.)—The exercises of commencement week are in full blast. Tonight the annual concert was given by the music students, superintended by Miss Bell. Visitors are already crowding the town and the dormitories to attend class and commencement days.

GROVE CITY, PA., June 24.—(Special.)—The class day exercises of Grove City college were held today with the following performers: Piano duet, Misses Martha Poutens and Gertrude Harsh; president's address, W. G. Studebaker; optimist, Miss Mary E. Butts; pessimist, N. E. Hecter; declaimer, W. M. Jones; prophet, R. G. Dean; orator, H. C. Lytle; poet, William M. Fresh; historian, B. H. Battenhorr; artist, Theodore S. Stuart; valedictorian, Miss Lyda Elliott.

Two Nearby Wellesley Graduates.

BOSTON, MASS., June 24.—(Special.)—Two young women from Western Pennsylvania were among the 150 graduates at Wellesley college who were given the degree of A. B. this afternoon. They were Miss Mira May Sawhill of Pittsburgh and Miss Maud May Fleming of Oil City. Both have high records for scholarship.

STUBBORN FIRE IN AN ORPHAN ASYLUM

Allegheny Firemen Had Hard Work Preventing Total Destruction of U. P. Institution.

Allegheny firemen fought a stubborn fire for over two hours yesterday afternoon at the United Presbyterian Orphan asylum, Monterey and West Jefferson streets. Seventy-four children, nearly all boys, were in the building at the time, but all were got out safely through the presence of mind of the matron, Mrs. Elizabeth McMillen, who told them they could go out on the lawn to play. She then had an alarm turned in.

The fire was discovered by a maid in the boys' dormitory on the third floor. It had apparently started in the ceiling from some unknown cause. By hard fighting it was confined to the third floor, though the entire roof and upper part of the house were destroyed.

With the damage done by water and the necessary tearing and cutting done by the firemen, a loss of about $3,000 is entailed, which is entirely covered by insurance.

The building is a three-story brick and contains about 30 rooms. It is the property of the United Presbyterian church.

Murderer Hanged at Lebanon.

LEBANON, PA., June 24.—Thomas Cromwell, colored, was hanged today for the murder of Jacob Schmidt on May 3, 1901. Schmidt, who was an engineer, ordered Cromwell from the engine room. The latter refused to go and struck Schmidt with an axehandle, crushing his skull. Cromwell also confessed to murdering John Henks at Burlington, N. J.

ANTI-STATEHOOD MEN FILIBUSTER AGAINST QUAY

He Retorts by Offering Them Undelivered Part of Famous Tariff Speech.

GIVES A FAIR WARNING

If They Stand in the Way of His Motion Today He Will Prevent Passage of Any Bill by Unanimous Consent—Forest Reserve.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
603 Fifteenth St., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.

Senator Quay made but little progress in the senate today in his effort to have Arizona, New Mexico and Oklahoma admitted as states, but that little was effective.

When the session convened today it soon became apparent that the senators opposed to admitting these territories had changed their tactics. Senators Aldrich, Hanna, Spooner, Beveridge and others held frequent consultations, and their movements indicated that they realized that the quiet man from Pennsylvania had the majority behind him. They decided then that they would prevent the passage of the statehood bill by consuming all the time remaining until the end of the session on other measures.

By this plan they devoted the entire day to the passage of the Appalachian forest reserve bill and the bill ratifying the agreement between the Chickasaw and Cherokee Indian, and the United States, measures that could have been passed at other times inside of two hours. These bills had the right of way by being special orders; but Senator Quay bided his time, and when the last bill was passed today he gave notice that unless the statehood bill was passed he would see to it that during the remainder of the session no more bills should be passed by unanimous consent.

With these special orders out of the way, the path is clear tomorrow for Senator Quay to force the fighting, but he probably will be antagonized with conference reports and other regular matters that have the right of way.

There was an amusing scene in the senate early today when the opposition utilized the Appalachian forest reserve bill for their filibustering. Senator Quarles secured the reading of the bill in full, and then Senator Spooner demanded and secured the reading in full of the long report. When this was concluded Senator Aldrich demanded the reading of the report of the secretary of agriculture on the subject. As it was evident that the opposition were determined to waste time, Senator Quay arose and offered the opposition the undelivered portion of his speech on the tariff in 1894, as he believed it might be more interesting than the report called for. Senator Spooner objected on the ground that the speech was barred by the statute of limitations.

The debate on this measure lasted until 2 o'clock, when it ceased in time for the bill to be passed and not interfere with the other special order.

The forest reserve bill provides for the purchase of 4,000,000 acres in the Southern Appalachian system at a cost not to exceed $10,000,000.

Departures.

Elizabeth, Morgantown, W. Va.
Kanawha, Charleston, W. Va.

The stage of water at Davis Island dam at 9 o'clock last night was 4.5 feet and falling.

News of the Rivers.

The Kanawha was crowded with passengers when she left Sunday for Charleston.

The steel hull towboat Peter Sprague arrived at St. Louis Monday in tow of the Mary J. and Kit Carson.

The towboat Harry Brown is laid up at Proctor, being unable to come farther on account of shoal water.

The towboat Charlie Clarke yesterday broke her shaft while working in the pools of the Monongahela near Rankin.

Capt. Charles Menges hopes to have the Bedford in working order inside of 60 days. Her machinery is not damaged.

Edwin A. Coyle, who died at Louisville Sunday, will be brought to Pittsburgh for burial. The funeral will take place today.

The towboat Clifton arrived in port yesterday, bringing 10 empty barges. She did not have any trouble on account of low water.

J. A. Cruikshank, treasurer of the United Pilots' Corporation, is expected in Pittsburgh today from Cairo, where he has been signing pilots for the corporation.

Karma of Cincinnati is the name of a craft lying sunk on the beach at the upper end of Jeffersonville. It has recently been used as a movine picture theater.

The Gertrude may be able to make a trip Saturday, but it is doubtful. She will, however, be ready for the Morgantown trade Monday or Tuesday. Carpenters yesterday began to build per texas cabin.

Daniel Dougherty, local United States steel inspector, leaves for Chicago tonight to do some work for the government, the regular inspector at Chicago being ill. Mr. Dougherty made a trip there last week and also one to Cleveland.

Capt. R. M. Boyd yesterday called on the local steamboat inspectors and served notice that he would appeal to Maj. S. R. Cruikshaugh from the decision revoking his license for 60 days. Capt. Boyd says the decision is unjust, as he knows the other officers, Capts. William Lewellen and Frank Williams, who were on watch when the I. C. Woodward and Twilight met in collision, will not appeal from the inspectors' decision. Capt. Boyd was in the cabin of his boat when the collision occurred.

Capt. "Ben" M. Laughlin has gone to Georgetown, Pa., on a visit. He was around the river front yesterday predicting that there would be a flood. He says that there are always doings on the river when he goes to Georgetown.

The rise which appeared in the Ohio yesterday gives the light draught packets assurance that here will be water for another week, and if the prediction for rain made by the weather bureau is fulfilled there ought to be further rises.

Capt. W. L. Sibert, local government engineer, is so pushed for room that he has rented two rooms in the Stouse building and will at once begin the work of making preliminary drawings of proposed improvements on the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers.

The steamer Elizabeth, leaving yesterday for Morgantown, had an elegant trip of passengers. Beginning next Saturday the Elizabeth will carry an orchestra for the benefit of her Saturday and Sunday excursionists. It will be an innovation on Monongahela river packets. If the experiment pays the orchestra will be made a permanent feature.

The towboat Juniata, which for two days has been touring the harbor and the pools of the Monongahela with officials of the American Steel and Wire Company, who have been making an inspection of the various works, completed the junket yesterday, landing her distinguished passengers at the Anchor line wharfboat. Capt. James Morris, river master of transportation for the company, made the trip with the party.

Capt. Peter Sprague of the river coal combine was here to look after the John A. Wood, which, since her arrival from New Orleans, has been laying over at Sweeney's. She was ordered to proceed on toward Pittsburgh, even if she has got a cracked shaft, so she is now making the journey. The steamer was built in Pittsburgh in 1870 and last January passed her 32d inspection, being still rated one of the best crafts her owners have.—Louisville Post.

NEW DIRECTOR ELECTED.

Capt. John A. Wood Succeeds Capt. Rodgers in River Coal Combine.

The directors of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company yesterday accepted the resignation of Capt. W. B. Rodgers, who resigned April 25 as a member of the board. Capt. John A. Wood, whose long experience on the river is well known to rivermen, was elected to fill the vacancy.

It is understood that the office of sales agent of the company will be abolished and that the executive officers will look after the business end of that department. Capt. John A. Wood was for years engaged in the coal business, being the senior member of the firm of John A. Wood & Son. He is a most amiable man. The directors declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 3½ per cent on the preferred stock.

KENDIN TALKS OF HIS NEW PROCESS

HOMESTEAD STEEL WORKER SAYS NEW COMPANY IS SURE THING.

Option on Site to Be Closed Within 30 Days—Capital to Be $3,000,000—In New Process There Will Be No Scrap. Beneficial Features of New Corporation.

"Another $3,000,000 steel corporation will soon commence operation in the Pittsburgh district," said John H. Kendin of Homestead yesterday. "The name will be the New Process Casting and Mining Company, and $2,000,000 will be paid in. We have an option on a location, which will be closed after our next meeting in New York, within 30 days."

John H. Kendin is a young man employed in the Homestead steel works as distributer of steel. He is the originator of the "new process" that this new company will use, and he is the only man who will talk about the new company. He will tell nothing but what he wants to, either. It is known, however, that he has the heads of several departments in the Homestead steel works interested with him, and that his process is being tried there.

"We propose erecting at once," said Mr. Kendin, "a blast furnace with a capacity of 500 tons a day. There will be three foundries—one for machine mouldings and small castings, one for forge blooms, rolls and rolling mill machinery, and one for parts of locomotives, electrical machinery and ship castings. There will be a forge shop where all kinds of forgings, from the largest to the smallest, will be made.

"I do not care to give any information of the process further than to say that the iron will be run direct to an entirely new kind of furnace in which it will be puddled. One great saving that we will have over all other processes is that we will have no scrap. It is calculated that steel castings can be made 30 per cent cheaper than by present methods.

"The men interested with me in the company, and who are now in Homestead, held a meeting last night, and the next meeting will be in New York within 30 days. The shares of stock will be placed at $50 each, so that the 1,500 men who will be employed can interest themselves in the company. We will make it entirely co-operative if we can. It is proposed to have a fund of $100,000 a year to distribute among deserving and needy employes. Each year $500 will be given to the employe who devises and puts into effect the best labor-saving device.

"I know that the new process will work and will do what I say it will. I also know that with the men in Homestead and New York who are interested with me we will go ahead, and it is only a question of a little time before it will be in active operation."

FILIPINO CITIZENSHIP

The Government Declares Its Policy Concerning It in a Paper Filed in District Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—What amounts to an official pronouncia mento of the position of the administration on the question of citizenship in the Philippines, pending further legislation, was filed in the supreme court of the District of Columbia today. It is in the form of an answer to the rule of the court to show cause why a mandamus should not issue requiring John R. Young, clerk of the court, to allow Antonio M. Opisso y de Ycaza, recently an inhabitant of the Philippines, to declare his citizenship intentions before Mr. Young as clerk, as petitioned by the Filipino.

The answer prepared by United States District Attorney Gould and approved by Attorney General Knox points out that congress has not yet determined the civil rights and political status of the Philippine inhabitants; that the petitioner is not included in any class of persons authorized by law to declare their intentions to become citizens of the United States, and that the defendant, Young, is without any authority to receive such declaration. The answer also says it is assumed that the petitioner intended to renounce his allegiance to Spain and adopt the nationality of the territory of the Philippines, inasmuch as he does not allege that he took the steps required by Article IX. of the treaty with Spain, providing that a declaration of decision to preserve allegiance to Spain should be made before a court of record by April 11, 1900.

DOUBT ABOUT GREATER PLANT AT M'KEESPORT

Exorbitant Prices for Property May Stop Tube Works Improvements.

WOULD COST $16,000,000

Tentative Plans of the Steel Corporation and National Tube Company Call for Enormous Additions—Citizens Are Now Getting Options.

The project of the United States Steel Corporation to erect at McKeesport the most gigantic and perfect tube works in the world is in the balance. There is doubt that the citizens' committee of the Tube city will be able to get the necessary option for extensions to the plant. Besides, failure in this will mean the abandonment of the existing rolling mills and the tube and pipe mills, with combined capacity of nearly 600,000 tons a year and employing over 3,000 men.

The citizens' committee of McKeesport, headed by James Evans, president of the National bank of McKeesport, seems to be blocked by the owners of the Bowery section demanding exorbitant prices for their property. In a short time, unless these people back down and accept the price which their neighbors have agreed to, the planned additional furnaces, steel works, rolling mills and tube works will be lost to McKeesport forever.

Plans to Rebuild.

The further tentative plan has been to rebuild the present rolling mills and tube works there, the furnaces and iron and steel works being among the most complete and modern of the company. As a whole the McKeesport group of works produces over a third of the product of the tube company.

However, under the economic operation and centralization scheme of the United States Steel Corporation, the rolling mills and tube works must either be rebuilt or abandoned. In case the plan of the citizens' committee of McKeesport fails, there will remain at McKeesport of the greatest works of the kind in the country only the Monongahela furnaces and steel works and the Boston Iron and Steel works. The Monongahela furnaces have a capacity of 275,000 tons annually and the steels works 330,000 tons. The Boston works produce 40,000 tons of iron and steel skelp and other iron.

James Evans has issued an open letter to the people of McKeesport in relation to their interests in the matter. In this he says in part: "The ground has not yet been secured and there has been no decision by the company to build the new mill in this city, nor is there any understanding or agreement whatever that the options now being taken will be accepted.

Signing Joint Option.

"A joint option has been signed with but two exceptions covering all the ground between Third and Fourth streets, from Huey to Martin streets, and a similar option has been signed by about one-half of the owners in the district bounded by Martin street, the Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Youghiogheny railroad and the furnace property and extending to the river.

"When this work was commenced, May 8, I thought 60 days would be ample time. I now find it impossible to complete the work within that limit, owing principally to the demands of the owners in what is known as the Bowery district.

"By the terms of the option a fixed price per foot front is placed on the ground and the value of the buildings is to be fixed by arbitration. All who have signed the options have been entirely satisfied with the price of the ground, $75 per foot front on Center and Wood streets, and $50 on North, Martin, Peach and Third streets, for full depth lots. Exorbitant demands could not and would not be considered, as to gratify them would not only be unfair to those who have signed, but would be a direct violation of the terms of the joint option."

Mr. Evans then calls for prompt action by the city, indicating that the company will wait little longer.

CITY FATHERS LOOKED OVER MARSHALSEA

Annual Inspection of the Model City Farm Made Under Director Wilson's Guidance.

Director George W. Wilson of the department of charities and corrections was the host of Pittsburgh councils and city officials on the occasion of the annual official inspection of the city farm at Marshalsea yesterday and in consequence city hall was deserted throughout the day. The party went to the farm on a special train. One of the features of the day was a splendid dinner that sustained the reputation the Marshalsea official dinners have gained in former years. There were 300 present. The Rev. Dr. T. N. Boyle asked a blessing and later the Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young pronounced a benediction. Brief after-dinner speeches were made at the suggestion of Recorder J. O. Brown, who sat at the head of the table and who called on John P. Sterrett, the common councilman from the Nineteenth ward; W. J. Diehl, the former mayor, and Lt. A. J. Barchfeld.

A tour of the grounds and buildings was made in the morning, every foot of the property being gone over and inspected under the guidance of attendants. The new building for the insane was especially interesting because of its convenient arrangements. When completed it will be equipped in every way with the latest modern appliances and furnishings, the equal of any like institution in the country. The afternoon was spent in sitting about the lawn and wide verandas, while some of the younger element tried to play ball.

Director Wilson has been acting as his own superintendent for some months and has really been doing the farm work throughout his incumbency, as the health of Superintendent George Linderman has been such that he has been able to do comparatively little. Director Wilson manages to get a great deal of the work done by insane inmates, and by that means is able to get along with 30 employes less than the ordinance allows him.

In sudden cases of Croup, and other alarming affections of the Throat and Lungs, Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant is invaluable. It often proves an elixir of life when death seems very near.

THE FIRST PUBLIC SALE OF THAT MATCHLESS NEW EAST END PROPERTY CHRISTENED

CHADWICK PLACE PLAN OF LOTS

OCCURS

SATURDAY, JUNE 28th.

Other grand real estate propositions have been before you! Investors have coined money on East Liberty and Squirrel Hill realty in faster time than print can tell it! Yet of all the profit-guaranteeing opportunities that mortal beings can take advantage of with a small outlay of money, this one unquestionably stands by itself, irresistible to the man who is posted, for the reason that he has seen undeveloped acreage that was in no sense finer than this property sell at enormously higher prices!

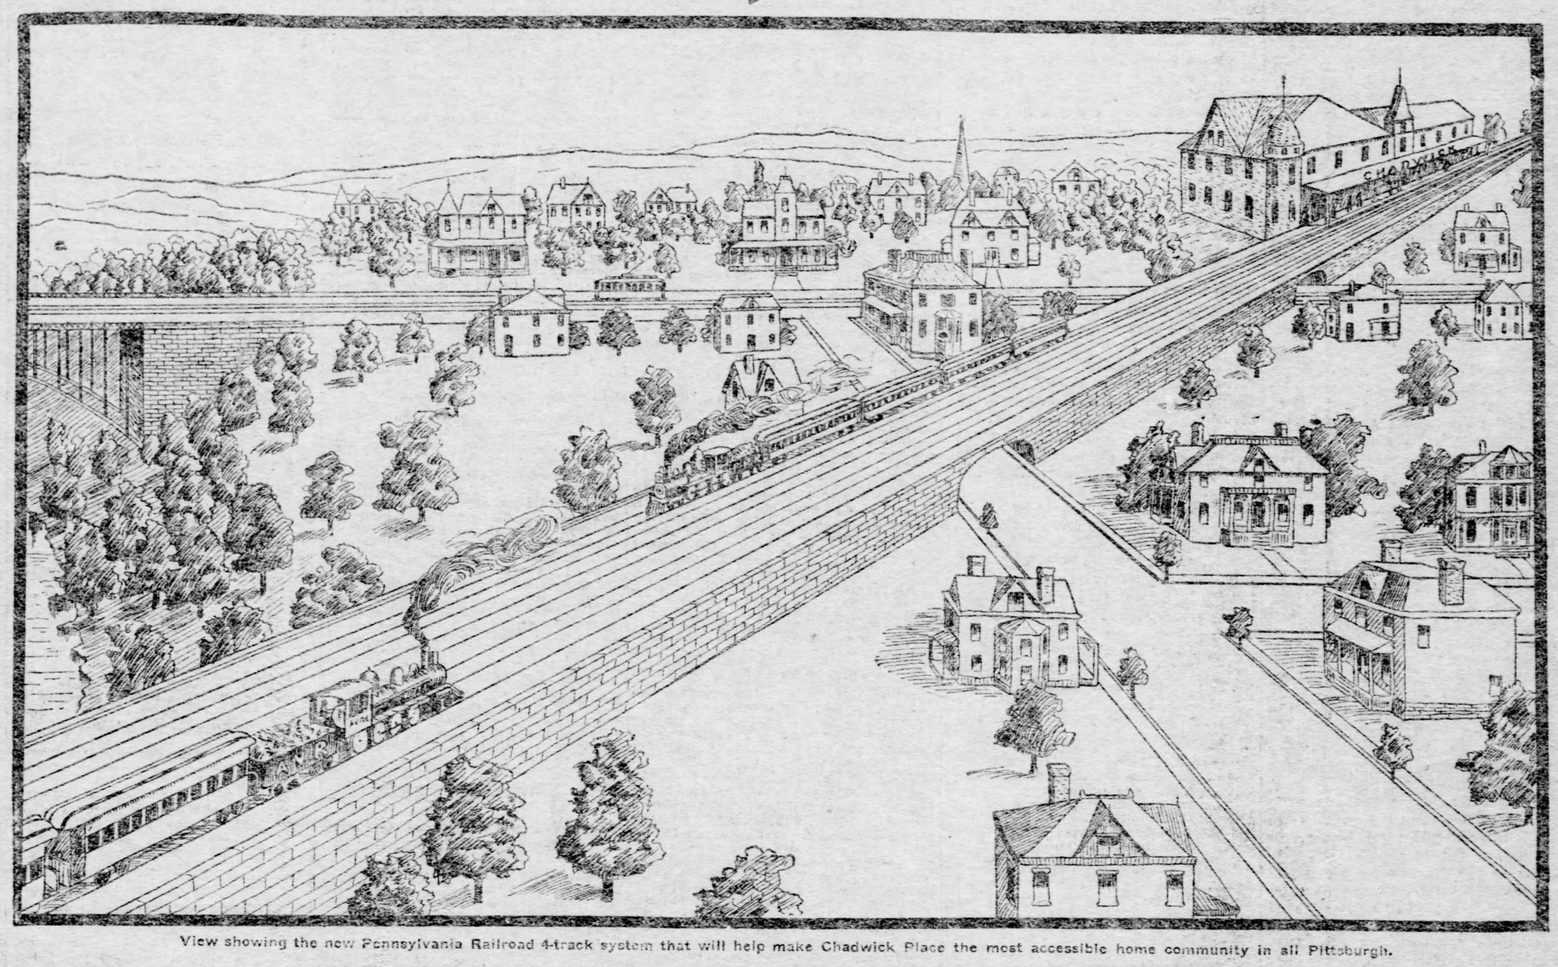
Why is this true? Why has such stirring building operations started on this property before the promoters have had time to organize a sale? Why are nearly a hundred magnificent, colonial-style residences going up all over the plan ahead of the day scheduled for putting the property on the market? How do so many people hear about a thing before it happens? They don't. Only a few do, but those who do, buy! That's the secret! The quality and location of Chadwick Place is an argument that makes folks open their pocketbooks.

Property in towns built up by the founding of gigantic industries appeals to men because they know that wherever employment is established population is sure to come. But here is a property, refined, picturesque, level, commanding a view of Highland Park and Herron Hill, on the choice part of Lincoln Avenue, in the 21st ward, sharing all the city conveniences, but a stone's throw from Silver Lake, nestled in the heart of valuable frontage selling for five times the money, that you can buy by paying $15 to $50 down and hold with a monthly outlay not exceeding $5 to $12.

Ponder awhile on this! Remember where the property is! Bear in mind the building restrictions! Take into consideration who your neighbors are. That improvements which they make will keep your property bounding up in value even if you yourself do not turn a hand.

The city is built up solidly with fine homes for three-quarters of a mile beyond this plan, and frontage farther out, not equal to Chadwick Place, has sold at $35 to $40 a foot, while Lincoln Avenue frontage verging on the plan, on the very corner of the property, brought in a cash deal recently $80 a foot. In less than a year nearly 400 modern homes have been erected in this locality and the increase in inhabitants has reached 5,000.

No other community on earth can begin to show such an increase either in population or property values—all due to the fact that Chadwick Place and neighboring realty is advanced by the natural, tremendous, expanding wealth of Greater Pittsburgh, as well as to the fact that it lies in the very choicest spot of Greater Pittsburgh, where vast railroad and traction improvements are being pushed to completion for the purpose of opening up miles and miles of rich residential land extending to the Allegheny River.



View showing the new Pennsylvania Railroad 4-track system that will help make Chadwick Place the most accessible home community in all Pittsburgh.

WILL COST MILLIONS OF DOLLARS.

More than $400,000 has been expended already in buying the right of way for railroad. The expenditure will be $10,000,000 before the work is completed. The massive bridge to span Silver Lake will alone cause an immense expenditure, and the passenger station to be erected for the convenience of families living in Chadwick Place and neighboring properties will possibly be the finest ever put up in a residential district.

The new railroad will open up a district which will extend beyond Chadwick Place, and in making Chadwick Place the practical entrance to all this rich territory cannot other than prove a mighty factor in pushing up the value of every lot in the plan.

An old residenter in summing up the future said: "I have watched the matchless march of progress in this district for thirty-five years. I remember Silver Lake when everybody out here used to call it Findlay's Pond. I have seen real estate which you could have bought at one time for $90,000 built up and increased in value until the actual assessment on it today is $11,000,000. This one piece of property has made nearly 200 men wealthy and more than 500 others well-to-do. I can see, however, that all the past accumulation of wealth made from property out this way will be as nothing compared with what the same or adjoining real estate will earn in the future. There was not the spirit of industrial expansion years ago that there is today! The United States was not the master-captain of the world's commerce then like it is now! Pittsburgh was not leading all other cities then in great business operations as it is today! The investor of today can't help making his fortune if he 'can see right.' The future is plainly visible. We have arrived at the money age—the fast age—an age that never existed before."

If you have been following the railroad news in the newspapers no doubt you are cognizant of the fact that many of the passenger trains on the Allegheny Valley System will cease running through Lawrenceville after the completion of the new line described above, which will leave the Pennsylvania Main Line at Fifth Avenue Station, better known to old Pittsburghers as Point Breeze, and tap the old Allegheny Valley Line at Brilliant.

CHADWICK PLACE PROPERTY AS AN INVESTMENT!

The lowest-priced desirable lots in the surrounding districts are bringing $1,200 to $1,500. $80 to $120 a foot for corner realty has been asked with more than a few transactions closed. Neighboring property (on the market at $1,800 to $2,400 a lot) is not in the cream location in which you find Chadwick Place, nor did it sell at any higher figures than Chadwick Place when it was opened. The immense amount of building following its sale sent it up in value, just as the even more marvelous building activity will make Chadwick Place property mount higher and higher in value. The truth is Chadwick Place property will be offered in this great sale at prices 33 per cent beneath its natural market value. The Company's Board of Directors have twice considered the question of raising present prices, but the men who are in control want to make a quick turn. For this reason there will be no advance made by the company until after the sale, or until the Lincoln Bridge has been finished. This decision was made chiefly to give the tremendous building boom now on an even more powerful impetus.

The experience of investors is that they can rent or sell a house in Chadwick Place before the plaster is dry. Many houses now in a half-finished condition have been sold or leased. Heads of good families are visiting the plan daily watching for the first opportunity that may open. This is not a piece of unwarranted real estate enthusiasm, but a fact that you can verify by talking to the families who live in this locality.

Not less than 100 handsome residences will be built on the plan during the summer and early autumn. The style of these houses will vary—there will be no sameness. A pleasing contrast in design that adds to a property's quality will be maintained. If you consider only the building operations carried on up to this date, you will learn that Chadwick Place has been improved in the short period of six months more than any other Pittsburgh property was ever improved in two years.

THE STREETS OF CHADWICK PLACE:

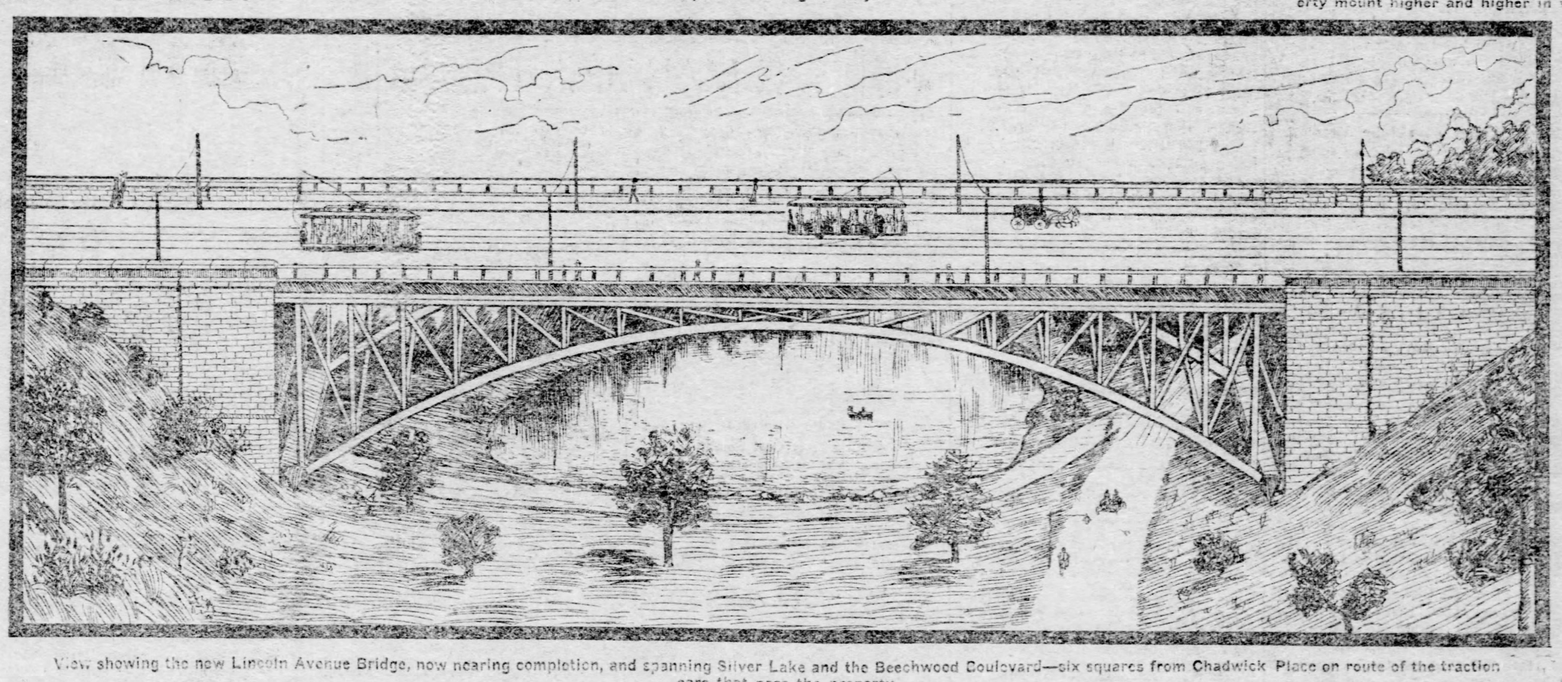
The first thing that will impress you when you visit Chadwick Place is the way the streets are laid out, and the diversity of architectural beauty revealed by the handsome residences planted here and there all over the plan.

The fine pillared porch reception-hall houses on Lemington Avenue, built of German mottled brick, vitrified buff brick, and red wire-cut repressed brick (complete sewerage, water, electric lights and both gases) are without a doubt the finest houses that any investor ever bought at $4,000. Men who own these houses wouldn't begin to part with them today for the amount paid, and it's a question whether any of the lots in this section of the plan will remain unsold after the early hours of next Saturday's Big Sale.

The lots on Lemington Avenue, Somerset Street, Oberlin, West Moreland and Gladefield Streets will be picked first principally on account of the remarkably fine views they command. You can stand anywhere on Somerset Street and see for miles in all directions. The reservoirs and driveways in Highland Park lying to the northwest can be seen distinctly, and Westinghouse Park, where $200 to $400 a foot is being asked for property, is directly south.

The grades on Lemington Avenue, Somerset Street, Gladefield Street and Grotto Street have been established, and the property has good walks, and are street lights, with traction cars within one to five minutes' walk of every lot.

Lincoln Avenue is the western boundary, and Brushton Avenue the eastern. Belmar is on the south and Arlington Place and Lincoln Park on the north, distinguishing Chadwick Place as the very cream and geographical center of all the picturesque and level highlands lying between Lincoln and Frankstown Avenues.



View showing the new Lincoln Avenue Bridge, now nearing completion, and spanning Silver Lake and the Beechwood Boulevard—six squares from Chadwick Place on route of the traction cars that pass the property.

Perfectly level lots commanding magnificent views, situated near the car line and railroad stations, will go in this first great sale at

$150 - $190 - $200
$250 - $260 - $275
$300 - $325 - $350
$375 - $400 - $425
$450 - and - $500

There will be no lots offered at this sale at a higher price than $500, and there will be plenty of lots at all of the above prices for investors who are on the grounds early.

The terms are

10 Per Cent Down;
Balance $5 to $12 a Month.
10 Per Cent Discount for Cash.

The title is perfect, having been examined and guaranteed by the Fidelity Title & Trust Company of Pittsburgh.

Remember that the prices and terms are exactly as stated. We do not resort to the practice of advertising lower prices than we have, nor quoting easier prices on only a few lots. Attractive prices are on all the lots. How long figures so marvelously beneath regular market value will remain on these lots we are unable to promise, except that the figures will not be changed during the progress of the present remarkable sale.

After the sale the Board of Directors will meet to consider the advisability of advancing prices to reach the figures speculators are asking, but there is a sentiment in the company against this; the belief being that present prices are responsible for the tremendous building activity. Yet with such an unprecedented demand for both lots and houses, and with adjoining property selling at twice and three times the figures, nothing on earth will be able to hold Chadwick Place prices for many weeks where they are today.

Read These Directions Before Starting For Chadwick Place:

You can take traction cars at the corner of Wood street and Fifth avenue and get to the property in 22 minutes. The cars marked "Lincoln and Liberty Avenues" and cars bearing signs reading "East Liberty via Center Avenue" run direct to the plan without transfer. If you take cars marked "Penn Avenue via Frankstown" you can transfer at Lincoln avenue. Wilkinsburg people can also transfer at this point.

When the great Lincoln Avenue Bridge over Silver Lake and the Boulevard is finished the roadbed to and through Chadwick Place Plan of Lots will be double-tracked for a mile beyond the property, the same as it is now almost to the property. You will see the hand of progress pushing everything out this direction. $2,000,000 will be expended on improvements in less than four months.

Until the grand new Lincoln Avenue Bridge is finished passengers on the car line will have to transfer at bridge to cars in waiting at other end. The bridge is rapidly being pushed to completion; the American Bridge Company will have the structural steel work ready for erection as soon as the abutments are up.

King Edward's Illness.

An abrupt end was put to the rumormongering about the health of King Edward of England by the official announcement yesterday that he had been operated upon for a malady closely akin to appendicitis. The news was a shock to the civilized world, especially as it closely followed semi-official assurance that King Edward was in good health. The operation is simple enough, from a surgical point of view, and very common in this country. It is serious, however, in the case of a man at the age of King Edward and one who has not led an abstemious, athletic life.

Latest bulletins give every encouragement to expect ultimate recovery of the royal patient, though it cannot be predicted certainly for two or three days. The surgeons are satisfied with conditions at the moment, and the good wishes of millions throughout the world are joined with the prayers of England for a happy outcome.

Meantime the coronation ceremonies are postponed indefinitely. It is not possible, under any circumstances, that King Edward can undergo the fatigue of a coronation within a month. London is disappointed as well as grieved. For many it means financial ruin, for others hardship. All of this leads to the reflection that the pomp and splendor thrown about such events are mere waste. Edward is none the less a king, lying helpless, with his life in doubt, than if he had passed through the coronation ceremonies before his malady overtook him. The fulfillment of the program could have added nothing to his reign but a brief glitter of tinsel, so that if he recovers, as all hope he may, the real coronation will likely be planned on a far less elaborate scale.

The United States in particular will know how to sympathize with Great Britain in the hours of uncertainty and suspense. It is such a short time since the beloved president of this nation, stricken down by the assassin's bullet, hovered between life and death at Buffalo. A whole people hung upon the bulletins from the bedside, wavered between hope and fear until the dread message came; and this same people will understand how their British cousins are undergoing a very similar experience at present. Edward is their king, and a well-loved one.

Patriotism Versus Hoodlumism.

Orders governing the use of explosives on the Fourth of July have been issued to the police officers of the city, and it is to be hoped they will be effective. It is one thing to issue an order and a much different thing to enforce it, but if the proper earnestness is manifested by the police there will be a decided diminution of the noisy hoodlumism that has hitherto characterized the national holiday.

There is no disposition to interfere with juvenile enjoyment of the Fourth, for the boy should be allowed his small crackers, torpedoes and other comparatively harmless devices which he considers necessary for a proper display of patriotism. There is serious and widespread objection, however, to the nerve-racking and ear-splitting din in which many of more mature years delight, regardless of the desires and feelings of the public. The firing of pistols and cannon crackers along the thoroughfares and in close proximity to dwellings is not only injurious to the sick and persons of weak constitution, but is also productive of accidents in the wounding of passers-by and the frightening of horses. The placing of explosives on street car tracks is another practice fraught with danger, making passengers liable to serious injury. With these methods of celebration suppressed life will be much more enjoyable on the holiday and the chances of casualties will be decidedly minimized.

Patriotism does not find true expression in an infernal racket, as a noisy few imagine, but in rational enthusiasm, lofty sentiment, exalting music, the display of the national emblem, and, of course, the properly regulated use of fireworks. Let the line be drawn between patriotism and hoodlumism.

Ready for the Convention.

No change was wrought in the situation at Erie by the boom working of the day preceding the convention. The friends of George W. Guthrie of this city made a gallant fight for him that, under other conditions, might have won him the coveted honor, but when night fell few among them had any hope of victory. The delegates were for ex-Gov. Pattison and Col. Guffey was for ex-Gov. Pattison, regardless of the fact that Mr. Guthrie might be a stronger candidate before the whole people.

While the nomination for governor has thus been a certainty from the first, there is no more known about the other nominations than was known on Monday. That is because the friends of Col. Guffey and ex-Gov. Pattison want to nominate Mr. Guthrie for lieutenant governor and he has not consented. The convention is apparently unanimously in favor of his nomination for second place if he will consent, and no other candidate can make any headway until that is settled.

It is not as though there was a reasonable chance for the election of the ticket. Then there might be a fierce scramble. Empty honors may be handed around more punctiliously than real prizes. The nomination of Judge Pennypacker at Harrisburg took the hope away from the Democracy and left it to gather at Erie as a party beaten in advance of its nominations.

A Poisoner's Confession.

As Jane Toppan was adjudged insane shortly after she had been placed on trial for the murder of a woman she had been nursing, it will be hard to determine how much truth there is in her confession that she killed thirty-one persons by administering poison. There is no doubt, however, she took advantage of her position as nurse to kill many who were at her mercy, and could an investigation be made it is probable the number of her victims would reach the total to which she has confessed.

A surprising feature of this case is that the woman was not suspected and arrested much earlier in her career as a poisoner, but it appears she possessed all the cunning for which persons afflicted with certain forms of insanity are noted, and by some means managed to avert suspicion and cover up traces of her terrible deeds. Considering this phase of the affair, it is fortunate that she was eventually detected, for otherwise there would have been many more victims of her insane desire to kill.

Petroleum in Wyoming.

A discovery of oil has been made in the Norwood river region in Wyoming, south of the Big Horn basin. Detailed information is not accessible, but reports indicate less heroic output than at Beaumont and probably a better quality of product, something similar to the Kansas field. None of the western or southern oil fields enter into direct competition with the Appalachian, the product of which is known as Pennsylvania oil. The petroleum of the east is especially adapted to the manufacture of illuminant oils and valuable by-products; those of the west are distinctively liquid fuels. California, Texas, Kansas and Nebraska assure a tolerably constant price for fuel oil, and their development will naturally be accompanied by general introduction of liquid fuel in those regions remote from the coal fields. But here in Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia are to be found the highest grades of rock oil and the finest beds of coal in the world. This is the center; the other districts are the outlying region of moderate facilities.

Seats Which Should be Vacated.

Judge Crumpacker of Iowa, who introduced a resolution into congress calling for information concerning the disfranchisement of voters where there has been such disfranchisement by the states of the American union, has written an article in Leslie's Monthly on the subject. This topic has been discussed in these columns several times, and the Crumpacker resolution has been made the theme of much severe criticism in states that have adopted constitutions and enacted laws reducing the electorate.

The United States constitution empowers congress to deal with the subject, requiring a reduction in representation in accordance with the reduction in the number of voters, but it seems to be impossible to get anything of the sort done. Even the collating of information on the subject, to be laid before congress, is bitterly opposed. The reasonableness of the constitutional requirement and the national interest that ought to be felt in the subject should be apparent from Judge Crumpacker's statement that more than thirty representatives in congress are accorded to the southern states on account of the negro population, and that in most of those states this population is practically deprived of the voting privilege.

Gone Far Afield for Trouble.

Prof. Goldwin Smith is a Canadian gentleman somewhat noted for his ability to borrow trouble from three continents. Mr. Smith is a scholar, and it is not intended to insinuate he is not a gentleman. His only failing is his going far afield to find causes that might, under conceivable circumstances, bring nations to war, or overturn established governments. His latest effort in this line appears in the London Daily News in the form of a serious inquiry whether, under the Monroe doctrine, the United States could permit any European monarchy to conquer Canada from Great Britain.

Some part of this question was stated years ago by John W. Foster, but he could not take anything as seriously as Prof. Smith habitually takes everything that happens to attract his attention. The answer to the question might be yes or no, according to circumstances, but the Toronto professor cannot see it in that way. The principle of the Monroe doctrine is simply that any foreign attack upon republicanism in the western hemisphere is an attack upon the United States. Canada is not a republic. Its conquest from Great Britain would not be an extension of monarchical territory, or an extension of the monarchical principle.

The crucial test would come when Canada, being in danger of being bartered away as a war indemnity, would declare itself an independent state. It is that now in nearly everything but name. If Canada did that there would be no question of the operation of the Monroe doctrine. Canada would hardly overlook the opportunity if it came to a desperate pass. But the contained possibilities are so remote that Prof. Goldwin Smith might find some more useful occupation—the cheering of mankind, for example—than going out of his way to make an analysis of American government policy in barely conceivable situations. Or if the gentleman must tamper with international mischief-making, the pelagic sealing question is much nearer home.

The Output of Honorary Degrees.

In these commencement days, when the close of the college year is marked by the distribution of honorary degrees, it is interesting to note that one Illinois minister has actually spurned the offer of the degree of doctor of divinity. This remarkable man is the Rev. John Thompson, pastor of the Centennial Methodist Episcopal church of Rockford. Taylor university had him on its list, and tried to make a D. D. of him, but the clergyman declares that he has no use for that distinction. "In my judgment," said the pastor, "the degree of D. D. should be reserved for men who have displayed extraordinary scholarly attainments or have accomplished great things in their work."

If this rule were in universal application the number of doctors of divinity would be much smaller. It may be doubted, too, whether it would be wise to restrict the bestowal of this ecclesiastical degree in this way. Analogy would suggest that men who have accomplished certain work in the study of theology receive the doctor's degree, just as men who are graduated from colleges of medicine receive the degree of M. D. "Doctor" is a convenient handle to a clergyman's name, for if you cannot use this, you must call him "Mister," which is not distinctive enough, because "Reverend," while it is quite permissible as a written designation, cannot well be used in verbal address.

New Life in South Africa.

In connection with the development of South Africa, which is certain to be wonderful, now the war is over, John Hays Hammond writes in the Engineering Magazine concerning the gold resources of the Witwatersrand. Mr. Hammond is thoroughly familiar with his subject, and while he anticipates exhaustion of the Rand deposits in less than twenty-five years, he estimates the gross output at upward of $2,000,000,000 in gold. That is enough to give wonderful impetus to the general development of the country. Other deposits are known to exist, of less richness than those of the Rand, and it is not impossible that some of equal richness may be found.

Mr. Hammond, however, does not treat of the wider range of activity that must be realized in South Africa. Gold mining and diamond mining, at best, are only specialties. Agriculture and industry aside from mining for precious stones, or metals, must find their places in the vast region between the cape and the Tropic of Capricorn. It is in these that America will find a markets for millions of dollars worth of machinery. Neither Boer nor Briton had gone beyond pastoral pursuits prior to the war, but the baptism of blood will produce a new order of things. South Africa has entered upon a new life that will necessarily be encouraged by a more progressive form of government. The Rand gold will afford a foundation, but the superstructure will be of diversified industry.

Was Worth the Wetting.

Samuel Silverberg, a young tailor, sat on the bulk head at the foot of Orleans street last night whispering things into the fair ear of Bertie Reisopfel, whom he has long admired. Bertie has thought well of Samuel, but he didn't know that because he was so bashful. Just as he found himself getting strangely brave last night an unromantic tug captain poked the nose of his boat into the bulkhead with some violence. Samuel and Bertie had their backs to the river. Their heels rose in the air and their heads went down. Two screams rose as one. There was also a considerable splash, a speedy convocation of longshoremen and wharf rats ensued, and the two were pulled out of the river almost immediately. Both were unconscious.

An ambulance surgeon worked over them for some time, and then decided that they must go to the hospital. The young woman came to her senses before the ambulance left. Her first words were:

"We're engaged."

New York's Interest in the News from the King

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, June 24.

Next to London, it is doubtful if there was a city in the world wherein the announcement of King Edward's serious illness created a greater stir than New York. The first newspaper bulletins hinted that the king hardly could recover, and one of the evening papers had the words "He May Die" in poster type that could be read a block away. Afterward came more specific news, and then people settled themselves down to discussing the probable outcome. Perhaps it is because New York, being on the seaboard, seems to be so near to the British capital that the people here take such a vivid interest in everything going on in London. Whatever the cause, it is certain that little else was talked about all day but the condition of King Edward and the postponement of the coronation. Down in Wall street the news created only a slight flurry. First came the bulletin that the king had appendicitis, followed soon afterward by the report of an operation. Stocks went down a little, but soon recovered when the further news came that the royal patient had rallied from the effects of the knife and was throwing off the anaesthetic satisfactorily. Wall street had discounted the possibility of Edward's critical illness, because there have been sinister rumors for several days, and it is the opinion of good authorities in the financial district that even his death would not disturb values seriously. Aside from these commercial calculations—necessarily cold blooded—there was the sentiment of sympathy apparent everywhere. Tonight, when contradictory reports came thick and fast, the crowds around the newspaper offices were enormous, while in the hotels and cafes the only topic was King Edward's condition. The only parallel of tonight's excitement seen in this city of late was that in the few days when President McKinley lay between life and death in Buffalo. Of course there was not tonight the sense of personal affliction felt while President McKinley was fighting for his life; but the sympathy and sorrow for the people just across the ocean whose waves lap the shore a few miles from Broadway, was very real as well as genuine.

Sage Shows Sympathy.

Russell Sage was interviewed this afternoon as to the probable effect on this country if King Edward should die. Uncle Russell, having just recovered from an unpleasant indisposition himself, could be expected to speak feelingly, and he did. He said: "The United States would deplore and regret the death of King Edward, because our relations with England are so interwoven, both as to blood and treasure, that anything that disturbs the equilibrium of society there would affect us here. The effect upon financial matters here would be only temporary; but, as I have stated, it would be felt at once because of our close relations."

A Female Crank After Sage.

Russell Sage gave an old woman a quarter the other day. His recompense was a disturbance at his office today. The woman came there, called him a miser at the top of her voice outside his office door, and wanted to get in to give it to him face to face. Uncle Russell has had painful experiences with cranks before, however, and the loud-voiced lady walked away in company with an impassive but exceedingly muscular policeman, while Mr. Sage sent out word to the officer not to hurt the poor creature.

Inspected Elevators Not Always Safe.

Elevator accidents continue to worry New Yorkers. Yesterday an elevator in a family hotel of prominence went down and seriously injured the wife of Col. Savage, the author. Today a freight elevator in a clubhouse in the unfortunate Park avenue fell with a crash and injured two men. All these elevators, like that in the big department store which dropped five stories and injured a lot of shoppers, were duly "inspected" shortly before they dropped. It is noticed that many persons, particularly women, in public buildings, are walking up stairs nowadays, instead of venturing into elevators.

Perpetuating a Puddle.

The old buttonwood tree which stands in City Hall park opposite the basement entrance to city hall, on the west side of the building, is to come down. It may be 175 years old, as old-timers say, but modern improvements have no respect for age. Many persons that have been in the habit of walking from Park row to Broadway around the back of the hall know the old tree principally because it harbors a pool of water on wet days. It is this way: The tree stands about three feet from the corner of the park railings. A short cut is to pass between the tree and the railings. The walking of many thousands of persons through this narrow space has worn away the ground and a pool of water several inches deep gathers there on wet days. To get through this space without going over your shoe tops in water is a feat that you are sure to attempt, if business takes you that way. Now it is proposed to leave a stump of the old buttonwood tree remain as a memorial. That means that the puddle will remain.

Teachers Get Diplomas.

Commencement exercises continue to take place every night in this city. Every educational establishment you can think of has its gathering for the bestowing of diplomas, with speeches, essays and all the rest of it, and there is free entertainment for everybody that enjoys that kind of thing. This evening, the commencement of the New York Training School for Teachers occurred in the hall of the board of education. President C. C. Burlingham made the address and handed the scrolls to the fortunate ones.

Park Concerts.

Regular summer concerts are given in the parks on stated evenings. This means more than might be thought at first sight. There are dozens of parks in different parts of the city, some of them small and others large; but each one has its band concert on certain evenings. Tonight it was Tompkins square and Mount Morris park that had the special programs of music which bring delight to the souls of the denizens, and at each of the parks there was a crowd that reached far out into the roadway surroundings. There is some compensation for remaining in New York city in the hot weather.

New Pupils Must be Registered.

Principals of public schools in New York soon will be instructed formally by the city superintendent to post on the walls of their school buildings printed placards to be furnished by the board, announcing that the buildings will be open for registration of new pupils on September 3, 4 and 5, or the Wednesday, Thursday and Friday prior to the opening of school, on Monday, September 8.

This opening of the schools for registration prior to the first regular session is in accordance with a new rule adopted this year. Its object is to avoid wasting the first two or three days of school in taking care of the crowds of applicants which besiege the buildings, and to enable principals to distribute supplies and have all in readiness for the beginning of actual work on Monday morning.

Widening the Fourth Holiday.

The governing committee of the New stock exchange will consider tomorrow a request to close the exchange on Saturday, July 5. It is expected that other exchanges will close on that day, thus making a holiday from Thursday to Monday.

Well-Known Soloists With Duss' Band.

Miss Sybil Sammis, a mezzo-soprano favorably known throughout the country and somewhat of a favorite in Pittsburgh, has signed with P. E. Johnston to sing at the concerts of John Duss, with his band, at St. Nicholas garden. She will sing her first solo on Sunday next. Duss has established himself as a prime favorite in this city, and his entertainments are better patronized than are any of the roof gardens. St. Nicholas garden is the rendezvous of many hundreds of young men every evening, to say nothing of casual visitors in the shape of young couples to whom the world is music so long as they are together.

Hugh Grant Not in Politics.

Hugh J. Grant, who at one time was mayor of New York, when that city meant only Manhattan, will sail for Europe tomorrow on the Oceanic. He will be accompanied by his family and will remain away until October. Mr. Grant has not been abroad since 1895. His departure makes it certain that the story he intends to take an active part in politics again is not true. This fact was pointed out by him today when he was questioned, and he added: "I will not become the leader of Tammany hall, or be one of two or three or four leaders in that organization. If I were inclined to take a greater interest in politics than I have taken in recent years, my business affairs would not permit me to do it. I have been hard at work, and having run down in health, I purpose to take a rest." The same old thing, you see. The identical assertion made by every political possibility when too hard pressed with questions.

London News Stops Social Gaities.

Many public functions will be interfered with by the illness of King Edward, in New York as well as in London. For instance, the banquet and reception which was to have been held on Thursday by the Sons of St. George and the St. George Wheelmen at Fort George hotel, in commemoration of the coronation, has been postponed indefinitely.

Aldermen Deal With Car Question.

The "car ahead" ordinance passed by the board of aldermen two or three weeks ago was found to be ineffective because worded ambiguously. The board put its collective wisdom to work again today and revised it. The new reading of the ordinance provides that a sign giving the destination shall be placed on each car before it starts, and that the sign must not be changed on the way. It has long been a grievance on some of the trunk lines of the street railway company here that the passengers were compelled to leave the car about half way to the destination and directed to "take the car ahead." The board of aldermen thinks it fixed things today so that a tired passenger may go to sleep at the beginning of a trip and sleep to the end of it without any danger of being disturbed.

Putting the Screws Upon Chauffeurs.

Fast-moving automobiles are a troublesome issue in the courts here, but from the action of Magistrate Mott today it is evident that some regulation of speed is imminent. Mr. Mott, who is known as a somewhat irascible man, held for trial at court in $800 bail the chauffeur of Mrs. Collis Huntington for driving too fast last night. Mrs. Huntington offered her $2,000,000 house in Fifth avenue as security for the prisoner last night and he was allowed to take her home in her auto. This tremendous security did not impress Magistrate Mott, however, and he held the chauffeur for trial with a smile that suggested extreme enjoyment.

Mistook Sparrows for Frogs.

One of the morning papers published a story today that a shower of live frogs had fallen in the wide space at Columbus avenue and Sixty-first streets in front of the Hotel Empire. The paper was particular to say that the frogs were alive and uncooked. A cabman who had been standing at the spot about the time the frogs were supposed to have fallen gave this explanation today, and probably the correct one. He said: "When the wind blows at all, or it rains, young English sparrows are always dropping out of the dozen or more nests about here. I suppose the man that gave out that yarn could not tell the difference between a sparrow and a frog."

A Printing Office Runs Away.

Paterson is determined to rid itself of anarchists, and a lot of them were compelled today to get out of the city. The sudden activity of the authorities against the "reds" had more than one good effect. It frightened the publishers of the inflammatory publication, La Question Sociale" and today the whole printing outfit—type, presses, counting room, desks, printers and editors—took flight. The rooms where the paper had been published were found to be stripped bare. As nearly as the police could discover the establishment has left Paterson. It is believed that the printing outfit has been moved to New York.

THE MAN UP A TREE

From a High Viewpoint.

ARKIS PATTISON is willing, as usual.

The coronation was so near and yet so far!

Bad Boy Bryan still throws bricks into the Democratic harmony concert.

Disappointment is thicker than the fog in London.

There is so much prosperity in Kansas that a lot of new banks are needed to take care of the money. Calamity howlers are out of a job in the Sunflower state.

British joy has been turned into deepest gloom.

How They Met.

"Tom Homewood and Mabel Linden are going to be married," remarked Mrs. Hammersmith to her husband.

"I didn't know they were acquainted with each other," commented Mr. Hammersmith.

"Well, their acquaintance has been a very short one, but they fell in love with each other very promptly. It appears that he rose to give her a seat in a crowded trolley car. Just then the car lurched and both went to the floor in a heap. That trivial incident decided their fate."

"So that's the way they were thrown together, eh!" added Mr. Hammersmith, by way of dismissing the subject.

Meteorological Note.

A funnel shaped cyclone is forming in the northwestern end of the state. It is moving with great velocity and the city of Erie lies directly in its path. Rooms will no doubt be uprooted if they do not seek shelter in cyclone cellars.

Expensive Pests.

Mr. Braddock—I see it stated that insects destroy vegetable productions to the value of something like $300,000,000 a year in the United States.

Mr. Brinton—Bugs come high, and there is no especial reason why we should have them, either.

He Obtained a Seat.

A man with a satchel obtained a seat in a car at Fifth and Market during the crush hour the other evening in a smart way.

He was on the outskirts of the crowd that surged at the rear door, and he saw that there was no hope of getting a seat by the ordinary method. But he dodged around to the side and dropped his satchel through an open window upon the seat below. When he at length got into the car his satchel was holding his seat for him.

But it is not every trolley car crowd that would recognize this kind of a seat reservation.

The Breeze is authority for the statement that a northeast man who chewed 20 cents' worth of tobacco a week, took a "cure." In two weeks he ate up $1 50 worth of the cure and for the next two weeks he used 10 cents' worth of candy, 5 cents' worth of peanuts and 5 cents' worth of cough drops per day. During these two weeks he also consumed two large erasers, ate rubber tips from fourteen lead pencils, chewed up a dozen penholders and browsed off his mustache as high as he could reach. He is now chewing tobacco in the interest of economy.—Greenville News.

One on Dalzell.

From the New York World.

Representative Dalzell was sitting gloomily in a corner of the ways and means committee room.

"What's the matter, John?" asked Representative McClellan. "You look as though you were in much distress."

"I am," replied Dalzell. "I have got to make a speech on this Philippine civil government bill and I am as nervous as a cat. I always have stage fright before I make a speech."

"And that reminds me," he continued. "Years ago President McKinley and I were waiting at a hotel to be driven to a hall where we were both announced to speak. Mr. McKinley sat calmly smoking his cigar, while I was pacing up and down, just as I am now.

"'Major,' I said, 'don't you ever get nervous before speaking? You are as cool as a cucumber, and I'm as nervous as the valedictorian of a young ladies' seminary.'

"'My dear Dalzell,' he replied, 'the difference between us is this: You have got your speech in your head and I've got mine in my pocket.'"

Durbin in 1900, is in Pittsburgh. When Harrison was a candidate for the United States senate Mr. Griffiths was a member of the legislature and made the speech nominating Gen. Harrison. Mr. Griffiths is interested in the Indiana gas field and is a company supplying Indianapolis with natural gas. He is in Pittsburgh for the purpose of purchasing 3,000 meters, it being the purpose of the company to supply their customers hereafter by meter. Mr. Griffiths says that Indiana is no longer a doubtful state. This condition was brought about by a large number of Democrats leaving the party when the silver question was brought to the front, and the new Republicans, with the old Republicans, are in perfect accord in the fall election, which will give the party a majority of 25,000 at least.

BRILLIANT CLOSE OF PHILIPPINE DEBATE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—Two notable speeches marked the closing of the general debate on the Philippine civil government bill today. They were made by Mr. Landis, an Indiana Republican, and by Mr. Williams, a Mississippi Democrat. There were big demonstrations after each had concluded. Mr. Crumpacker of Indiana closed the general debate for the bill with a strong speech.

Mr. Landis declared that Mr. Clark of Missouri had boasted that the Democrats had dragged the Republicans into the Spanish war by the scruff of the neck.

"That's what we did," shouted Mr. Clark.

"And then, when the war came, with its problems, consequences and responsibilities," flashed Mr. Landis, "you turned your back and ran away."

A three-hour burst of applause greeted this reply. For fully a minute it continued unchecked by the presiding officer.

"There is not a word of truth in that statement," retorted Mr. Clark, when the applause died away.

"And that is not all," returned Mr. Landis. "They not only turned their backs and ran away, but they are running yet." (Renewed Republican applause.)

"That statement is not true, either," cried Mr. Clark.

GAS FROM MT. PELEE NOT INFLAMMABLE

When Mixed With the Proper Amount of Oxygen It Becomes So, Says Lieut. Clayton.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—Surgeon General Forwood has received a report from Lieut. Jere B. Clayton, assistant surgeon, concerning the distribution of medical supplies to the people of the West Indies suffering from the effects of the recent volcanic eruptions.

Lieut. Clayton says that, as near as could be ascertained, the cause of death was the explosion of an inflammable gas which was emitted by the mountain. The most plausible explanation of the conditions found, he says, was given by Lieut. John J. Reilly, a member of the expedition, who suggested that the gas as emitted by the mountain was not inflammable until mixed with a certain quantity of oxygen, and that mixture was reached at the time the gas arrived at St. Pierre.

It was firmly asserted by all the survivors that every one in St. Pierre was dead within three minutes after the explosion.

The medical men say that the cause of death at St. Vincent seems to have been sulphur dioxide, or a similar gas, emitted by Soufriere. A few persons were injured or killed by falling rocks. Burns were found on the posterior surface of the exposed parts of the body, indicating that every one was running away from the mountain.

Might Prove a Boomerang.

From the New York Sun.

A Chicago judge has introduced ping-pong into his jury room. A member of a Toledo petit jury has written to the county commissioners a letter in which he asks that the game be domesticated in Toledo jury rooms. No doubt a wealth of argument, physiological, psychological and moral could be given in favor of the application of this gentle diversion to juries. Its effect upon the juror's mind would be tranquilizing. Most men hate to serve on a jury, but they are glad to serve at ping-pong. Some jurors worry about their business and turn but a distracted attention to the cases before them.

Ping-pong is a worry cure, a banisher of tedium, a mild excitement, a persuader of the lazy to exercise, a diver stirrer, an inviter to laughter. It would be a helper of justice. It would raise the standard of jurymen. It would soften the pig-headed and brighten the dull-witted. There is only one reasonable objection to its use in jury rooms. Sweeten the talents of a juryman with ping-pong and wouldn't he be as eager for jury duty as now he is to escape it? Wouldn't a race of professional jurymen and ping-pongers spring up? would it be advisable to "lock up" a jury in a room with a ping-pong layout? Wouldn't those jurors stay there until they were driven out and keep plaintiff and defendant perpetually at deuce?

The Bagpipe Analyzed.

From the Manchester Weekly Times.

The sound of the bagpipe has just been analyzed. The analysis panned out as follows: Chants of the cricket, 2 per cent; steam whistles, 3 per cent; grunting of hungry pigs in the morning, 5½ per cent; voices of infant puppies, 4 per cent; cats on the midnight fence, 11½ per cent; big flies on window, 72 per cent. I refuse to deliver up the name of the analyst. Suffice it to say he is not a Scotchman.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Funeral of Officer William Palmer.

The funeral of the late William Palmer, turnkey at No. 3 police station, was held yesterday afternoon. A large concourse of people followed the remains to St. Luke's Protestant Episcopal church in Pearl street, where services were held, and then to the grave. Delegations of the Masons and the various orders of which the deceased was a member escorted the remains to the grave, where ceremonies were conducted by the Masons. The floral offerings were elaborate and prominently among them was a large piece in the form of a policeman's shield, bearing the city's seal and the number of the deceased, the contribution of the police at No. 3 station.

Mrs. Sarah J. Burton.

BEAVER, PA., June 24.—(Special.)—Mrs. Sarah J. Burton, widow of William Burton, formerly of Allegheny, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William H. Alexander, of this place, today, aged 70. She was a member of the First Protestant Episcopal church of Allegheny and is survived by three sons and three daughters: William T. of Buffalo, N. Y.; George E. and James Burton of Youngstown, O.; Mrs. Mary Cavitt of Allegheny, Mrs. William H. Alexander of Beaver and Mrs. Margaret Richey of Scio, O.

William H. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, PA., June 24.—(Special.)—William H. Stewart of Claysville died last night from paralysis, aged 64. He was the president of the Claysville Milling Company and a member of an old and prominent family. He is survived by his widow and nine children as follows: Charles of Sistersville, Robert of Homestead, Henry, James, Andrew, Blanche, Letitia, Susan and Mrs. James N. Craig, at home.

Mrs. Susan Seaman.

WASHINGTON, PA., June 24.—(Special.)—Mrs. Susan Seaman, widow of James Seaman, a business man of Washington, died at her home on South Wade avenue this morning, aged 75. Her maiden name was Lopp and she was a native of Brownsville. She is survived by one daughter, Martha, at home.

MURDER TRIAL IS SEQUEL TO FATAL QUARREL

Italian Charged With Killing John Donellan at Hazelwood.

TWO STORIES ARE TOLD

Dead Man's Brothers Say He Was Shot in Cold Blood, While Defendant Says He Was Defending Himself from a Combined Attack.

In criminal court yesterday John Buchino was placed on trial for the murder of John Donellan on May 22. When court adjourned the case was still on trial. Attorney J. Francis Burke is representing the defendant, while District Attorney Haymaker has charge of the commonwealth's case.

It developed during the testimony that the Donellan brothers ran a speakeasy in a stable on their property and that it was near this place that the fight and shooting occurred.

James Donellan, a brother of the murdered man, testified that about 7 o'clock in the evening of the shooting he and the defendant had some trouble which resulted in a fight, during which he gave the defendant a beating. He said the defendant went away but soon returned, and the fight was renewed. He told how his brother separated them and of his taking the defendant across a field toward Second avenue. While crossing the field the defendant drew a revolver and fired the shot which killed his brother. He said that the defendant then ran away and he and another brother pursued and caught him. They held him until the police arrived.

It was during cross-examination that the fact that a speakeasy was on the property of the witness and that the defendant had been there off and on all day buying beer, was brought out.

Lizzie Cuntano testified that she saw the last fight between Donellan and the defendant, and told of the latter being taken across the field by the dead man; of the firing of the shot and the pursuit and capture of Buchino.

The defendant, testifying in his own behalf, said that he fired the shot while lying on the ground. He said that John, Patrick and James Donellan attacked him and beat him. He said: "The man I shot was standing over me and kicking me in the head. I thought he would kill me, so I shot him."

He told of having been at the Donellan brothers' speakeasy. He returned there that evening and was put out. He said he went away and returned later, when he was attacked and beaten.

GOES BACK TO IRELAND

Judge W. G. Hawkins Agrees More Testimony Is Needed in the Flannigan Will Contest.

Judge Hawkins handed down an opinion in the matter of the estate of Michael Flannigan, the former wealthy Lawrenceville blacksmith, whose estate has long been in litigation. The court says that upon examination of the report of E. Z. Smith, who took testimony in Ireland, it is found that his attention was not called to and he had not accordingly taken any testimony touching upon the collaterals of Mary Keely, mother of Michael Flannigan, although it is obvious that this was just as important as the collaterals of Michael Flannigan's father, in which much testimony was taken.

The court says that at the original hearing the testimony was positive that Christopher, uncle of Michael Flannigan on his father's side, had died unmarried, but the testimony in the report of Mr. Smith is not enough to overcome this, although it raises a serious doubt as to its correctness. The court says it agrees that Mr. Smith should return to Ireland and take further testimony.

CRIB NOT WANTED.

Nathaniel G. Macrum Asks an Injunction Against a Government Engineer.

Nathaniel G. Macrum of East Liverpool, O., filed a bill in equity against Capt. William L. Sibert, engineer in charge of local navigation, for an injunction to restrain that officer from building a crib or other structure upon the land of the complainant between the high water of the Monongahela river and second avenue.

Macrum says he purchased one and one-quarter acres of land in 1883 lying between lock No. 1 and the property of the National Tube Company, for $3,500. He declares the government has been endeavoring to obtain possession of the property, but that his title to that portion lying between the harbor line and the high water line was doubted and no agreement was reached.

The plaintiff also says that it is the intention of the engineer to extend a crib an indefinite distance up the river along the harbor line, and that the same will be a permanent nuisance upon his land.

DIVORCE LIST FINISHED.

Judge Elliott Rodgers Heard Four Cases in Common Pleas No. 2.

Judge Rodgers has finished the hearings of the divorce cases upon the present list. Charles L. White of Gallitin, who sued Annie White, swore they were married in 1891 and lived together six years. White alleged his wife had a fascination for William Kerr, a boarder at his house.

While Anna J. Fickes was offering testimony in the suit against her husband, Abraham Fickes, she wept constantly, displaying several diamond rings upon her hands. Fickes is a contracting carpenter, and desertion was alleged.

Other cases heard were those of Elizabeth Moffett against Alexander Moffett and Mary A. Wendler against Charles F. Wendler.

ASKS FOR A CITATION.

J. E. Bailey Denies Paper Probated Is His Brother's Last Will.

Another will contest was begun in orphans' court. James E. Bailey of Fair Oaks presented a petition alleging that the will admitted is not the last testament of his brother, Alfred B. Bailey, and asks for a citation upon W. J. Langfitt and Anna V. Bailey requiring them to show cause why an appeal should not be taken from the register in admitting a paper bearing date of February 4, 1895, to probate. Upon this will letters of administration were granted to Anna V. Bailey.

The petitioner says this is not the last will of the decedent, but that W. J. Langfitt has one in his possession which bears the date of May 14, 1902, in which paper the petitioner is named as a beneficiary.

Today's Trial Lists.

An execution attachment was issued by John Kleber against Jacob J. Dewalt and Grant Miller. Frank Cussner and Ernest Keitz are named as garnishees.

Charles Wheeler entered suit against R. Munroe & Son for $10,000 damages. The plaintiff says that while the company was erecting a smoke stack on the Phipps building a pole fell, injuring him seriously.

The will of John G. Stephenson of this city was filed for probate. The entire estate is left to his wife, Elizabeth V. Stephenson. She is made executrix and is not required to file an inventory or appraisement. The will is dated January 20, 1901.

A CHINATOWN CHAPTER

Depravity of Two White Girls Revealed in Alderman Toole's Court. He Warned Them.

"I want you two girls to keep out of the First ward. If you are found here during the next year I will send you to the workhouse for six months." This warning was served by Alderman Toole on Gertrude Jones and Mary Smith, the prosecuting witnesses in a case before him yesterday.

The defendant was Wong Son, a Chinaman who runs a laundry in Liberty avenue and who was charged with assault and battery by Gertrude Jones. She has been living at Wong Son's laundry, but because he refused to give her money and was jealous of Joe Yip, a Ferry street Chinaman, she deserted him and took up her abode with his rival. She said Wong followed her to Yip's place and because she refused to leave there pulled her around the room by the hair and beat her.

Wong Son said the girl had robbed him and that he had only called at Yip's to ask the return of his watch, which the Jones girl had stolen. Mrs. Yup Joe, a white woman who is married to a Chinaman, said she had seen the Jones girl searching Wong's clothes and was quite positive she had stolen his watch.

Alderman Toole, by questioning, learned that the two girls made a habit of living in Chinese laundries. The Jones girl, who is handsome and was stylishly dressed, said she was 20 years old and had come here from San Francisco. Mary Smith said her parents lived at West Liberty. Alderman Toole, after discharging Wong Son, delivered a scathing lecture to the girls, winding up with the warning that if they were seen in the First ward within a year he would see that they went to the workhouse.

MRS. CROUSE CONGRATULATED.

President Expresses His Pleasure at Plans for Women's Temple.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—Mrs. Matilda H. Crouse, founder of the proposed Women's Temple in Chicago, has received the following letter from President Roosevelt:

Dear Mrs. Crouse—I have been deeply interested to learn of the work your association has undertaken in erecting the magnificent Women's temple in Chicago as a memorial to Miss Willard. It gives me genuine pleasure to send to you and the members of the board of trustees heartiest congratulations upon the progress already made and best wishes for the early and complete success of the undertaking. Very sincerely yours,

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

State Medical Exams—The annual Pennsylvania state medical examinations will be held by the state board in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia today. About 150 persons will take the examination in this city.

Death Ended a Spree—Edward McKibben, 36 years of age, an engineer living at No. 3 Hemans street, died in jail yesterday of alcoholism. He was committed June 19 to 10 days so he would get sober.

Credit Men to Meet—The last regular monthly meeting of the Pittsburgh Credit Men's association for the season will be held at the Hotel Henry this noon. The report of the delegates to the national convention will be made.

Allegheny Woman Run Down—Mrs. Nora Sullivan, 62 years old, of No. 73 Ontario street, Allegheny, had the toes of her right foot crushed by being run down by a traction car at Third avenue and Smithfield street yesterday afternoon.

Architect in Trouble—M. R. Dillon, a former architect of Philadelphia, has furnished bail for a hearing on a charge of desertion and non-support before Alderman Abernathy. The charge was preferred by Dillon's wife, who resides in Philadelphia.

Donatelli Is Locked Up—Christ. Donatelli, the Italian implicated in the cutting on Monday in Skunk hollow, was locked in No. 5 police station yesterday, having been released from the West Penn hospital. Bucci, the man Donatelli is alleged to have cut, is said to be in a critical condition.

Can Talk to All Strangers—William A. Pulket of Baltimore, who speaks eight languages, has been appointed immigrant inspector for the Baltimore & Ohio station in Pittsburgh. He will meet all trains carrying immigrants and assist them in continuing their journey or in finding friends.

Fire Horse Killed—"Harry," one of the horses stationed at No. 17 engine company on Mt. Washington, was killed yesterday by falling over a steep embankment overlooking Wyoming street. The horse broke away from the firemen when he was about to be taken out with the other horses for exercise.

Coronation Pictures—Sights that were to have been seen at the coronation tomorrow, which have been photographed and transferred to stereopticon slides, including King Edward's coronation coach and the best caters of the tower of London, will be shown at the Second Presbyterian church this evening, with a lecture by the Rev. S. Edward Young. The lecture is free.

Bridge Viewers Meet—The viewers on the condemnation proceedings to purchase the toll bridge at Sutterville and make it an Allegheny-Westmoreland free bridge met yesterday to take evidence. The bridge cost $47,000 and the owners are asking $123,000 for it, claiming it could not be built for twice the amount of the original cost, as building material is much higher now.

Englehart Inquest Closed—The inquest into the death of Ida Englehart, the little girl who was drowned April 19 in Sterrett township by the bursting of the water main of the Pennsylvania Water Company, was concluded yesterday by Coroner McGeary. The verdict of the jury was that the flood resulted from the pipes not being strong enough to stand the pressure of the water.

Made Too Much Display—Walter Kennedy, who boards at the home of Lawrence Barckhoff in Penn township, was robbed of $60 last week. Robert Glaister, his roommate, returned to the boarding-house on Saturday with a complete new outfit and announced he intended to buy a pony. FEED THEM.

One Way to Make Lawyers.

You can dig up the lawyers and put them on their feet if you feed them right, but they are like other people—they don't thrive on poorly selected food.

A lawyer from Seneca Falls, N. Y., says: "When I went into a law office I was in fine health, having had much outdoor exercise, but at the end of the second month's study and work I was disheartened to find myself in poor health and failing every day.

After reading a short time I would become so nervous that I would be compelled to stop, nor could I remember, to any extent, what I read.

The study of law, which at first was a great pleasure, became a burden, and a first-class physician told me that I never would be able to serve a full term in a law office, and advised me to give it up if I wanted to enjoy life. When upon the point of doing so I was talking one day with one of the firm who advised me to make a change in food, and recommended very highly your Grape-Nuts, saying I could get a package at any grocery and make the test.

"The advice impressed me so strongly that I at once purchased and began using Grape-Nuts. I found that after using this food I was not troubled with the lingering pain in my stomach that had been with me for some time; instead I was perfectly comfortable, and I had not eaten the food for more than four or five days when I began to notice a change. My head became clear again and I began to enjoy my studies as well as I did on the start, and could accomplish more in one week from that time on than I had in a whole month prior to that time.

"My blood, which had naturally become bad, presently improved, my digestion also was better. The blotches on my face began to disappear and I felt better in every way.

"I owe much to Grape-Nuts. Would rather you did not use my name, but if it will do you any good, use it." Name furnished by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Look for free recipe book in each package of Grape-Nuts.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, June 24.—The suspension of Tinker put Frank Selee's team to the bad today, while Capt. Clarke's team, apparently not missing Conroy, walked away with the game by a score of 7 to 3. The game was marked by a long string of errors on Chicago's part, two of which were credited to Kling, who played the shortstop position. Pittsburgh's one error was not costly. Jesse Tannehill was generous, too, allowing a total of 10 hits, but the way in which the men behind him stood up to their work robbed the locals of a look-in.

Carl Lundgren, the young college pitcher, made his premier on the local grounds and deserved better treatment. The "Illini" twirler pitched a good game, but that alone could not win the game. He unrolled a variety of inshoots, drops and curves and struck out seven of the Pirates' heavy batters, which would be a creditable performance for a veteran, but the wretched support given him made his hard work useless.

New Pitcher Made Errors.

Lundgren, too, came in for a share of the errors. He fumbled a liner and again made a wild throw to first which cost three runs. The champions started out for victory in the first inning. The cubs also started their wretched playing in the same inning. After Davis flew to Jones, Clarke sent a grass cutter to left for two bases. He was advanced to third by Beaumont's out and scored later by Kahoe's error, when the ball was thrown to nab him at the plate.

The home team did its only scoring in the first and second innings. After Slagle went out at first, Jones was given a pass to the initial sack and reached third through Dexter's single to left. Dexter stole second and then both men on the bases scored by Kahoe's liner to the left garden. In the second inning Lowe reached the initial bag by hitting safely to left. Kling followed with a hummer to center. Lundgren got a fielders' choice, forcing Lowe at third, Kling scoring later on Slagle's fielders' choice. This ended all the scoring for Chicago.

With the score 3 to 1 against them the champions won the game in the fourth inning. Three Pirates crossed the home plate in this inning before any men were put out. The trouble started with Lundgren throwing wild to first to head off Beaumont, who sent a slow liner in the pitcher's direction. Beaumont went to third and scored on Wagner's single to center field. Bransfield got a fielders' choice, Wagner being safe at second. Ritchey went out to Lowe. Leach beat out a hunt and Wagner scored. Smith was out, Kling to Williams. Bransfield scoring on the play.

The Pirates added another score in the sixth inning by Ritchey's two-base drive into right field. He scored on Leach's sacrifice and Smith's single to left. In the seventh inning two Pirates crossed the plate without a hit being made. In this inning the first three batsmen reached first through errors, two of whom scored on following outs.

The Tinker-Conroy Row.

"The newspaper accounts of the Sunday game made Tinker feel he would be justified in doing anything," said Pulliam today. "Conroy is only a little inoffensive fellow, and he has to stand on the bag to block off the players. It was bing! into him by the Chicago man, and bing! into the player by Conroy. It was Tinker's play to move around him. In that Sunday game Tinker felt the responsibility resting on him. A run would tie and a win would win, and he did not want to try to stretch his run to third base, so when he collided with Conroy he thought it a place for a grandstand play. It hurt Chicago much more than it does us to have an infielder taken out. We have players stored around everywhere and can bring them out by the underground route when we need them. It was foolish for Tinker to pick a quarrel with Conroy."

Selee is looking for a short stop to take Tinker's place while the latter is under suspension. Conroy was sent home today.

Ritchey led in batting with three hits, one a double. Davis came next with two safe drives. The score:

NOTES OF THE GAME

Lundgren, who pitched for Chicago yesterday, is a college boy and was captain of the University of Illinois team for two years.

Ritchey and Leach had plenty of work to do yesterday, accepting between them 15 chances without a slip up. At bat Ritchey had three hits, including a two-bagger, but the best Tommy could do was a base single.

Lefty Davis' three days' vacation seem to have had a good effect, as the right fielder bumped into the game yesterday and cracked out a couple of nice hits. He didn't get a run though, which is something unusual for Lefty.

The only Pirate who failed to get a hit yesterday was Kitty Bransfield, and its good betting that the Pirate's first baseman was in anything but a pleasant humor last night. It takes bingles to bring smiles to the faces of the ball players.

There is an unusual demand for tickets for the Fourth of July games, and this indicates record-breaking crowds on the Fourth. The box tickets were placed on sale at Pratt's yesterday, and as there is only 200 of them they will soon be cared up.

President Dreyfuss intends putting in extra bleacher seats, which will extend from the present left field bleachers all the way around the field, in order to accommodate the Fourth of July crowds. The work on these bleachers will be started today, and when finished the playing field will be a sort of an amphitheater.

Chicago writers need not go away from home to find rowdy ball players. It was Jones of the Chicago team who planted his fist in Jack O'Connor's neck and delivered a knock-out punch in a game here when there was a close play at the home plate, and it was that same little Tinker who put his spikes into Harry Smith on Decoration day and caused the Pirate's catcher a few sleepless nights and a week's lay off.

Some of Chicago writers are calling Conroy a rowdy player and assert that he was the real instigator of Monday's fight. Here in Pittsburgh Conroy is regarded as one of the quietest and most gentlemanly of players, in fact, the followers of the game have been asserting that he was not aggressive enough to suit the champions. Conroy is one of the quiet members of the Pirates, in fact, he was just a bit too quiet.

SHIFTED FOR LUCK.

Quakers Changed Batting Order to a Good Purpose.

BOSTON, June 24.—The Philadelphias shifted their batting order today and the change operated with telling effect, as the visitors ceased to have no trouble in connecting with Eason's curves. Boston scored its only run on a pass and two singles in the first inning. After that White was an enigma. Attendance 2,260. Score:

STILL AFTER LAJOIE.

Col. Rogers Brings Injunction Suit at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, O., June 24.—The Philadelphia National league baseball club, through its attorneys, today filed suit in the United States district court here praying for a perpetual injunction against Lajoie and Bernhard to prevent them from playing baseball with the Cleveland American league club. It is averred that Lajoie and Bernhard entered into a contract with the Philadelphia club under the laws of Pennsylvania covering the present season, and that notwithstanding the existence of such a contract the defendants are playing with the Cleveland club. The case will be heard by Judge Wing on Tuesday, July 1.

THE SCHENLEY PRIZES.

They Will Be Placed on Exhibition Today.

The prizes for the winners at the president's meet at Schenley park, July 4, will be on exhibition tomorrow in the window of the Wabash Railroad Company's office, 318-320 Fifth avenue. The collection will contain 30 diamonds, one medal and two silver cups. The diamonds will go to the winners of the athletic, bicycle and motorcycle events; the cups will be awarded to the winners of the automobile races and the medal will be presented to W. N. Murray, who will give an exhibition with his 40-horse power Winston racer and demonstrate that it is possible to guide the heavy and speedy machine on a half mile track. The efforts for all events will close next Saturday at midnight. Blanks may be obtained from W. H. Locke, 325 Fifth avenue.

Merchants Lathered the Barbers.

LEECHBURG, PA., June 24.—(Special.)—The merchants and barbers of this place gave a laughable and hard-hitting exhibition of baseball today, the merchants winning by a score of 35 to 15. The pitching of Bush for the merchants was the feature of the game. The score:

Cleveland Hit Hard and Lajoie Led the List.

CLEVELAND, June 24.—Cleveland won easily from St. Louis, not a St. Louis player reaching first until the seventh inning. Lajoie's home run with the bases filled was a feature. Sudhoff hurt his hand in attempting to stop a liner and retired in favor of Harper in the fourth inning. Score:

YALE'S DEFEAT WAS VERY BITTER DOSE

HARVARD WON THE BALL GAME IN RATHER EASY STYLE.

Thousands of Old-Time Students Were There and Marched About the Field, but Did Not Bring Luck—Clarkson's Pitching Too Much for Blues.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., June 24.—Harvard defeated Yale this afternoon in the commencement ball game. The defeat greatly dampened the enthusiasm which before the game began was as picturesque in expression as ever. Many of the classes that returned for reunions marched around the diamond headed by brass bands. The class of 1886 made a novel appearance, ten ladies riding by 10 men on horseback carrying fishpole lances with Yale pennants fluttering at the top. Four Scotch bagpipers were also with this class and greatly entertained the crowd. The triennial classes were garbed as sailors and carried huge pompoms of paper on long stems. The cheering was at times deafening, but died down as Yale's hopes sank after the fifth inning. There was a desperate rally of enthusiasm toward the close of the game, when Yale graduates and students, dying hard, gave their team a final support and encouragement, hoping to make a strong finish. But Clarkson's cleverness was too much for the Yale batsmen. The score:

Bucknell's New Baseball Leader.

LEWISBURG, PA., June 24. (Special.)—At the close of a very successful season, at commencement, the Bucknell university baseball team elected Frederick Blair Tasker, 1903, captain. He was prepared for college at Mercersburg academy and has always had a fondness for baseball and pitched on the team this year at Bucknell and has a very creditable record.

ALLEGHENY GOLFERS PLAY HIGHLAND TODAY

The Rivals for Local Championship Meet for the First Time This Year.

The leading match of the spring schedule of the Western Pennsylvania Golf league will be played this afternoon on the Highland course between the champions of last season and the Allegheny Country club, which has never been defeated by any local team but Highland. The match will close the spring season for Highland, while Allegheny still has a postponed game with Edgewood. Highland has won three straight from Allegheny. The last game played at Highland, November 20 of last year, went to Highland 36 to 1. The only Allegheny man then to win was E. M. Byers, who defeated W. C. Fownes, Jr., 1 to 0. The spring match last season played in the old Allegheny course went to Highland, 19 to 0, and the fall game in 1900 at Highland to the latter, 19 to 1. Allegheny is unquestionably stronger this season than last, however, notably in the addition of J. E. Porter gained from Edgeworth. Highland will have a great advantage in the home course, which is short and difficult for strange teams. The two teams today will play as follows:

Allegheny—	Highland—
Jno. Moorhead, Jr.	G. M. Ralston.
E. M. Byers.	H. C. Fownes.
J. B. Shea.	C. E. Fownes.
S. S. Marine.	W. C. Fownes, Jr.
J. E. Porter.	Harvey Penn.

PORTER TOOK NICOLA CUP.

O. D. Thompson Not Ready to Announce Makeup of All-Pittsburgh Team.

J. E. Porter was the winner of the G. W. Nicola cup on the Allegheny Country club course yesterday afternoon, with a net score of 77 from a handicap of 5, while J. H. Childs made 85 net from a handicap of 7 strokes. W. J. Patton, who was tied on Saturday with 77 net, failed to play and forfeited. John Moorhead, Jr., the captain of the Allegheny team, is playing strong golf, having a 77 gross yesterday for the course.

O. D. Thompson states that the makeup of the all-Pittsburgh team to play at Philadelphia on Saturday has not yet been decided on. The local golfers will leave Thursday night and practice over the Wissahickon course at Germantown Friday. The match will be 36 holes, 18 straight match play in the morning, and likely 18 of two ball foursome play in the afternoon.

The Country club announces that the second 18-hole handicap contest for the cup for women members offered by J. McClurg Hays will be decided this afternoon on the new course, on the Beechwood boulevard.

ROENIGK WON PHIPPS CUP.

Ormiston Was Off His Game Yesterday at Highland Park.

A. C. Roenigk was the winner of the competition on the Highland course yesterday afternoon to decide the tie result of Saturday between him and G. A. Ormiston for the L. C. Phipps trophy. His score was 91 gross under a handicap of 16 strokes, while Ormiston made 78 from scratch. Ormiston played in 10 on Saturday and Roenigk in 86. The cup must be won twice.

On Friday on the Highland course will be decided the second competition for the cup offered by Mrs. Charles Taylor. This trophy goes to the maker of the highest total in six contests with three points for first; two for second and one for third. Miss Elkins, who won the initial contest, has

RISHER'S STARS WILL BE TESTED BY STRONG TEAM

An All-College Nine Will Go Against Homestead Team Today.

TOTTEN WILL DO PITCHING

The Little Left-Hander Held H. L. A. C. to Two Hits Earlier in the Season—Phil Lewis of Cornell Will Play Short.

Those who care to journey out to Steel Works park at Homestead this afternoon will run across a ball game that promises to be one of the warmest contests of the season. The contesting teams will be Manager Risher's H. L. A. C. champions and a nine made up of college players who have made reputations.

Among other players on the all-college team will be Phil Lewis, the clever schoolboy who played short for the Cornell team this season and who such a good judge as Hugh Jennings picks as a coming baseball star. Among the other players are Ferguson of Cornell, Reilly and Dunlevy of Fordham and Hanlon, Wall, Dunn and McKenna of Pittsburgh college.

The pitching of the all-college team will be done by Will Totten, who early in the season pitched for the Iroquois team and held Homestead down to two hits. Manager Risher, knowing the strength of the collegians, will have his strongest team in the field this afternoon, so that the game promises to be one out of the ordinary. The teams will line up as follows:

All-Colleges—Ferguson, 1; Reilly, c; Hanlon, 2; Lewis, s; Wall, 3; Dunn, l; F. McKenna, 2; Dunlevy, m; Totten or J. McKenna, p.

Homestead—Laffey, 1; McChesney, m; Schriver, c; Marshall, 1; DeMoss, 3; Cosgrove, 2; Osborne, r; Kenney, s; Pearson, p.

Cuban Team Won Again.

WARREN, PA., June 24.—(Special.)—Warren was defeated today for the third time by the All Cuban team of Havana in a hotly contested game. Both pitchers were effective, while Warren was slightly off color in their fielding. Mistakes by Sargent and Mc-Clintock in the ninth were responsible directly for the defeat. Score:

The following Primrose players will please report for practice on Wednesday evening: Ackley, Brown, Collins, Powell, Fallman, McIntyre, Mullin, Kearney, Barr and Cochran.

The Windsor A. C. of Allegheny and the Sewickley Y. M. C. A. team played a five-inning game yesterday, which ended in a tie score of 9 to 9. The Windsors thought the Sewickley Y. M. C. A. would make a nice practice game, but discovered they were up against a good proposition when against McLane's pitching and all round playing of Sewickley. Poulton also pitched a fine game for the Windsors.

MONROE TO MEET TERRIBLE SWEDE

LAWSON SAID TO BE ONE OF THE BEST PACE FOLLOWERS.

Hangs on to the Rear Wheel No Matter How Great the Speed Is, and Rides Like Albert Champion—Good Amateur Events.

In accordance with the announcement made by the management of the Coliseum, Benny Munroe of Memphis, Tenn., who on Monday night defeated Lester Wilson, will meet Lawson, "The Terrible Swede," in a 50-mile motor-paced race at the Coliseum track next Monday night. Munroe's great riding in the last two heats of his race with Wilson, after he lost the first by a close margin, made him many new friends among the patrons of the Coliseum who could not fail to notice the great improvement in his performance over that in his race with Freeman a few weeks ago. Munroe left for the east last night and will ride on one of the eastern tracks. He will return to Pittsburgh the latter part of the week to train for his race with Lawson on Monday night.

Gussie Lawson, who will be Munroe's opponent, has the reputation of being one of the best pace followers in the cycle racing game. He can follow the big machines any place, and no matter what speed it develops he hangs to the rear wheel of the tandem and never wavers. In his manner of riding he is not unlike Champion, the remarkable Frenchman, who made such a wonderful record at the Colosseum track two weeks ago. His riding is the kind that makes the races exciting and interests the spectators.

Lawson has not done very much riding on the eastern tracks this year. His best performance was in the three-cornered race in which he and Hall and Johnny Lake were entered. Lawson finished an easy first in this race. He has also beaten Leander. In the west he is better known and on the 10-lap track at Salt Lake City he has ridden and won a number of races. Lawson will arrive in Pittsburgh some time on Thursday with his pacemakers and will put in the time between that day and Monday training for his race with Munroe.

The amateur events for the meet on Monday night at the Colosseum track will be a one-third mile and a one-mile handicap. The entries for these events will close at 6 o'clock Saturday evening. The speed shown by the amateurs in the races at the Colosseum this year has done much toward reviving the interest in cycle racing in this vicinity, and from now on the fields for the amateur events at the weekly meets will be much larger.

TWILIGHT BASEBALL.

Verner A. C. Will Inaugurate Games This Week to Commence in Evenings at 6:30.

Twilight baseball for the benefit of those who work and cannot enjoy the pleasures of the national game during the day is to be inaugurated this week by the Verner A. C. Manager Martin announces that a schedule is being filled calling for three games each week, to commence at 6:30 and to be played on the Pittsburgh High school grounds, Friendship park, Liberty and Millvale avenues.

The schedule is to be started this week. During the school season Friendship park belied its name by many scrappy games, and even well-developed riots between the local scholastic nines, but Manager Martin will endeavor to redeem this unsavory record for trouble.

Slippery Rock Shutout.

GROVE CITY, PA., June 24.—Today's game between Grove City and Slippery Rock was a pitchers' battle, with Bonnett having the best end of it. Neither side scored up to the ninth and it looked like an extra inning game, but in Grove City's half Draper reached first on an error, when Kennedy drove the ball for a home run, winning the game with none out. Aside from the pitching, the holding of Draper, Uber, Galbraith and Davis were the features. Score. R. H. E.

BOTH CREWS IN SHAPE FOR THE BIG RACE

Yale Oarsmen Were Downcast Over Ball Team's Defeat, but Worked Well.

THE SEMI-OFFICIAL RACE

Blue and Crimson Freshmen Fours Will Meet Today — Harvard's Crews Were Given Only Light Work and Without Any Coaching.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Gales Ferry, Conn., June 24.—A feeling of disappointment fills the hearts of the oarsmen here over Yale's defeat by Harvard in the ball game today, but they went through their light training with their usual dash and vigor. The 'varsity is getting in its customary regularity of stroke and smoothness of shell movement through the water. Both this morning and afternoon's work consisted largely in practicing the starts, with one or two trial pulls up and down stream.

The freshmen four was given this afternoon its last coaching before its semi-official race against the Harvard freshmen four that takes place tomorrow afternoon. It will be rowed over the second half-mile of the 'varsity course.

The coaches, Hooker and Blake, will start and judge the race. The contestants are: For Harvard, 1, Ayers; 2, McLeod; 3, Moot; 4, Ober; coxswain, Chase. For Yale, 1, Dewey; 2, Wright; 3, Bradley; 4, Lathrop; coxswain, Harris, who has gotten into condition again and was out today on the river.

The last work for the Harvard crew was taken today. Everyone at Red Top is in the very best condition, and the weights have kept up remarkably well. The work this morning was taken by the crew without any coaching. This is one of Coach Haines's ideas, that the men in the boat should be made to work things out for themselves.

In the afternoon the crews were out early on the river. The 'varsity eight went a mile down stream at a slow, easy paddle, working still on the recover and getting a quick turn around at both ends of the stroke. After the mile paddle the boat was turned around up stream and lined up on the mile mark. Higginson sent the crew away by the pistol and they rowed at a 33 and 34 stroke, and a mile up stream. The rowing was not so smooth or so encouraging as it was yesterday, but the time for the mile was fairly good.

HAD TO HUSTLE HARD.

Dravosburg Team Sprung a Surprise at Homestead.

The Dravosburg Stars put up a much superior game before the H. L. A. C. at Homestead yesterday than was expected of them. In fact, it took all that H. L. A. C. could do to win the game, which was one of the prettiest contests seen on the grounds this year. But one error was made by both sides, and Homestead only obtained one hit more than their opponents. Lawrence pitched for H. L. A. C. and did well. Score:

CALLER—Dear old Jack, I just read in the paper about your being sunstruck, and rushed right over. I'm awfully glad you're as well as you are. You're lucky. Now, old man, I don't want to work the old "I told you so" gag on you, but the way to prevent sunstroke is to keep the bowels clean and cool, and the blood from being over-heated, by taking a CASCARET Candy Cathartic at bed-time. They work while you sleep, and keep you safe and comfortable all day. 10c

OFFERING OF $2,000,000

Harbison-Walker Refractories Company,

PITTSBURGH.

First Mortgage and Collateral Trust 5 Per Cent 20-Year Gold Bonds.

ISSUE OF $3,500,000.

DATED JULY 1st, 1902.

Interest Payable January and July, at the Farmers Deposit National Bank, Pittsburgh, Pa., or National Bank of Commerce in New York.

COLONIAL TRUST COMPANY, PITTSBURGH, TRUSTEE.

These bonds are coupon bonds of $1,000 each, with privilege of registration of principal or interest, or both.

Principal and interest payable in gold coin of the United States, of the present standard of weight and fineness, without deduction from either principal or interest for any tax or taxes which said Company may, by any present or future laws of the United States or Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, be required to pay or retain on account of or from said principal or interest for any National, State or municipal purposes, the said Harbison-Walker Refractories Company agreeing to pay all such taxes.

SINKING FUND.

The Company is required to pay $175,000 annually to a sinking fund to provide for the redemption of the present issue, and including the $1,500,000 of bonds of the Harbison-Walker Company, to acquire which $1,500,000 of the present issue is to be used, and can be used for no other purpose.

The Company reserves the right to redeem the whole or any part of the issue at any semi-annual interest period at 110 and accrued interest, upon giving six weeks' previous notice by publication.

The bonds now offered are sold to provide additional working capital, and also to provide in part for the cost of acquiring the plants, properties and capital stock of the following companies:

Harbison-Walker Company	Pennsylvania.
Harbison & Walker Company	Kentucky.
Isaac Reese & Sons Company	Pennsylvania.
Philipsburg Fire Brick Company	do.
Wallaceton Fire Brick Company	do.
Basic Brick Company	do.
Clinton County Fire Brick Company	do.
Fredericks, Munro & Company	do.
American Fire Brick Company	do.
Layton Plant of Fayette Mfg. Co.	do.
Clearfield Fire Brick Company	do.

The Harbison-Walker Refractories Company is incorporated under the laws of the State of Pennsylvania, with all necessary powers for the manufacture of fire brick and other articles made of refractory materials, and all other powers deemed convenient, with a capital of $ 8,000,000 Preferred 6 Per Cent Cumulative Stock.

14,500,000 Common Stock.
3,500,000 First Mortgage and Collateral Trust Bonds.

By its acquisition of the properties, stock, good will and business of the above named Companies the Harbison-Walker Refractories Company owns and controls twenty-seven complete up-to-date works, with a capacity to manufacture over 1,000,000 tons high-grade finished material per annum.

The Company has 53,000 acres of fire clay, coal and ganister lands, and the companies taken over by it have cash and quick assets amounting to $1,500,000, which are to be used as working capital.

In forming the Harbison-Walker Refractories Company, only those concerns were taken over that are first-rate in reputation and whose clay lands have been proven to be of fine quality and favorably located.

Reputation in the fire brick business is very valuable and takes many years to acquire.

Attention is called to the accompanying letter of Messrs. S. P. Harbison and S. C. Walker, and to the Accountants' Report, which shows average earnings for the past two years by the plants acquired, when operated separately, of over four and one-half times the amount of the annual interest on the Companies' bonds, and at the same rate on the present increased capacity as now in operation, over six and one-half times the amount of bond interest.

ACCOUNTANTS' STATEMENT.

FARMERS DEPOSIT NATIONAL BANK, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dear Sirs—We have examined the books of the Companies constituting the Harbison-Walker Refractories Company for the last two fiscal years, and certify that they have made an annual profit of $806,572.11. New works have recently been completed and are now in operation, the profits from which have not been included in these two years.

On the basis of the present increased output over the average output of the two years, the Company will show, if the same rate of profit is maintained, an increase of $810,000, making a total of actual and estimated profits of $1,116,000.

STUART & YOUNG,
Public Accountants.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 20, 1902.

FARMERS DEPOSIT NATIONAL BANK, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dear Sirs—Referring to the proposed issue of $3,500,000 First Mortgage and Collateral Trust 5 Per Cent Gold Bonds of the Harbison-Walker Refractories Company, your attention is called to the assets on which the issue is based.

Two-thirds of the twenty-seven plants owned by the Company are of brick and iron construction, all of them containing costly and heavy machinery.

The corporation has in fee over 30,000 acres of fire clay, coal and ganister lands, and under extremely low royalties and perpetual lease over 22,000 acres of the same. It also owns 625 employes' houses and 30 miles of railroad, with full equipment of motive power and rolling stock.

The buildings, machinery, tram and railroads could not be duplicated at the present time under $7,000,000 actual outlay, and in addition the Company has $1,000,000 in stock on hand, book accounts and cash.

It is difficult to find a correct estimate of value on the clay and ganister lands for the reason that it would be impossible to duplicate this asset in quality and location. While the Company does not have, nor does it expect to have, a monopoly of clay lands, it has beyond all question the cream or choice to such an extent that, as stated above, it would be simply impossible to duplicate same.

There is probably no other business in which more time, care and attention are necessary to establish a high reputation. Fire brick linings in blast furnaces should run from four to eight years, and in blast furnace stoves from ten to sixteen years. As a reputation cannot be established on a single record, it may be readily seen that it would take many years to have a dozen or more records to prove that the materials turned out possess the requisite qualities for the work demanded of them.

The Company practically controls the entire output of high-grade brick made by manufacturers of established reputation. Of the concerns taken over, there is only one whose president has been in the business but twelve years; several others have been engaged in it for twenty years, and at least two for over thirty years. Ninety per cent of the stock has been subscribed for by the manufacturers, thus insuring a continuance of the management under the direction of the most experienced brick manufacturers of the country.

To partially meet the indebtedness created for the purchase of the companies taken over and to obtain additional working capital to largely increase the business is the reason for the proposed issue of bonds.

TAYLOR WENT TO THE SCAFFOLD WITHOUT FEAR

He Was Executed Yesterday Morning for the Murder of Edward Sewell.

ASSERTED HIS INNOCENCE

Claimed That He Shot Sewell in Self-Defense and That Witnesses Swore His Life Away—Visited Dorman in His Cell.

With absolute serenity and without fear or trepidation, Henry Taylor walked to the gallows yesterday morning and paid the penalty for the murder of Edward Sewell on August 14. The trap was sprung at 10:08 o'clock, and 12 minutes later the colored murderer was pronounced dead by the attending physicians. The body was placed in a casket, turned over to Taylor's relatives and taken to the Lincoln cemetery and buried. The death was slow and was produced by strangulation.

Taylor was accompanied from his cell to the gallows by Deputy Sheriff William German and the Rev. C. D. Patterson. Each grasped one of his arms and supported him as he walked. When the trio appeared in the jail yard Taylor glanced at the gallows. Not a muscle changed in his face. Deputy Sheriff German placed the noose about his neck and drew a black cap from his pocket.

Taylor glanced at the sheriff's jury and then watched Deputy Sheriff German unfold the cap. The condemned man held his head back while it was drawn tightly over his features. Sheriff William McKinley walked to the lever at the foot of the scaffold and Deputy Sheriff German gave him the signal. Taylor's body shot through the air and then swayed to and fro.

Buried in Lincoln Cemetary.

The remains were turned over to Jacob Jackson, a brother-in-law of the dead man, who was waiting in the jail reception room. They were immediately placed in a hearse which was waiting in Forbes street and driven to Fifth avenue and Grant street. There they were met by two carriages containing relatives of the executed man and the funeral party drove to Lincoln cemetery. The Rev. Mr. Patterson conducted the burial ceremony.

Taylor spent a quiet night. When he arose in the morning he said that he was prepared to meet his end. He was given a suit of black clothes to dress in and then he waited for the march to the scaffold. Sheriff William McKinley went to his cell shortly after 10 o'clock and told Taylor that all was ready. Taylor asked to see Charles Davis and Walter Dorman.

This request was granted, and he told Davis to prepare to meet his wife, and bade him good-bye. He was then taken to the cell of Walter Dorman, who told him that he was glad to know that he had prepared himself to meet his end, and warned him to be brave.

He Denied His Guilt.

Before Taylor was taken from his he dictated a statement to the Rev. Mr. Patterson. He said that he had no special warning to give to young men individually, but to all, "not to be guilty of swearing away a man's life." He claimed to the last that he killed Sewell in self-defense. He denied that a woman had been the cause of his trouble. He maintained that she had nothing to do with it.

Taylor was 25 years old and was born in Danville, Va. He is alleged to have killed a colored man in that state and made his escape to this city. He was employed in the Black Diamond steel works when the murder was committed. He and Sewell were drinking in S. P. Lockett's saloon at No. 3659 Penn avenue. They were both suitors for the hand of Mrs. Martha Stone, who lived in Thirty-first street. Taylor grabbed Sewell about the neck and fired five shots into his body. Sewell died a few hours later in the West Penn hospital.

Taylor then went to Forty-fourth street and took a car to Fifth avenue. He went to Homestead and stayed there over night. The next morning he went to McKeesport and took a freight train to Harpers Ferry. From that place he went to Steelton and later to Carlisle. He went back to Steelton again, and becoming afraid of being arrested he returned to Carlisle.

He was arrested by Detectives James W. Eagan and George Cole, indicted by the grand jury and convicted of murder on February 18.

BAPTIST RALLY.

Interesting Event at the Fourth Avenue Church Last Night. Much Money Raised.

A Children's Day rally was held last night in the Fourth Avenue Baptist church, at which representatives of the various Sunday schools which comprise the Pittsburgh Baptist Sunday school association were present. Upon roll call about two-thirds of 50 Sunday schools responded with the amount of money raised on Children's Day, $1,618 88, being reported. Over $500 more is expected from schools which did not report last night. Last year $1,805 was collected.

C. A. Edsall had charge of last night's meeting and an interesting musical program was carried out. The German Choral union, under the leadership of Mr. Smick, rendered several anthems and led in the singing. The Rev. Samuel P. Neal of the Second Baptist church of Philadelphia made the address of the evening. His talk was upon the work in the western states of the Baptist Publication society's chapel car. The car is 80 feet long and contains all that goes to make up a church and a parsonage.

Mr. Neal said that during the period of work extending over three years as a result of the chapel car visits he organized 10 churches, built nine meeting houses, organized 10 Sunday schools, baptized 455 souls and visited over 1,600 families.

AT THE RIBBON COUNTERS.

Free Demonstration of "Happy Thought" Bow Maker.

Something new—enabling women to make every conceivable design in bows, aigrettes, rosettes, violets, roses and the thousand and one beautiful conceptions to temptingly displayed in the store windows and at one-half the cost. The "Happy Thought" does professional work and the professional bow maker has long been envied for his artistic and beautiful bows. The combination of a "Happy Thought," a pretty ribbon and a few moments' time will give a result that will be a delight to the eye.

There was never such a season for ribbons. The latest Parisian styles are showing dresses elaborately trimmed with them and for corsage decoration there is nothing takes their place. A plain gown can be transformed in a few moments' time. As an economizer it has an exhibit value. Nothing so beautifies the home or person as a proper display of beautiful ribbons and flowers and the range of ideas and possibilities by the use of the "Happy Thought" are without limit.

Our demonstrator will explain how all of the different bows, rosettes and flowers are made and before you have been the possessor of one for 24 hours you will wonder how you did without it so long. Price 50c.

THE marriage of Miss Margaretta McDowell Patterson and Lucian Chipman Fuller took place last evening in the East Liberty Presbyterian church. The bride comes from a distinguished Pittsburgh family, being a daughter of John M. Patterson of the East End, and is a graduate of Ogontz. The groom is the son of Charles H. Fuller of Chicago, one of the most prominent business men in the west, and a graduate of Cornell. The prominence of the contracting parties and the members of the bridal party has for some time past made them the recipients of many social attentions, and one function upon another has followed in rapid succession, bearing testimony to the popularity of all.

The immense and beautiful edifice, illuminated to the utmost, became intensely more beautiful in the brilliancy of the toilets and the floral decorations which adorned it. Mountain laurel formed the main scheme of the decoration, a perfect hedge of it being placed before the front pews and great white vases of the same beautiful pink-and-white exotic gracing either side of the open space. At the head of each of the two aisles floral gates were swung and every alternate pew was ornamented with a torch of annunciation lilies, tied with white ribbons.

The organist, Frank A. McCarrell, played soft, low music while the church filled up with guests, and until the appearance of the bridal party, which was anticipated by the presence of the Rev. Frank W. Sneed, the pastor, before the pulpit. Shortly after, the organist played the march from "Lohengrin," and simultaneously with its first notes the groom and best man, Harry Walker of Atlanta, Ga., emerged from the vestry, while at the same time the bridal party commenced to walk up the aisle in the following order: Spencer L. Adams, Farlin H. Ball and John L. Harmon of Chicago, and W. Wallace Patterson, J. Rea Patterson and Graham C. Patterson of Pittsburgh; Miss Grace Taylor of Pittsburgh, Miss Lillian Farrell of Ansonia, Conn.; Miss Rebecca Whitehead of Chicago, and Miss Lucia Holliday of Indianapolis, Ind., with Miss Florence Howa Brown of Pittsburgh as maid of honor. The bride followed on the arm of her father.

The bridal party took positions in the form of a crescent before the pulpit and facing the audience, directly behind the minister, while the bride and groom stood with their backs to the congregation. The arrangement was very pretty, and gave everyone an opportunity to see the bridal party.

The bride's gown was of heavy white satin, trimmed with rose point lace and chiffon. The skirt was plain with a long, rounded court train. The sleeves were of tucked chiffon. She wore a full veil of tulle with a short veil over her face, and they were caught up with chiffon and lilies of the valley. She wore a diamond crescent, the gift of the groom.

The maid of honor and the bridesmaids all wore white mull with a sash of pale pink chiffon. The maid of honor was entirely in white. The bouquets were all shower bouquets, the maid of honor carrying pink roses and the bridesmaids sweet peas. The ladies wore beautiful souvenir pendants of amethysts and pearls, presented by the bride after the wedding rehearsal on Monday evening.

The bride was given away by her father, and at the close of the service two ushers stepped forward and opened the floral gate of the opposite aisle from that which they had entered, and the bridal party left the church, reversing the order of procession in which they entered.

A reception followed at the residence of the parents of the bride, No. 5629 Rippey street, which was attended only by the bridal party and the immediate relatives of the bride and groom. Here again the decorations were most elaborate and in perfect taste. The reception parlor was decorated in pink; the regular dining room in yellow, and the porches, where supper was also served at numerous small tables, were in pink. The mantels in every room were banked high with tropical plants, and flowers were seen in great abundance everywhere.

Oneil-Lyle.

One of the prettiest suburban weddings of the month took place last night at "Lawnfield," the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Palmer O'Neil, in Brading avenue, Ben Avon, when their daughter, Miss Estelle Palmer O'Neil, was married to Dr. George Howard Lyle, also of Ben Avon. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. W. H. McMillan, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church, Allegheny, at 8 o'clock. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Virginia Mason O'Neil and a sister of the groom, Miss Alice Lyle. The bridal party was placed in the bay window of the reception room, which was decorated in green and white, and during the service an orchestra, in the parlor across the hall, played the "Angel Serenade."

The bride wore a beautiful gown of Liberty silk made with a train and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Her veil, which is one of the family heirlooms, having been worn by the bride's mother, was caught in a brooch of diamonds and pearls, the gift of the groom. The bridesmaids wore white mousseline de soie, with valencia lace trimmings, green sashes and carried bouquets of maidenhair ferns and evanonia. The best man was William Huston Thompson, of Pittsburgh, and the ushers were the bride's two brothers-in-law, John Dickson Hilands of Ben Avon, and Clyde Bowman Furst of New York.

Following the ceremony a large reception was held. The house was decorated in green and white, except in the dining room where pink was introduced and the spacious grounds of the O'Neil homestead were brilliant with Chinese lanterns. Following the wedding the young couple departed on a wedding tour, and on their return will make their home in Ben Avon during the summer months, taking up their residence in Pittsburgh in the early fall.

Thompson-Rule.

One of the most important and brilliant of the June weddings in Washington, Pa., was that of Miss Cora Mae Thompson, daughter of Dr. William Reed Thompson, and Prof. James Noble Rule, both of Washington. The marriage ceremony was performed at 7:30 o'clock last evening in the Second Presbyterian church, by the Rev. J. C. Ely, D. D., of Danville, Ky., an uncle of the bride, assisted by the Rev. James H. Snowden, D. D., pastor of the church. The church was handsomely and profusely decorated for the occasion. The bridal party consisted of Miss Madeline Romaine LeMoyne, maid of honor; Miss Ina Duncan, bridesmaid and little Miss Eleanor Miller, flower girl. The best man was Arthur A. Hayes of Chicago, a college friend of the groom. The ushers were James M. Potter of Brilliant, O.; Percy Rule, a brother of the groom and William Johnston and Frank Bell of Washington. The bride, Miss Thompson, was gowned in white embroidered chiffon made over white taffeta. She wore a long bridal veil of white tulle and carried orange blossoms. Miss LeMoyne, maid of honor, wore a white mousseline gown made over pink taffeta. Miss Duncan, the bridesmaid, was gowned in pink crepe velour, made over pink taffeta. Both Miss Duncan and Miss LeMoyne carried large bouquets of roses. Immediately after the ceremony, the wedding party and the immediate relatives were entertained at a small reception at the home of the bride's parents in East Wheeling street. Mr. and Mrs. Rule left on an evening train for the west and will be away for several weeks. They will live in Washington on their return.

Mrs. J. T. Nevin Reception.

The home of Mrs. Joseph T. Nevin, in Walnut street, Sewickley, was open for two very delightful entertainments yesterday. From 3 until 5 o'clock in the afternoon a reception was held and cards were played in the evening. About 250 guests were present, both the valley and city being represented. The decorations were entirely of yellow and white daisies in honor of the St. Margaret school girls, who are visiting Miss Jane Blair in the valley and were present at both affairs. In receiving, Mrs. Nevin was delightfully assisted by Mrs. John D. Nevin of East End, Mrs. John A. Ross, Edgewood City, the Misses Hannah and Addie Nevin, Miss Bessie Cunningham, Mrs. W. W. Cunningham, Mrs. H. L. Howard Blair, Miss Jane Blair and her house guests, Miss Margaret Leroy of Wissahickon Heights, Miss Edna Brooks of Germantown, Miss Elizabeth Nauman of Lancaster, Miss Louise Kingsley and Miss Marion Robbins of Buffalo. The card party in the evening was in honor of Miss Blair and her guests, the younger people of the valley being in attendance. Six-hand euchre was the game, 20 tables being used. Dainty prizes were awarded the winners by the hostess.

McAllister—Howie.

The Eighth Street Reformed Presbyterian church was crowded last evening with friends of Miss Vida McAllister, daughter of the pastor, Dr. David McAllister, to witness her marriage to the Rev. W. D. Howie, of the class of 1902, United Presbyterian seminary. Dr. Park of Allegheny and the Rev. Joseph Hunter of the Tenth Pennsylvania regiment, assisted the pastor in the ceremony. Miss McAteer of Crafton acted as maid of honor, and Miss Sarah Hunter, niece of the bride, as flower girl. Mr. D. McAllister, Jr., assisted the groom. The bride wore a gown of white silk point de esprit and a lace bridal veil. She carried white roses. Her maid of honor wore white mousseline and carried daisies. The Rev. Mr. Howie received a call to the United Presbyterian church of Benkleman, Neb., for which city the couple left immediately after the ceremony.

Goehring-Weinman.

Last evening at 8 o'clock Miss Cora Goehring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis S. Goehring, and Jacob Weinman, Jr., were married at the residence of the bride's parents, No. 724 Wallace avenue, Wilkinsburg. The Rev. B. E. P. Prugh of West Newton, uncle of the bride, officiated. The bride was gowned in white batiste over white taffeta. The shower bouquet was of white roses. The elaborate supper and reception followed the marriage ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Weinman left for the seashore. They will be at home to their friends in an elegant new home in South avenue, Wilkinsburg, after September 1.

Epworth League Social.

Members of the social committee of the Mercy and Help department of the Buena Vista Street Methodist Episcopal church, Epworth league, have arranged to give an old-time social on Thursday evening, in the lecture room. It promises to be quite unique, inasmuch as the guests are requested to wear the costumes of 40 years ago for the reason that it is to be given in honor of the boys and girls of that period, by the boys and girls who will be the old folk 40 years hence.

Richards—Grover.

Miss Harriet Norris Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Richards of Sewickley, will be married to Chester Alden Grover on Thursday evening, June 26, at 8:30 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richards, in the presence of a few intimate friends and relatives. The ceremony will be followed by a large reception. Owing to an unavoidable delay the invitations have not yet been issued but it is expected that they will be mailed today.

Reception to Mrs. W. E. Morrow.

Mrs. William Everett Morrow of Duluth, Minn., wife of the inspector of ores at that point for the United States Steel Corporation, will be the guest of honor on Friday afternoon at a reception to be given at the home of Mrs. Stevenson, wife of Attorney A. B. Stevenson of Parker avenue, Braddock. Mrs. C. A. Stokes and Mrs. Alfred W. Schooley will assist Mrs. Stevenson in receiving, from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Dances at Kennywood.

The Qui Vive club of Wilkinsburg, which last winter gave such an enjoyable series of dances, has issued cards for three dances to be given during the summer at Kennywood park. The dates announced are July 10, August 28 and September 23. Special cars will be provided to carry the club to and from the park.

McDowell—Tyler.

The wedding of Miss Annette Ray McDowell of New Castle and Charles A. Tyler of this city is announced for tomorrow evening, at the residence of Mrs. Charles H. Craig, Perrysville avenue, Allegheny. Mr. and Mrs. Tyler, after an extended wedding tour, will reside in Bates street, Oakland.

Notes of Society.

The Keystone bicycle club held its first summer dance of the season at Kennywood park last evening.

Mrs. Charles William Brown of Academy avenue, Sewickley, has issued cards for a large reception on next Tuesday afternoon, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

The first annual lawn fete of Wilkinsburg council, No. 38, Knights of Pythias, is to be held on the lawn of the First ward school, next Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. John H. Armstrong of Winebiddle avenue has issued invitations for a birthday party, Saturday afternoon, in honor of her little daughter, Miss Mary Armstrong.

A recital under the direction of Prof. Byron W. Klag will be given at the Allegheny Carnegie hall on Friday evening, the proceeds to be for the benefit of the G. A. R. Home for Aged Women.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Courtney of Sheffield street, Allegheny, have issued cards announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Lillian Courtney, to John B. C. Wheeler of Avalon, on June 10. Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler will be at home Fridays after July 10, at No. 406 Forrest avenue, Avalon.

Miss Grace Boreo, daughter of John M. Boreo of the East End, will be married this evening to Stanley M. Long. The ceremony, which will be performed by Rev. Dr. L. Ferris of Calvary Episcopal church, will be followed by an informal supper and reception at the home of the parents of the bride.

Western Pennsylvania was well represented in the graduating class at Wellesley college on Monday, no less than four young ladies being thus honored. They are Miss Myra May Sneath, Pittsburgh; Miss Florence Estelle Petrie of Ingram, Miss Lucy Boardman Moody of Beaver and Miss Maud Ray Flemming of Oil City.

Mrs. George Kramer of Aiken avenue has decided upon the unique idea of introducing a new form of society entertainment at the Duquesne Garden, by giving a large card party there this afternoon. Ping-pong was introduced with the advent of the summer opera and it has met with great success. The idea of having large card parties in the handsome rooms during the afternoons, is likely to be followed by other society matrons.

HAY GETS SERIOUS NEWS FROM CARACAS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—The state department today received a cable dispatch from United States Minister Bowen at Caracas. The officials declined to make public the text of the dispatch, but it is understood that it makes out a critical state of affairs arising from the present revolutionary movement.

The navy department stands ready to meet almost any exigency which may arise in Venezuela. The Cincinnati and the Topeka are at La Guayra and the gunboat Marietta is en route to San Juan, Porto Rico.

A report of an important development in Venezuela which, if borne out, undoubtedly will make a great change in the state of affairs there, has been received here from an unofficial source in the republic. It is said Venezuela has adjusted her relations with Colombia as to allow of the complete withdrawal of the government's force of about 8,000 men from the Colombian border, and that this army now can be rushed to the relief of President Castro at Caracas.

Late mail advices received here say Gen. Matos, the revolutionary leader, has divided his forces and is approaching Caracas from the rear and from both east and west.

ZEMA-CURA CURED ME OF ECZEMA AFTER EVERYTHING ELSE HAD FAILED.

"Dear Dr. Harris—

"I should like to say something in regard to your ZEMA-CURA. I had eczema for four or five years and had, I think, tried every medicine on the market, but received little benefit until I began the use of Zema-Cura. I can indorse it in the highest terms, in fact, I think it by far the best medicine on the market for any kind of skin disease. It cures where others fail. I have known a number of people besides myself who have been cured by your medicine. If any one cares to address me in regard to my case, I will gladly answer."

E. E. McKAY, Attorney-at-Law,
Louisville, Ky.

ZEMA-CURA

is a liquid, applied externally. It has non of the disagreeable features of a salve or ointment. It is the only CURE of skin diseases yet discovered. Zema-Cura will positively cure Eczema, Acne, Heat Herpes, Lupus, Erysipelas, Urticaria (Nettle Rash), Barber's Itch, Mosquito Bites Blackheads, Pimples and Blotches on the face, Hives, Burns, Cuts, or any itching condition of the skin or scalp. All druggists sell it. 50 cents and $1.00

Remember! ZEMA-CURA is not one of the many "patent medicines" of the day. It is a doctor's prescription—a scientific compound that has been used for years by its discoverer, Dr. Harris, in daily practice. It has restored thousands of sufferers from torturing skin diseases to perfect health.

☞ If you will write to-day Dr. Harris will advise you fully and carefully regarding your case, and charge you absolutely nothing.

Address: Dr. M. M. HARRIS, The Zema-Cura Co., No. 3 West 22nd Street, New York City.

During the treatment of all skin diseases with ZEMA-CURA, externally, U-AH-MA, Dr. Harris' Blood Purifier, taken internally, will be found of great benefit. By acting on the excretory glands U-AH-MA eliminates the poison virus, and hastens and completes the cure. $1.00. Druggists, or express prepaid.

FIRST BREAK IN THE RANKS OF STRIKERS

Few Pump Runners Return to Work in the Collieries at Nanticoke.

MITCHELL NOT WORRIED

Says Not Enough Have Left the Union to Make Any Impression--Publication of Unfair List Threatens to Develop Criminal Cases.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 24.—The Susquehanna Coal Company, controlled by the Pennsylvania railroad, scored a partial victory today when it succeeded in getting some engineers, firemen and pump runners to return to its collieries at Nanticoke. The men held a secret meeting yesterday and most of them decided to return. The exact number who went to work is not known, because the company officials will not discuss the matter, but it is believed to be about 15.

President Mitchell had nothing to say regarding the slight defection beyond that it would have no influence on the other men.

John Fallon, a member of the district board, spent almost the entire day at Nanticoke, and tonight District President Nicolls arrived here and held a conference with President Mitchell. Later in the night he went to Nanticoke. There will be a meeting of the night shift of engineers, firemen and pump runners at that place tomorrow, which President Nicholls will attend. Outside of the Nanticoke move there were no developments in this valley.

SCRANTON, PA., June 24.—Litigation to the extent of possibly 300 prosecutions for criminal libel and as many more suits for damages will result from the posting of the first of the "unfair" lists, which strike headquarters in Wilkesbarre directed the local unions to prepare and publish.

Yesterday morning the walls if the Kingston region were plastered with posters containing the names of 64 men who refused to join the strike and foe milk men who continued to sell these me milk after being warned by the strikers to refrain from so doing. The poster is headed "Unfair List, U. M. W. of A.," and at the bottom appear the names of the five men comprising the committee which presumably compiled and published he list.

Agents secured copies of the lit and forwarded them to officers of th companies. At one of these offices n this city the statement was made that the companies will cause their respective "listed" employes to bring suits gainst the committee and all others whom the company's detectives can connect with preparation and publication of theposter.

"BURLY BILL" MAKES A JAIL-BREAKING RECORD

Arrested at Picnic of Homesteaders for Picking Pockets--Has Broken Out of Captivity Twice

"Burly Bill," as he is known to the Pittsburgh police, is making a record as a jail breaker. His right name is said to be William Jones. Other aliases are "Tom" Cunningham and Thomas Cornelius. His specialty is picking pockets. On June 18, the day the business men of Homestead held their annual picnic at Chester, he was one of the star operators at the outing. Over two score of pockets were "touched" by thieves that day. "Burly Bill" was the only one caught and he has escaped twice since then. He is over in Ohio somewhere now. The sheriff of Hancock county, W. Va., and several assistants are after him.

"Burly Bill" was arrested by detective J. E. Reeves of the Panhandle allroad's force, who was sent with the Homestead picnickers to suppress any idlesirable people who might want to make trouble on the train. He knew of "Bill's" specialty and kept his eye on him. Preently he was able to catch him red-haned, as it were—that is, "Bill's" hand was in another man's pocket. "Bill" was picked up to the calaboose at Chester. When Reeves called for him the next morning it was learned that he had broken out and crossed the river into Ohio. The scent was still warm and a few hors later "Bill" was caught and informally escorted back to West Virginia. This time they put him in the jail at New Cumberland, the county seat of Hancock county. The Hancock county authoritis lost no time in acting. With the assstance of Detective Reeves an indictment was promptly returned and yesterday the pickpocket was to have had hi trial. He was in jail early in the morning when breakfast was served. He was not there when wanted for court. Aftereating his breakfast he took an iron br he had wrenched off his cot, and, using it as a lever, twisted the padlock of his cell door.

Going to the river bank "Burly Bill" took the only skiff the ferryman had and made his way to Ohio again. At last accounts the officers were still after him.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., June 24.—The trial of "Mother" Jones and 11 other "agitators," accused of violating an injunction of the federal court, was begun today. Most of the time was taken up by one witness, who said "Mother" Jones advised miners to pay no attention to injunctions or to courts. Th trial will probably last all week.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., June 24.—(Special)—Today Judge Gutrie of the circuit court, on application of the Otto Marmet Coal Company of Raymond City, granted an injunction again C. W. Purcell, Ben Davis and Frank Freeman of the United Mine Workers, prohibiting their interference with the men who desire to work in the Marmet company's mines.

First Seashore Excursion of the Season Via Pennsylvania Railroad will leave Union station, Pittsburgh, at 8:35 a. m. Thursday, June 26, with through parlor cars and day coaches to Atlantic City without change via Delaware river bridge. Through sleeping cars attached to train leaving Pittsburgh at 7:10 p. m. on above date. Due p. m. to Philadelphia only.

Rate, $10.00; tickets good for 16 days.

Coal Is Going Higher.

The probability of the bituminous miners striking is causing the price of coal to advance. Why worry about coal when you can buy Pittsburgh cheaper? The ideal fuel for summer cooking. You don't heat up the whole house when you cook a meal. No dust, smoke or ashes. The Philadelphia Company is now making free service connections and setting meter free of charge to non-consumers. Ask at 810 Wood street.

LIVELY DEMAND COVERING 1903 IN IRON TRADE

It Is Stimulated by Contracts Concluded by the Steel Combine.

LATE BUYERS IN TROUBLE

The Corporation Still Negotiating for the Second Half of Next Year, Not Having Agreed on Price--Colorado Gossip.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, June 24.—The most interesting feature of the pig iron situation just now is the heavy demand for 1903 delivery. This demand, obviously, has been stimulated greatly by the action of the United States Steel Corporation, as well as by the companies that follow its lead, in opening books at such an early date for next year's business. It is estimated that the new orders already placed for pig iron to be delivered in the first half of next year, together with the tonnage that will have to go over from this year into 1903, aggregate between 1,500,000 and 2,000,000 tons.

Belated buyers find it quite as difficult to get iron for delivery this coming autumn as it is to get iron for immediate delivery. The eastern situation shows no improvement and, consequently, the demand for foreign iron is steadily increasing. This is especially true as regards Scotch foundry iron. More foundries are now closed for want of pig iron than at any previous time since the first of the year.

The United States Steel Corporation has not yet placed its order for iron to be delivered in the second half of 1903, owing to the failure thus far to agree on a price with the Bessemer association. Negotiations, however, are still in progress. In spite of the extraordinary demand for pig iron and the high prices now prevailing furnace interests in the east have been disappointed in their profits on operations. Evidence of this is found in the action of the Empire Steel Company, which has had to abandon its intention to restore dividends to a 6 per cent basis, and which yesterday declared a semi-annual dividend of only 1½ per cent.

Colorado Company Gossip.

If the stories in connection with Colorado Fuel & Iron have any basis in fact tomorrow's meetings of the directors probably will be one of the most interesting in the history of the company. A friend of President Osgood said:

"Mr. Osgood has never been short of Colorado Fuel & Iron. A similar report was circulated several months ago and promptly denied. The truth of the matter is that there is too much manipulation going on in the stock of the company, and the interests back of the movement do not hesitate to put out any kind of a story to further their ends. As to whether or not a dividend will be declared at tomorrow's meeting, I am unable to say. I do not believe the directors have reached any decision in this matter as yet, and will not do so until they get together and talk the matter over. It is not likely that the meeting will be harmonious. I do not believe that the Gates party is in control of the company, but it seems to me that the suspension of dividends until the company begins to receive some compensation from the new plants now building would be the proper policy to pursue."

The statement was made today that some sweeping changes in the management of the Colorado company would take place before the close of the current year, in the event of the Gates party securing the upper hand.

Steel Combine's Coming Meeting.

A representative of the United States Steel Corporation today said that nothing outside of the declaration of the regular dividends on the preferred and common stocks, and the issuance of the quarterly report of the company, would be done at the meeting next Tuesday. He added that the increased earnings of the company are sufficient proof that there is no basis in the event, of an unfavorable decision by the courts on the stock conversion proposition. It is said that the earnings for June may exceed those for April. The current month will be the banner month in point of earnings from transportation.

George A. Fuller Co.'s Competitor.

The General Building & Construction Company, which, it is said, will be a competitor of the $75,000,000 George A. Fuller Company in the matter of construction work has been organized with the election of the following directors: William T. Havemeyer, Cornelius Vanderbilt, William Garrignes, William Merritt, Alexander Porter and Henry R. Hoyt. Cornelius Vanderbilt is a director of the $40,000,000 Lackawanna Steel Company, which will be the largest competitor of the United States Steel Corporation in the matter of structural material when its plants now building near Buffalo are completed.

The capital stock of the General Building & Construction Company is $2,500,000, which has been allotted at par. The stock is held largely in New York, although a small percentage of the issue has been allotted to Boston. The company already has a large amount of work under contract, including a 20-story building under construction at the corner of Fifth avenue and Forty-first street.

Empire Company's Finances.

The semi-annual meeting of the Empire Steel & Iron Company was held yesterday, at which a semi-annual dividend of 1½ per cent was declared on the preferred stock. The statement submitted at the meeting showed that the net earnings of the company for the first six months of the current year were $224,502, which are equivalent to 6 per cent a year on the preferred stock and 12 per cent on the common stock. In January of last year, it will be remembered, the dividend was temporarily reduced from 6 to 3 per cent a year. E. W. HARDEN.

NEWS FROM THE MINES

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, June 24.—The general activity in lode mining, as well as the uniform good season in the placer districts of California, indicate a large gain in the state's product of gold this year. Several producers are coming to the front at Goldstone, in the Lamp mine in the Providence mountains, San Bernardino county, and some rich discoveries are reported north of Bodaway.

Dredging and hydraulic work are very active in Siskiyou, and the quartz mills in the districts tributary to Yreka are running night and day.

Ore, assaying $200 gold to the ton has been found in the Nevada Chief at Pine Grove, Nev. The strike is in the tunnel at a depth of 600 feet.

Joplin's output last week was 9,840,200 pounds of zinc ore valued at $156,651, and 976,220 pounds of lead valued at $22,130. The total product for the 25 weeks of the year amounted to 224,796,200 pounds of zinc ore, worth $3,550,138, and 31,117,600 pounds lead, worth $642,457; total value, $4,173,570. Lead sold at $46 last week, an advance of $1 50 a ton, and the top price of zinc was $63.

A 100-ton cyanide plant is to be erected at the Golden Crest mine, Spruce gulch, near Deadwood, S. D. The Globe Company will soon begin the installation of a stamp mill at Nahant.

Salt Lake reports that the crosscut in the new channel of gold-bearing ore in the Con. Mercur is now in 54 feet, the entire ore body showing more than $7 a ton. All the conditions of the mine favor an increased output. The net value of the new channel are estimated at $1,000,000.

The Cripple Creek Company, operating on the Hull City placer at Cripple Creek, is outputting from 10 to 15 tons a day averaging $40 a ton. The best part of the ore comes from the 300-foot level.

The Waldorf properties in the East Argentine district, Colo., are reported making a fine showing, development having largely increased the ore reserves. The last run of the Paymaster shows from 12 to 18 inches of solid ore in the breast. The ore chute in the Commonwealth continues strong and regular in the drift, which now shows 75 inches of solid ore.

Seattle advices tell of active work on the Yoyukuk, with prospects of a big yield of gold for the season. New creeks are showing up well. Gold Creek appears to be making the best record, with Hammond creek next.

The Annie Laurie at Gold mountain, Utah, is outputting 7,500 tons of ore a month, out of which a net profit of $40,000 is being made. This mine is owned largely in Saxonburg, Pa.

A Nevada correspondent writes that a smelter will be erected at Tonopah by the American Smelting and Refining Company. Another Southern Pacific shaft subsidy raise, which will give the plants in Salt Lake valley an even chance with the San Francisco reduction works. It is believed that the Tonopah Mining Company, leading officials of which have been studying the situation during the past fortnight, will decide in favor of erecting a plant to treat its own ores, as well as to do custom work for the district.

The Metal Market.

The London market for tin was £1 7s 6d lower today, with spot closing at £125 2s 6d and futures at £121 2s 6d. Prices in the local market under this influence were marked off about 1-25 cent a pound at 28.50@28.75. Copper was dull and nominal at New York, with standard, spot to August, at $11 50@11 80; lake, $12 00@12 12½; electrolytic, $11 80@12 12½, and casting, $11 50@12 00. At London the same metal declined 5s, with spot at £55 5s and futures at £53 10s. Lead was steady and unchanged here at 4.35c and at London at £11 2s 6d. Spelter ruled dull and nominal locally at 4.75c, but the London market also remaining as last quoted at £18 12s 6d. No departure was made from former rates for iron at home, the tone showing steadiness, but free features. Warrants were nominal: No. 1 foundry northern, $21 00@22 00; No. 2 foundry northern, $20 50@21 50; No. 1 foundry southern, $20 50@21 50; No. 1 foundry southern soft, $20 50@21 50. The English market's were somewhat lower. Glasgow closed at 54s 7d and Middlesboro at 49s 4½d.

The Wool Market.

BOSTON, June 24.—Seldom has the wool market been in as strong a position late in June as at the present time. The clip of 1902 is being bought up by the trade at strong prices. There has been good business in territory grades, over half a million pounds being passed up in two transactions, besides numerous small sales. Old wools are firm; strictly fine, 48@50c; clean, fine and fine medium, 45@47c; staple, 50@55c; medium, 30@44c. Texas wools firm, largely growing out of the firm position of fine wools. The clip has been bought up by prominent dealers with very high prices paid compared with old wools at the time buying began. But buyers are very confident. Fall cleaned basis, 44@46c; 12 months, 50@52c; six to eight months, spring, 40@43c. Fine washed fleeces are exceedingly firm, with old wools sold out of sight. The market is nominally quoted at: Ohio and Pennsylvania XXX pointing, 50@52c; XX and above, 49@27c; X, 48@50c; Michigan X, 22@24c.

Old delaine wools are all practically sold out and will cost higher for new. Ohio fine delaine, 32@33c; Michigan, 31@32c; fine unwashed combing, 26½@27c; No. 2, 25@27c; coarse, 23@25c. In Michigan the market is very strong, with 31c being paid for fine and 30c for medium.

King's Illness Affects Wall Street

PRICES SWING DOWNWARD ON LONDON NEWS

The Guardians of the Market Quickly Come Forward With Buying Orders.

MEANS GOLD SHIPMENTS

Expected That the First Will Go Abroad on Thursday's Steamer, as Credits Are Withdrawn—Nanticoke Reports Help Reading Prices.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, June 24.—The official announcement of the serious illness of the king of England and the sudden decision to postpone the coronation indefinitely was an inevitable shock to the securities markets of the world. The New York stock market, however, met the shock with great equanimity, and the vigorous supporting orders placed in the market by the speculative parties which have constituted themselves the guardians of the market soon checked the downward swing of prices with which the trading began. London was quite an active seller at the higher level maintained here, but this selling was well absorbed and pretty general recoveries effected within the first hour of trading. With the unfavorable effect of the English news thus apparently overcome, it is difficult to say how far the normal condition of the market was restored, and the subsequent evidences of weakness might be due to independent causes.

Whole List Unsettled.

Undoubtedly the considerable liquidation in Amalgamated Copper and Colorado Fuel had an unsettling effect on the whole list. This selling clearly was due to causes quite independent of the life or death of the king of England. Maneuvers by a professional bear party were added to other causes for the weakness of these stocks. Apprehensions of an unfavorable turn in the copper trade helped the weakness of Amalgamated Copper, and the internal dissension over dividend policy aggravated the weakness of Colorado Fuel. These stocks rallied smartly and were not much affected by the final weakness of the market. Renewed approbation of the outcome of King Edward's illness accompanied the late reaction, following the favorable reports of the operation which helped to rally the market, but a more effective influence grew out of the pendency of gold exports, which seemed to affect the market more seriously than did the direct pressure of stock for sale.

Causes Withdrawal of Credit.

The exchange market has been moving pretty conclusively toward the gold export point, but it has been expected that the actual movement would probably be deferred until July. Today's event, however, precipitated a withdrawal of credits from London and transferred that pressure from London to New York. As a consequence it is generally expected that gold will go out by Thursday's steamer or on Saturday of this week. The effect upon the expanded credits in this market and the narrow reserve resources is awaited with same anxiety. The weekly crop bulletin and the backward conditions of the corn crop indicated were depressing factors in the late dealings. The strength of Reading was accompanied by reports of breaks in the ranks of the strikers at Nanticoke, Pa. The market closed dull and heavy.

Some of the speculative bonds were weak in sympathy with stocks, but strength at other points made the market irregular. Total sales, par value, $3,375,000. United States bonds were all unchanged at the last call.

WALL STREET FEATURES.

Total sales of the day, 506,700 shares; par value, $3,375,000.

The announcement of the serious illness of King Edward causes a fall in stocks all over the world, but the strong speculators in Wall street gave buying orders which held prices fairly firm.

London became heavy sellers of Americans.

The stoppage of credits is expected to cause gold shipments by Thursday's steamers.

Some anxiety is felt over the expanded credits and narrow reserves.

The corn crop report acted as a repressive influence.

STEEL SHARES DECLINED

King Edward's Illness Cast a Damper Over the Market—National Fire Proofing Co. Issues and Philadelphia Co. Shares Declined.

The market on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday was dull almost to stagnation, and with few exceptions the final prices were at losses from Monday. Doubtless much of this was due to the serious illness of King Edward, which caused a break in the London market that was more or less reflected in Wall street and thence in Pittsburgh. Rumors of his death came near the close, but were officially denied, leaving the market, however, hardly dull and barely steady. The feature of the day was again in American Window Glass common, which sold nearly 1,800 shares at 64@64¼, the close being quite firm at 64¼ sales and bid, a gain of ½ for the day. The preferred was very dull but firm at 92 sales and bid, small lot only changing hands. The steel shares were quieter than they have been in some time, none of the issues selling as much as 200 shares. Crucible common closed very dull and barely steady at 22, a loss of ¼, while the preferred was in the same condition at 85½, a loss of ½. United States Steel common lost ¼ at 37⅝ and the preferred ⅝ at 89, the closing figures in both cases, however, being paid for small lots. In the general list National Fire Proofing issues lost ½ and ¼ respectively on the common and preferred stocks. River Coal common did not sell and the preferred went off ½ to 41½ for a small lot no attention being paid to the declaration of the regular 3½ per cent semi-annual dividend. Pittsburgh Coal shares were quiet but a shade firmer and fractionally higher, the common closing at 25⅜ and the preferred at 90⅜. Philadelphia Company shares each lost ¼ on small dealings, the common at 49½ and the preferred at 48. There was no trading in Brewing Company shares, though the common offered ½ lower at 27⅝, the preferred remaining unchanged at 46½ bid and 46¾ asked. In the banking group the only advance was in First National of Allegheny, which made a new high record by going up $7 to $142. Exchange National lost 3½ at 98¼. Federal National ⅞ at 135. Republic National $11 at 114 and Allegheny Trust and United Realty Trust $2 each, the former at 152 and the latter at 130. The price for the United Realty Trust Company is $5 below the figure paid for it by the original subscribers. Fort Pitt Natural Gas also lost $2 at 55 for 200 shares, this being the largest single trade in the stock in months. Bonds were very dull and featureless.

Financial Drift.

$225,000 in gold has been received from the Klondike.

Near the close 20 Westinghouse Airbrake offered at 185.

The last sale of the day was 5 Federal National bank at 135.

The General Electric Company has applied to the New York stock exchange to list $16,812,000 additional stock.

Will Pyfe has been elected a director of the Diamond National bank.

Since last Friday the New York banks have lost $977,600 to the subtreasury.

The initial sales of the day were in American Window Glass common at 63¾.

Federal National bank stock has been listed on the Pittsburgh stock exchange.

Preston, Watt & Shriver sold 50 Window Glass preferred near the opening to Miller.

The Columbia National bank of Pittsburgh has been approved as the reserve agent of the Peoples National bank of Delhi, Pa.

Western Illinois continued strong and there was further talk about the acquisition of the property either by the Illinois Central or the St. Louis Southwestern.

Near the opening R. C. Hall sold 200 Ft. Pitt Gas at 55 to N. W. Stevenson. This is the first trade in the stock since last December, when a small lot sold at M.

The franchise tax decision in Illinois increases the assessment on the Peoples Gas Company $4,000,000 over last year. The increase on the Chicago Union Traction assessment is $7,000,000.

In the first half hour only four stocks were traded in, American Window Glass common, Ft. Pitt Gas, Philadelphia Company preferred and Exchange National bank, and the sales were only 850 shares.

W. A. McCutcheon bought National Fire Proofing common at 31½ and sold the preferred at 49½. Mr. McCutcheon says he would not be surprised if the July dividend on the common was increased to one per cent.

The news of the serious illness of the king caused considerable arbitrage selling in New York and the whole market opened lower. Shortly after the opening, however, the declines ceased and the general list was dull but steady.

It seems that Washington operators are bearish on sugar, but the sugar trade people are bulling the stock on the theory that the American Sugar Company is in a very advantageous position and has greatly increased its earnings in the past year.

James E. Brown was yesterday elected a member of the Pittsburgh stock exchange. Mr. Brown succeeds Joseph G. Morris of the firm of Morris & Brown, who has been ill for months to visit the exchange and will occasionally represent the firm on the floor.

The buying of Texas Pacific Monday was attributed to the Gould and Rockefeller pool, which is operating in Missouri Pacific, the purchases advancing the stock more than a point. The talk is that under the plan developing for a greater Missouri Pacific system, Texas Pacific stock is to be retired.

As Amalgamated Copper apparently its dividend periods the bears always take advantage of the uncertainty, start rumors, hammer the price and generally succeed in shaking out enough stock to cover with. I think it a purchase here for a long pull. I am a bull on it. The settlement of the trade war is in sight.—Randolph.

Checks in payment for the stock of the Mechanics National bank, which has been turned in under the proposed sale at $140 a share to the First National bank, will be sent out today. Out of the 10,000 shares of the Mechanics National bank $1,860 have assented, which calls for $1,860,000. This assures the absorption by the First National.

The Sharon National bank has been absorbed by the Sharon Steel Hoop Company, which was recently organized with a capital of $300,000, for a price said to be about $260,000. W. A. Roberts is president of the company, Samuel McClure first vice president, Peter Dick second vice president and I. C. Moore secretary and treasurer.

A. M. Irwin, cashier of the Citizens National bank, has been elected treasurer of the United Realty Trust Company to succeed H. C. Hayes. Mr. Irwin has been connected with the Citizens National bank for seven years and prior to his connection with this bank was identified with the First National bank of Pittsburgh. Mr. Irwin will assume the active duties of his position July 1.

A well posted sugar man figures that the American Sugar Refining Company went ahead about $12,000,000 last year. He says that the company has been in no hurry to pay what it had, but does not now loan it directly as formerly. He understands that the company has from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 now loaned out through New York trust companies. If the money itself there would be a direct tax upon it. A better return is secured by loaning it through the trust company.

A. C. P. and Colorado Fuel & Iron were again exceptional on weak days, only explanation for the decline in the former is the renewed talk of over production of the metal. In fuel serious doubts about the dividend due today were expressed. In well-informed quarters it is thought the New York directors will declare the dividend and by some it is believed that the entire move has been engineered by the Gates interest for the purpose of acquiring the stock they sold on the rise.

Manufacturers Light & Heat securities were listed on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday. The company's application shows that the capital is $5,000,000, the number of shares being 50,000 of $50 par value. The surplus March 31, 1902, was $1,257,071, while the funded debt (first mortgage bonds) was $508,000 and the floating debt was $36,995.85. The cash on hand totaled $208,920.46, and accounts and bills receivable amounted to $193,741.81. The bond issue authorized is $750,000, of which $508,000 is outstanding, $50,000 being due annually from January 1, 1901, to January 1, 1915. From January 1, 1900, to April 1, 1902, dividends of 1½ per cent quarterly were paid, and in April, 1902, a regular quarterly dividend of 1½, and an extra dividend of 1½ per cent was paid. The company is a consolidation of the Manufacturers Natural Gas Company, the Bellevue & Clearfield Natural Gas & Heat Company of Pittsburgh and the Peoples Light & Heat Co. of Washington, the consolidation having been approved by the governor November 28, 1899. Since then the company has acquired all the property and outstanding stock of the Wayneburg Natural Gas Company and the Citizens Natural Gas Company of Waynesburg.

THE TICKET WILL BE COMPLETED TODAY

Citizens Sub-Committee Will Meet to Consider the Fifth District Objections.

At the meeting of the sub-committee of 10 appointed from the members of the Citizens general committee, to be held at Stalwart Republican headquarters this afternoon, it will be definitely determined whether or not the nomination of Attorney Ralph M. Strawbridge for the legislature in the Fifth district will stand. The protest of the Democratic committee will be considered more fully and in case Mr. Strawbridge is forced off the ticket his successor will be immediately named. J. E. Powell of Allegheny is almost sure to become the candidate on the fusion ticket for the legislature in the Second legislative district. The committee of the Citizens appointed to select a candidate in place of John H. Trimble will meet at Citizens headquarters this afternoon and there will not be a dissenting voice against Mr. Powell's candidacy. This latter nomination will complete the fusion ticket.

Trouble is already said to be brewing between the Citizens and Democrats over the nomination for legislature in the Allegheny county districts. The Democrats appear to be very anxious to pledge the candidates to support Col. James M. Guffey for United States senator, while it was stated yesterday that the Citizens will insist that the candidates be pledged to Boies Penrose.

Several hundred enthusiastic Democrats of Allegheny county left for Erie to be present at the state convention. Most of the party were Guffarie boomers. The party was in charge of George H. Stengel, Thomas B. Aleorn and George S. Fleming. James S. McKee, manager of the Citizens party in the Nineteenth ward, also accompanied the party. The rooters were large button pictures of Guffarie and carried red, white and blue canes.

Grain Manipulators Worry Chicago

ALL-DAY FLURRY KEPT PITS CLEAR OF OUTSIDERS

News of King's Illness Drove Prices Down All Around for a Time.

RUMOR OF TWO CORNERS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, June 24.—Markets on the board of trade were badly mixed today. Whereas yesterday everything had an upward trend, today each pit was at variance with the others. Manipulation seemed to be to blame for the irregularity of action and the nervousness of traders. Every pit had quick turns, now strong, now weak. The gossip that one elevator had July wheat in control, that the Gales crowd had July corn cornered, that July oats were being strongly advanced by manipulation and that the packing-house interests were artificially booming provisions, made the outsider fight shy of the pits and left most of the business to the professionals. After strained fluctuations July wheat closed a shade higher, July corn ⅞c higher, September corn ¼c up and July oats 1⅛c higher. Provisions closed 5c lower to 17½c higher.

Manipulative fears spread into wheat early in the day. A fairly favorable weather map, small business and lower prices in Liverpool because of the king's illness, and some small selling, weakened wheat a trifle at the opening. It was only a short time, however, until the talk of boosting July options by a leading elevator started an upward turn. Prices rallied fairly on the argument of depleted stocks and slow moving new wheat.

Opened a Shade Lower.

July options opened a shade to ⅛@¼c lower at 74½c to 74⅝c and dipped to 74c, rallied to 74¾c, dipped again and closed steady, a shade higher at 74⅝c. Local receipts were 38 cars, six of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 261 cars, making a total for the three points of 288 cars, against 145 last week and 429 a year ago. Primary receipts were 422,000 bushels, compared to 456,000 last year. Seaboard clearances in wheat and flour equaled 192,000. The seaboard reported two loads taken for export.

Corn was manipulated almost without the knowledge of the crowd in the pit. Early in the session September had a good spurt, partly on bad weather and partly on the boosting of July by the bull interests. Too much rain was reported in Iowa and Nebraska. On the upturn September was sold liberally and all options slid back. There was talk in the pit that one of the big packers who has short a heavy line of September corn was about to try a fight against the bull crowd in July.

Close Almost the Limit.

Less tended to keep outsiders away from the trade. July fluctuated widely between 67½@68c and closed strong and congested ⅛c higher at 67⅝c. This price was dangerously near the top figure during last week's big excitement. September sold between 59½@60⅛c with frequent fluctuations and closed firm ¼c up at 59⅝c. Receipts were liberal at 354 cars.

Oats were strong and ruled higher, but were not very active. There was some of the same buying that marked yesterday's upturn. The close was strong throughout the list. July sold between 40¼@41⅜c and closed 1⅛c up at the higher figure. Receipts were liberal at 261 cars.

Traders in provisions seemed to be at the mercy of the packers today. The big interests, which not long since seemed to be at outs, pulled together again in harmony and in spite of fair liquidation by outsiders to secure profits good advances were made. Ribs were unloaded in large amounts on the shorts and prices broke somewhat. Hogs touched the high price for the year—$7.92½, and a good demand followed the influence. July pork sold from $18.00 to $18.12½ and back to a strong close 15c up at $18.10; September pork was switched from $18.00 down to $18.35, back to $18.70 and closed 17½c up at $18.67½c. July lard closed 4c up at $10.67½, and July ribs, which were pushed down 20c to $10.35, closed 8c lower at $10.80.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Coffee—Futures opened steady with prices unchanged to five points lower and for most of the session ruled with nothing in the trading worthy of particular mention. Sentiment favored the bear side for a rule, being influenced by cables which gave general depression, and also by statistics not noting heavy primary receipts, increasing supplies at all points with no compensating improvement in consumptive demand. Closing prices were not over five points higher on June only to five points lower and the tone steady. Sales amounted to 24,750 bags, including July, 5.90@5.95c; September, 5.60@5.70c; March, 5.40c; April, 5.50c; May, 5.55@5.60c. Sugar—Raw weak; fair refining, 3½; centrifugal, 96 test, 3⅝c; molasses sugar, 2⅝c; refined steady.

LOTS IN STOWE TOWNSHIP SOLD FOR $25,000

Mrs. Sarah Aul Buys Plot of Vacant Property for Investment.

SALE IN WILKINS PLACE

Woodlawn Cemetery Will Cover 82 Acres—Braddock Schoolhouse to Cost $85,000—Building Permits Confined to Small Residences.

The Pittsburgh Real Estate exchange has disposed of a large block of vacant property in Stowe township for $25,000. The property is in two parcels and was purchased by Mrs. Sarah Aul for an investment. One parcel consists of 47 lots, in the Grandview plan, which were sold for $12,500. The lots measure 30x110 feet each and face in Cottage, Grandview, McDonald and Island avenues and Division street. The other part of the purchase is a tract of five acres lying along the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad. The price for this was $12,500 also. The two properties are situated at the end of the bridge leading to Neville island and are on the line of the proposed street car line going to Cornopolis. This road, which is likely to be built soon, will afford a direct road to Coraopolis, instead of the roundabout line by way of Neville island. The Grandview plan is coming into notice because of the plants of the American Steel & Wire Company and the Schoen Pressed Steel Car Company, and the property secured yesterday is to be improved with at least 10 good houses.

The Commonwealth Real Estate and Trust Company has made another good sale in its Wilkins Place plan of lots, the consideration being $25,000. By the deal an East End contractor, whose name is withheld, becomes the owner of a plot facing 300 feet in the east side of Braddock avenue and extending back a distance of 200 feet along Trevanion and Charleston avenues to Milton avenue, where it has a similar frontage. The property is situated in the Swissvale end of the plan and will be improved at once with four colonial brick houses costing $12,000 each.

The deed was registered yesterday conveying from Charles Donnelly to George W. Oliver a plot of frontage in the Twenty-second ward for $75,000. The plot is irregular in shape with extreme dimensions of about 250x150 feet. It faces in Dunmoyle street and adjoins the property of Mrs. Esther Gusky, and the Haskell, Cowan, Elder and Mary D. Oliver holdings.

Woodlawn Cemetery Project.

It develops that the Woodlawn cemetery project, announced yesterday, involves more money in the original investment than was at first reported. Instead of the site being a part of the Weinman farm and valued at $87,000, it appears that the property purchased consists of parts of six farms as follows: 20 acres of the Johnson farm, 24 acres of the F. J. Pierce farm, 11 acres from J. E. Riggs, six acres from Joseph Wright, eight acres of the Chellant farm and 16 acres of the Graham farm. This makes a total of 85 acres, and the site selection is said to be approximately $160,000. This land lies in the south side of Penn avenue, or the Greensburg pike, in Sterrett township. It is to be turned over to the cemetery association and developed, beautified and equipped at a cost considerably more than the price reported paid for the property. Statues, fountains, an elaborate system of walks and driveways and a granite receiving vault will be among the main features.

School House Will Cost $85,000

The Braddock board of education will meet Friday night to consider the proposition of bonding the town for $100,000 to build what will probably be the finest school house in the Monongahela valley. The bonds to be issued for an outlay of $85,000 for the building itself and $5,000 for the site and $10,000 for a floating school debt. The proposed building will be located at the corner of Talbot avenue and Eleventh street, in the First ward. It will be only two stories high but will measure 170x92 feet, and contain 17 school rooms. Besides these regular school rooms there will be a private office and principal's room, on the second floor, and four manual training rooms in the basement. The plans have been prepared by Architects E. J. Carlisle & Co. of this city.

Architect W. A. Thomas is receiving bids on a brick and stone residence to be built for Michael Sisk in Wilebiddle avenue, at a cost of $10,000.

New Buildings Projected.

More Pittsburgh building permits were issued yesterday than for several days, a number of them being for jobs that have been held up for some time. Harry G. Shirk was given permission to build five brick houses in Race street, Twenty-first ward, to cost $25,000, and Seitz Bros. got a permit for three brick houses in Forbes street, Sixth ward, to cost $12,000. Other permits granted were: to Thomas G. Jones, for a frame house at No. 552 Maple street, $3,100; to the Dravo Contracting Company, for a concrete warehouse on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, near South Twenty-first street, Twenty-fifth ward, $3,000; Hugh Murphy, a brick extension to a school house in Center avenue, Twentieth ward, $2,400; William Algeo, a frame house at No. 24 Eureka street, $3,100; to D. G. Clark, two frame houses in Murtland avenue and Susquehanna street, $6,000; Frank Spratt, a frame house in Virginia avenue, $1,400; J. Guy Smith, a frame house in Woodville street, Thirty-second ward, $1,000.

CLAIM ORE DUST IS HARMFUL TO PUPILS

Members of the Fourteenth Ward School Board Complain to the Bureau of Health.

Supt. A. J. Pitcairn of the bureau of health will send a sanitary inspector this morning to the Holmes public school in the Fourteenth ward to investigate the conditions there with reference to the ore dust that drops into the ward from the neighboring mills and factories. A. C. Shaw and Robert Thompson, members of the school board, have talked the matter over with Superintendent Pitcairn and he has promised to look into it and attempt to do something with it, in case anything is recommended by the inspectors.

The people of the ward have been complaining for several years of the ore dust that floats over the ward during the summer season from the mills. In the winter it is said that this dust goes up the Monongahela river and does not annoy the Fourteenth ward people. Some time ago Messrs. Shaw and Thompson called on Superintendent Pitcairn about it, and the superintendent, who has been at the head of the health bureau for so short a time that he is not familiar with it, politely expressed his disbelief that anything of that kind would be of injury to the children. The members of the board explained that a lack of ventilation in a school room would be productive of disease, as there are 2,500 pupils in the school, and they come from almost as many homes.

An engagement was finally made for yesterday morning when Superintendent Pitcairn promised to have his chief, Director A. H. Leslie, there to attend to the matter. Director Leslie was unable to be present, being suddenly called away to visit the city farm at Marshalsea, but Superintendent Pitcairn was there to represent him, and promised to send an inspector out there to do something.

"The situation in the ward is frightful when the dust is blowing in that direction," said Mr. Shaw yesterday. "It come in such quantities that the teachers in the schools are compelled to close the windows, and there is then an utter lack of ventilation. This cannot help but be injurious to the children.

"We have been trying to find some adjustment of the matter for several years. The owners of the mills that produce this nuisance are all friends of ours, and there is no one that feels like going to court about it, as we do not like to begin a lawsuit with our friends. We hope the bureau of health can do something that will give us relief."

Bishop Van Buren Consecrated.

LYNN, MASS., June 24.—The Rt. Rev. James Hartt Van Buren, D. D., was consecrated bishop of Porto Rico today in St. Stephen's Memorial church, Lynn, where for more than 16 years he officiated as rector. Eight bishops of the Episcopal church and 75 of the clergy took part in the service.

Note: Last Week to Save 43% On Your Summer Suit.

Too bad that those recent underprice purchases from six leading Manufacturing Tailors of New York and Rochester were not twice as big. We could easily have disposed of the increased quantity. As it is, those $235,000 worth of Suits and odd Trousers will have left scarcely a trace in a few more days. That shows that the men of Pittsburgh know a good thing when they see it. The last lots of the scooped-in stocks have just been placed on sale. They still offer a good selection to any man who wants a fine Summer Suit for barely more than the cost of the cloth, including swell, "Summery" Serges and Cheviots, Imported Thibets, Oxfords and Venetians, all carefully hand tailored, lined and trimmed in first-class style and having all the good points of made-to-order garments. The following 2,790 Suits are still left at this writing:

1,247 Suits made to be sold at $10, $12, $14 and $15, offered at $8.50

1,543 Suits made to be sold at $18, $20, $23 & $25 offered at $14.50

All the Men's $2.50, $3 and $3.50 Pants Included in the above Under-Price Purchases Go at $1.69

All stylish and up-to-date Trousers—made of fine Worsteds, Cheviots, Hairlines, English Novelty Stripes, etc.—all sizes.
